KNEW PHYSICIAN WAS WRONG

But, Mr. De Wiggs Need Not Have Been Quits So Outspoken About the Matter.

"My dear," remarked Mrs. De Wiggs at the breakfast table one morning,

"Doctor Lewis says that hot water will cure all diseases."

"He does, does he?" said Mr. De Wiggs.

"Yes; and persons who use the treatment ought never be ill at all!"

"Well, I don't believe it."

"Why?"

"You know how I am always ill!"

"But you have never tried the hot-water cure?"

"What! never tried it!" ejaculated De Wiggs, as he sidled towards the door; "why, I've been in hot water ever since I married you!"

He got outside just in time to miss a teacup fired at him as a parting salute.

SPRAY TREES FROM AIRPLANE

Experiment is Said to Have Had Good Measure of Success in Saving Trees.

The novel experiment of spraying a grove of trees from an airplane, the first ever attempted in the United States, was made on Aug. 4 over the farm of Harry A. Carver, near Troy, Ohio, to prevent ravages of worms which have twice practically defoliated his grove of 5,000 catalpa trees.

The plane, piloted by Lieut. John A. Macready, air service, and carrying E. Dornoy, McCook field, designer, who constructed the sifter used to spray the arsenate of lead powder, flew within twenty or twenty-five feet of the top of the trees, releasing the powder, which was carried by the wind and air currents from the ship's propeller into every part of the grove. Treatment of trees in this manner saves much time and labor, as an airplane in a few minutes can do work which would require a number of men and many pump sprays several days.

London's Roman Well.

The average flow of the Thames over Teddington weir during the last ten years has been 630,000,000 gallons a day. The average flow during this summer has been 33,000,000 gallons a day. Where old friends have failed Londoners have turned with renewed faith to the ancient wells, which by some freak of underground nature remain full, cool and refreshing. Many of the big places in the city have these artesian wells of their own.

BOOZE

"How is it Fred has more money than you? You both had an even start."

"Well, you see he invested his money in oil, and I spent mine for another kind of liquid."

Soviets Want Codfish.

Negotiations for the purchase of 20,000 tons of codfish by the Russian Soviet government have been opened between a Soviet government commissioner in London and the Newfoundland government. This would represent about one-quarter of the year's catch. The Russian government has offered to pay from 10 to 20 per cent in cash and the balance in notes payable from three to five years hence.

Meteors Cause Fires?

France recently has suffered a number of severe forest fires and now the theory is advanced that they were caused by meteors. In the chateau district, where a thousand acres of forest were burned recently, huge chunks of hot metal have been dug up, and these are alleged to be fragments of the meteor that started the fire.

Questions. 1. How is Rabies contracted? 1. How should a dog bite be treated? 2. What should be done with a dog suspected of Rabies?

RABIES OR HYDROPHOBIA

Almost every one knows the story of the heroic blacksmith, who, to save the village children fought and killed the "Mad Dog" with his bare hands. Severely bitten in the struggle, to protect others from injury in case madness should come upon him, with his own hands he riveted the iron band around his ankle and forged the chain which bound him to his anvil. Grateful neighbors brought him food and stayed to keep him company during the uncertain hours and days which must pass until his fate would be known. When his wounds healed rapidly, they wanted to file off his shackles, but the brave smith refused. Soon he noticed a numbness of his limbs and tingling sensations. It was difficult for him to swallow, then came thirst—unendurable thirst—that could not be assuaged, for the sight of water was sufficient to cause violent spasms of the muscles of the throat. Hence the name, "Hydrophobia"—"fear of water." General convulsions followed, which were succeeded by paralysis and unconsciousness, and so he died.

Two generations later came the announcement from the laboratory of the great French Scientist Pasteur, that Rabies or Hydrophobia was preventable. Rabies is not conveyed from one person to another but is always the result of infection from a lower animal, usually the dog, although it may be transmitted by horses, cows, cats, goats or other animals. The saliva of the disease is found in the saliva and is often present several days or a week before the animal exhibits signs of "madness." Infection is usually caused by the bite of a rabid animal, but it may be induced by the mere licking of a hand upon which there is a break in the skin.

Persons have been known to contract the disease by scratching their hands on the teeth of horses or cattle they were drenching from some supposed other ailment.

The disease seldom makes its appearance before three weeks and sometimes as much as three months or more elapse before it is manifest.

Ten day last summer Jimmy Downs, 10 years old, ran crying to his mother, "A dog bit me." Dr. Carson enlisted the crowd, which was in the hand, in order to make it bleed freely, washed it out well and cauterized it.

"What became of the dog?" he asked.

"The dog has been shot," said Jimmy's father.

"Too bad, it was not captured alive."

"Why captured?"

"Because in a few days we should have known definitely whether or not the dog was rabid. Now his head must be sent to the diagnostic laboratory and the 'Negri bodies' (the certain signs of rabies) which are seen by the microscope among the nerve cells of the brain may not be present, as they do not develop in the very early stages. Therefore, other methods which will take longer time will have to be pursued."

"Will the delay make any difference?"

"The earlier the diagnosis is made and the treatment begun, the better for the patient."

The Doctor sent for the dead dog, which proved to be a fox terrier. "Long haired animals are more apt to contract rabies," he said; "than the short haired type because there is less chance for the saliva to be wiped from the teeth of the biting animal, for the same reason there is greater danger from bites in the hand or face than through clothing."

The entire dog, being a small one, was packed in ice and expressed to a diagnostic laboratory.

Several days later a positive report came back.

Then Dr. Carson began giving Jimmy daily injections of the Pasteur emulsion which came regularly from the laboratory. At the end of three weeks he pronounced him out of danger of rabies.

There are two forms of Rabies—the furious or extensible type and the dumb type; in the latter the lower jaw is early paralyzed and often hangs down, giving the animal the appearance of having a bone in its throat; while the saliva is virulent animals are dull, listless and do not bite.

The first change noticed in a dog affected with the furious type of Rabies, is usually restlessness and a difference in his disposition. An affectionate dog may exhibit a sudden fondness for his master by frequent attempts to lick his hands and face. The saliva is virulent at this stage.

Beware of restless and unduly affectionate dogs, especially if you know they have been bitten.

Later they appear to become delirious, biting at imaginary things and flinging in fear from commonplace objects, such as their heads in the wild soap at other animals; they run aimlessly for long distances biting and snapping at every thing in their way. They die of salivitis but do not always froth at the mouth.

The Board of Poor Directors are required by law to furnish Pasteur treatment free for persons unable to pay for it.

For two years all dogs in the United States were required by law, to be muzzled. Hydrophobia would disappear from this country as it has from England, where such law exists.

Catarrh Can Be Cured

Catarrh is a local disease greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. It therefore requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE destroys the foundation of the disease, gives the patient strength by improving the general health and assists nature in doing its work. Sold by Druggists. Circulars free. F.
