I hear the sound of drums An' down the street beyond I know The old procession comes. Push me out next the curb, my dear. I want to see my comrades an' Say "Howdy" as they pass.

Here comes "Old Glory," bless her! As proud an' fine today As if there never was no blood Spilled twixt the Blue and Gray. The band is makin' music, eh! But still I hanker, wife er one o' them old march tunes On a plain old drum and fife. Here comes the boys! Marindy, see There's Bob, an' old Cap Lane

A-marching straight and proud as i They was recruits again. An' there's old Ben McClure by jing A-stumpin' past as though He hadn't left his leg down South

Over fifty years ago. They see me wife, they're wavin hands

And see 'em all salute As if I were some high mogul-A general to boot

Hooray, boys-hip, hooray-hooray!
If my old legs was new You bet I'd be out there in line Again, old pards with you.

The sun seems gittin darker now-The sky is turning gray-The boys, the flags, the tootin bands All seem so fur away. Come to me, wife-where are you Take hold my hand-It hear Aye, Cap's—I'm—I'm—Here!
