OUR DEPARTMENT AGRICULTURE

ADVERTISING HELPS FARMER DISPOSE OF HIS PRODUCTS

It is not so long ago that advertisng of farm products was regarded as ineffectual to increase their sale and consumption. Advertising authorities had learned from experience that it paid to advertise on a wide basis only such articles as measured up to high standards of quality and that could be supplied in dependable quantities. Farm products did not meet these requirements. But with the subsequent development of co-operative marketl ing associations and the establishment of standard products the use of advertising in moving certain farm crops, in creasing demand, and in obtaining wide distribution has been tried out, and in many instances found successful.

Luscious raisin pies, fruity dessert oranges, apples, melons, grapes, por-trayed in myriad color and tints, greet the eye upon every hand-in magazine pages and street-car pos-ters. Masters of culinary art, famous illustrators, and the most espert advertisers-all have banded together to induce the housewife to produce the tempting dishes displayed. mouths of even the most exacting epicures are made to water. Through loyal organization, energetic salesmanship, and judicious advertising the cranberry season dur-ing recent years has been extended from two months to six. The melon growers of the Imperial Valley of California have utilized much the same methods to obtain the nationwide distribution which their highly perishable fruit now enjoys. Rocky Ford became so well known for its melons that the name is now applied to melons from practically all of Colorado.

The outstanding examples of successful large-scale agricultural production, coupled with standardization and advertising, are found in the citrus fruit industry of Florida and California and the boxed apple in-dustry of the Northwest, for the products of these regions have not only established nation-wide distribution but they have successfully entered the markets of the world.

Even when conditions were such that Nation-wide advertising would not pay, products from small areas have been so carefully graded and packed that when shipped and sold under brands and labels an increased demand for the product by name has resulted, with consequent increase of acreage and entension of business on a profitable basis.

LAST-MINUTE HATCHING HINTS WHICH MAKE FOR SUCCESS

the hen is hatching she ould not be disturbed except to reuneasy and steps on or pik the chick. In such cases the chicks should be removed as soon as dry. Place them in a basket or box lined with flannel or some other soft material and cover the top, keeping the basket or box in a warm place until the eggs left unler the hen are hatched.

Hens should be fed as soon as possible after the eggs are hatched, as feeding tends to keep them quiet; otherwise, many hens will leave the nest. In most cases it is best that the hen remain on the nest and brood the chicks for at least 24 hours after the hatching is over. Hens will suc-cessfully brood 10 to 15 chicks early in the breeding season and 18 to 25 in warm weather, depending upon the size of the hen, so that often two broods of chicks which hatch at the same time can be put together and raised under one hen.

Powder the hen with a good insect powder or with sodium fluorid two days before the chicks are due to hatch. If lice appear on the chicks, or if they are troubled with "head lice," a very little grease, such as lard or vaseline, may be applied with the fingers on the head, neck, under the wings, and around the vent. Great care should be taken, however not to get too much grease on the chicks as it will stop their growth and in some cases may prove fatal, say poultry experts of the United States Department of Agriculture.

"Too punch" or mark each chick before transferring to the brood coop, so that the age can be readily determined after maturity.

WINDBREAKS SAVE MOISTURE

When the prairie regions of the Middle West were first developed the lack of trees was severely felt. The clear sweep of the winds across the plains was a great hindrance to agriculture, for the oil was dried out quickly by evaporation, grain was lodged, and orchards injured bp the force of the wind. Wind-breaks were the only remedy, and thousands of miles of them were planted along roads and farm division lines. The effect of this planting, although felt only gradually, was very distinct; farming and living conditions beame more favorable throughout the

By hitching a third horse to a twohorse walking plow a man can plow at least a quarter acre more land each day, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. This make a difference of about 5 acres in 20 days, or a saving of from two to three days' work-a big item during a busy season, especially a short spring. The chief virtue of sandy soil is that the roots of plants can pass thru it readily; its chief fault is that it dries out too quickly. Clay soil holds water well, but it tends to pack and harden. Both types of soil need stable manure-it loosens up clay and helps sand to hold moisture.

SHOULD RETURN TO EQUITABLE STATE OF AFFAIRS

During the past few years a good nany people, and corporations, too have been extorting from the public a great deal more money than their services were worth. All sense of proportion between the value of the work done and the compensation de manded seems to have been lost. It is full time that there should be a re turn to a more equitable state of affairs. There can be no permanent prosperity under the exactions that have existed so long.

NATURE DOES THE WORK

No, the Chiropractor does not make people well; all he does is adjust the cause of your trouble and opens the way for Nature to exercise her full powers and restore health to the diseased part. If the line of connection between tissue cell and brain is complete health is present, but if the connection is partially or wholly broken, disease is apparent. Every tissue cell of the body is in direct communication with the brain by means of nerves.

These nerves carry health from the dynamo to the human system, the brain, to every tissue cell of the body. The spine is the switchboard of the human plant and is composed of 31 vertebrae, 24 of which are normally movable. The nerves branch off from the spinal cord in cables and pass through the little spinal windows, the foraman. It is where they emit from the spine that the connection between brain and tissue cell can be broken. If a vertebrae gets out of alignment by reason of a jar, shock, wrench or fall, the little spinal window is partially or wholly closed and pressure is brought to bear on the nerve cable. The flow of nerve energy is shut off and wherever the impinged nerves end there will be disease, because the part is not receiving its proper amount of nourishment.

and wherever the implified herves clid there will be disease, because the part is not receiving its proper amount of nourishment.

The Chiropractor, by analyzing your spine knows which vertebrae are not in position and scientifically adjusts them, relieving the pressure on the nerves and permitting Nature to rebuild that which has been torn down. Consultation and Spinal Analysis Free.
