WHEN CHICKENS ARE BEST chickens, in any general scheme of coultry production, of course, must take first place. They are best adapted to general conditions, take a adapted to general conditions, take a wider range of feeds, and convert them, perhaps, with the greatest margin of profit. Chickens, better than any other class of poultry, util-ize table scraps and the general run of waste from the kitchen door, all the way from apple and potato par-ings to sour milk. Chickens far sur-pass all other kinds of poultry in sal-vaging waste grain from the stables, from the shed or lot where the cattle are fed, and from hog pens. During the winter months, on farms where the winter months, on farms where any considerable number of live stock are kept, the hens would take their living from these sources with only slight additional feeding from and advise Lydia E. pound and ime to time. Chickens are great estroyers of insects, including many erive FRANK West Pl destroyers of insects, including many injurious forms, in yard, pasture and orchard. They utilize, also, many grasses and weeds, and seeds from the same, that would otherwise be of no use. Except in isolated instances, the part of wisdom would be, un-doubtedly, to keep more chickens than all other kinds of poultry com-bined, but there should be, in a ma-jority of cases, some of all the other common kinds of poultry. HOW GOOD COWS PAY It is well known that dairy cows,

It is well known that dairy cows be profitable, must be compara-vely large producers, yet few peo-e fully realize the remarkable rate which income advances as prouction increases. Tabulations of ,587 cow-testing association records rom various parts of the United tates covering a period of four ears, show that as the average buterfat production increased from 150 o 200 pounds, the income over cost of feed advanced from \$21 to \$34; hat is, a gain of 59 pounds, or $33\frac{1}{2}$ per cent in production gave an in-creased income of 62 per cent. over feed cost. The next gain of 50 pounds raised the income over cost of feed to \$50, the next to \$63, the ext to \$74, the next to \$87, the next to \$100 and the last to \$118. As he butterfat production increased rom 150 pounds to 300 pounds, the ncrease over cost of feed advanced

Food-destroying rodents are com-on throughout the United States States west of the Mississipp iver prairie dogs, ground squirrels, poket gophers, rabbits, cotton rats ad field mice have taken a constant-increasing toll from the crops of the taken and the taken a constant-heat, oats, corn, barley and other reals, from alfalfa, potatoes, beans, uit, melons and almonds and from asture ranges. The States east o his boundary have suffered heavil om the depredations of rabbits bodchucks and meadow pine and white-footed mice, in gardens, field and truck crops, orchards and vine-yard. The estimate of $150,000,000 oss to crops annually in the United States is based upon information regarding conditions reported by field representatives of the Biological Survey, U. S.
