NOT OVERCOOK EGGS TO BE GIVEN SMALL CHILD

Eggs are especially useful food for young children. The chief point to remember in preparing them for children is that they must not be overcooked or they are likely to cause indigestion, say food specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture. Every one knows now the heat cooking hardens the egg, and it is not understood why the digestive system might have difficulty in penetrating such hard substance as the yolk of a hard-boiled egg. Overcooked yolks are also thought to be indigestible. However, when eggs are cooked in the shell, the heat does not penetrate so far and if there is more danger of the egg being overcooked than of the yolk being undercooked, the best way of serving eggs to children are poached, soft-boiled, or scrambled, though they may be fried for a change if one is careful not to scorch the fat used nor to overcook the egg.

OF INTEREST TO ALL IRISH

In Region Adjacent to French City of Cannes St. Patrick Received Religious Training.

"For true appropriateness Cannes might better be chosen for a discussion of Irish affairs than for an attempt to solve European financial problems," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society, in regard to the French Mediterranean winter resort, meeting place of the allied supreme council. "Cannes has its tie with Ireland," the bulletin goes on to explain, "because it was in a monastery on one of two little islands just off the Cannes shore that St. Patrick received the religious training which fired him with missionary zeal and led to his conversion of the Irish."

MAILS NOW AUTHORIZED FOR PLANT IMPORTATION

Decision to allow the use of the mails in the importation of plants and seeds under special permits, Regulation 14, Quarantine 37, has been reached by the Federal Horticultural Board of the United States Department of Agriculture. Heretofore importations of plants for propagation except field, vegetable, and flower seeds, and importations made by the department, were permitted only by express or freight.

AMUSING TO WOMEN TODAY

What Was Considered Proper in Mid-Victorian Days Seems Somewhat Ridiculous Now.

In a book written in mid-Victorian days concerning the proper manners of well-bred women appears the statement that a woman with graying hair is "hardly respectable without a cap," and that the woman of thirty-five who does not don the cap as a signal of the fact of her advanced age has something of a "masculine aspect." Such statements are amusing and sometimes just a little annoying—especially to the woman of thirty-five. She consoles herself with the fact that things have changed enormously since those days and that now so long as a woman is slender enough to wear clothes selected by eighteen-year-old girls she is seldom criticized for wearing them.

Ask Much of Inventor.

The helicopter, a machine capable of vertical flight, with which British inventors have already attained partial success, has caused plans to be made by the government for a $200,000 competition open to the world for a further improved design. The conditions, which if met would make the helicopter practical and revolutionize the science of flying are: It must be capable of rising to a height of 2,000 feet under its own power, carrying one man and one hour's fuel supply. It must be able to remain stationary over a ground object for a half hour in a wind up to 20 miles an hour. It must be able to land safely in any wind up to 20 miles an hour without horizontal motion, and with the engine cut off, and must be able to maintain horizontal flight at a height of 2,000 feet at a speed of not less than 60 miles an hour.

A Lost Art With Him.

Warren G. Sayre of Wabash, an attorney and formerly a state representative, sent a letter several weeks ago to the county clerk of Boone county, asking for information concerning a divorce suit. The letter was written on plain paper in longhand and sent in a plain envelope. Finally the following letter was received from the clerk: "Dear Sir: I have submitted your letter to every officer of this courthouse and we cannot read a word of it. We cannot even read your signature, so I am cutting it and the address off your letter and pasting it on the envelope carrying this letter, hoping that the post office employees are sufficiently familiar with your way of writing to assure the delivery of the letter."—Indianapolis News.

Paris beauty doctors are now specializing in the reforming of women's legs.

Two specialists in Rue de la Paix are winning fame by reducing the size of women's ankles and increasing the size of the calf. They have not, as yet, found a way to take the curve out of bowlegs and some of the ladies of society there are hoping almost tearfully that something will develop in this direction.

Clear on That Score.

"So you played golf on earth?" asked St. Peter of the applicant for a harp and a halo. "Yes." "Hum, I'll have to look into your record a little more closely." "I think I know what is in your mind," said the applicant, "and I can truthfully say I was no good at the language."

More Electric Lights.

During 1921 the increase in residential electric lighting customers in the United States was 1,001,700, according to a survey just completed of reports from electric light and power companies throughout the country. This brings the total number of residential lighting customers up to 8,497,900 or more than double the number in 1915, when only 4,000,300 families had electric lights in their homes.

Undoubtedly the best bargain I have had in several years.

A double lot, corner, good residential section, with 3-story brick house, modern in every respect, new heating plant, electric lights, bath, garage. Replacement cost today, $20,000. Will take $7,500 and give possession any time. Now don't think too long but act. Call or phone Jno. E. Schroll, Advertise in the Mt. Joy Bulletin.

THE QUESTION OF FURNITURE QUALITY
There are few things that quality effects so vitally as furniture.
Often things that people buy for personal wear and for home use are not always expected to last a long time, but this cannot be said about furniture. When you buy furniture you are buying something you expect to remain for long service. It will if you buy it here, because here we think of quality first. All the furniture we buy must measure exactly up to requirements which we make as to the manner of workmanship. And, after all, in the long run, well-made furniture is the cheapest sort of furniture to buy. We invite comparison, look around, compare qualities and prices and then come here and see our vast assortment.
