THERE IS PLACE ON MOST FARMS FOR TURKEYS, DUCKS OR GEESE

Hen Will Always Be the Leader Among Farm Poultry.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Farmers give much attention to various combinations and rotations of crops, endeavoring to secure an arrangement that is most profitable for each individual farm. They do so in the same in selecting the kinds and numbers of live stock. But not so much attention is paid to the selection of poultry to suit the peculiar conditions of farms and neighborhoods. The hen will always be the leader among farm poultry, says the United States Department of Agriculture, but she requires the aid of turkeys, guineas, geese and ducks, just as on a dairy farm the cow often requires the aid of pigs and sheep to make the farm business most profitable.

Ducks Gather Food From Streams. Where grain fields of neighboring farms are in proximity to the barn and dooryard it would, perhaps, be better not to keep turkeys. The farm through which no streams run, and which has no large pond, would probably be better without ducks. But the circumscribed farm, on which turkeys would be a disadvantage, may be supplied with a small pond so located that ducks would be profitable, and the farm that has no streams and ponds may have large range for turkeys.

Turkeys, ranging further afield, prey upon the insects that escape the hens. From the time the poults are old enough to forage until near frost, they take the bulk of their feed from field insects, devouring millions of grasshoppers and other injurious worms that feed on crops. In regions where wooded areas are still fairly extensive mast is an important item in the diet of the turkey. When the supply of insects begins to fail the mast larger begins to fill up. Feeding on acorns, chestnuts, beechnuts and the like, turkeys will go a long way toward fattening themselves for the Thanksgiving or Christmas market, and will not require much feeding of corn or other grain to finish them. Generally speaking, turkeys will require a larger feeding of grain than chickens to finish them for market, but as they utilize forms of waste that hens and their broods would not reach, the keeping of a few turkeys is good economy. The finishing period is short.

Guinea fowls use still other kinds of waste that would escape both hens and turkeys. Taking a wider range than chickens, and yet not quite so wide as turkeys, keeping largely to the thickets and weed patches, and committing fewer depredations against field and garden than either chickens or turkeys, requiring little feeding at any time, being good layers during their season of eggs that are thought by many to have a richer and finer flavor than hen eggs, the guinea is a good fowl to keep on any farm where a serious effort is made to convert all waste into meat or eggs.

On farms where ponds or streams are available, ducks will convert into meat and eggs great quantities of water insects and various aquatic forms that would not be utilized by any other kind of poultry. Ducks, while they consume large quantities of grass and other green stuff, are more partial to animal feeds and are very energetic in patrolling the branches, creeks, and ponds as sources of food supply. Pigeons of Questionable Value. The one kind of poultry of questionable economic value on farms is the pigeon. Almost exclusively a grain raiser, the pigeon renders no important service as a conservator of waste, except, perhaps, in the case of shattered grain in the fields, and that in a large measure would be taken up by other poultry and by pigs. The pigeon has its place in the towns and cities, but, except in isolated instances where conditions are peculiarly favorable, its production is not often desirable on farms. The backyard poultry keeper can hardly hope for success with turkeys, geese, ducks, or guineas, but for those who have lots or over garage, stable or coal shed the opportunity for squab growing is worth considering.

ular instruction in health habits, a second investigation showed that malnutrition has been reduced to 15 per cent. Of late milk campaigns have been held in Madison, Wis.; Wheeling, W. Va.; Seattle, Wash.; Greenville, S. C.; Akron, O.; Warren, O.; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Springfield, Mass.; Oskaloosa, Ia.; Baltimore, Md.; Oakland county, Michigan; Cumberland county, Maryland; and Jacksonville and Duval county, Florida.

Despite disturbed industrial conditions, increases in milk consumption have been effective, and even in places of much unemployment the quantity of milk consumption has been kept up to normal. In nearly all cases the milk consumption subsequent to the milk campaigns has been greater than it ever was before.

SPACE REQUIRED BY CALVES Individual Pens Are Good When Farm or Can Afford Them—Labor is Expensive.

Twenty to twenty-five square feet of floor space exclusive of mangers should be provided for calves under six months old. Individual pens are good when one can afford them, but they are more costly on account of the large amount of material necessary for pen walls, space required, and labor in cleaning them than pens holding four or five calves apiece. The latter are entirely satisfactory provided the calves are stanchioned while being fed.

GIVE PIGS WORM TREATMENT Young Animals Should Be Looked After as Soon as Weaned—Clean Pasture Favored.

Pigs should always be given worm treatment immediately after weaning. If necessary give them a second dose two weeks after the first. If they are then turned on a good alfalfa, clover or rape pasture and are fed grain in addition so that they remain thrifty there is little danger of further trouble from worms. In other words keeping hogs reasonably free from worms is not a difficult thing to do, if they are looked after at the proper time.

A Good Truck Farm. I have a 4 1/2-acre truck farm close o markets, best limestone land, 9-room brick house with bath, slate roof; frame barn with slate roof, tobacco shed, ice house, chicken house and hog pen, fruit wonderful garden. Property is located on a pike. Will sell for less than it would cost to build a house like the one on the premises. Act quick if you want it. J. E. Schroll, Mount Joy.

Who Wants This? Is there a tenant farmer around here that wants to make as much money with less work than he is doing now? Here you are. A 30-acre farm 1/2 mile from Manheim, best of gravel land, good buildings, an abundance of fruit, fine water. This would make a dandy truck farm as it is close to markets. Don't delay; act quick as I am going to turn this farm—Call, phone or write J. E. Schroll, Mt. Joy.

Cleanliness is Most Essential in Production of Milk.

The increase in sales of milk as a result of these education campaigns carried on during the past year in 11 states, 15 cities and 4 counties range from 3.5 to 35 per cent. The average increase being 15 per cent. The health of the children has been improved while undernourishment has been reduced.

Nutrition clinics have been held, and underweight, poorly fed children have improved greatly in health as a consequence of the more general and intelligent use of milk as a daily food. In Kansas City a previous survey showed a condition of 30 per cent undernourishment among the children, while after the milk campaign and regular instruction in health habits, a second investigation showed that malnutrition has been reduced to 15 per cent.

Of late milk campaigns have been held in Madison, Wis.; Wheeling, W. Va.; Seattle, Wash.; Greenville, S. C.; Akron, O.; Warren, O.; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Springfield, Mass.; Oskaloosa, Ia.; Baltimore, Md.; Oakland county, Michigan; Cumberland county, Maryland; and Jacksonville and Duval county, Florida.

Despite disturbed industrial conditions, increases in milk consumption have been effective, and even in places of much unemployment the quantity of milk consumption has been kept up to normal. In nearly all cases the milk consumption subsequent to the milk campaigns has been greater than it ever was before.

GET EARLY CABBAGE PLANTS

They Can Be Grown Indoors or Shipped In From Points in Warm Climates.

Early cabbage plants for setting in the garden can be procured in two ways, suggests the United States Department of Agriculture. They can be either locally grown indoors by some plant grower or they can be shipped in from a southern point where the climatic conditions are such that the plants can be grown in the open ground. Plants grown out-of-doors are often advertised as "frost-proof" plants. While this term is rather misleading, the plants are really very hardy and will withstand considerable cold. The great difficulty with cabbage grown in greenhouses, hotbeds or in the home is that they are soft and easily injured either by wind or cold when set in the garden. This difficulty, however, can be to a considerable degree overcome by properly hardening the plant to outside conditions before setting them in the garden.

PLANT EARLY IRISH POTATOES

Put Them in Ground Just Before Time for Last Spring Frost to Get Good Start.

Early Irish potatoes may be planted a little before or about the time the last spring frosts occur. This will give them an opportunity to make a start and reach the surface of the ground by warm weather. Irish potatoes require frequent cultivation and should be gradually hilled up to form a bed. Large quantities of manure should not be used. Great care should be taken to avoid seed affected by scab, as this disease develops rapidly and greatly injures the quality. United States Department of Agriculture.

WANT HIM IN CONGRESS: ALSO FOR GOVERNOR

Petitions signed by nearly 17,000 voters of Lancaster County, endorse Congressman W. W. Griest's candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress. Then along come many of the powers that be, including Governor Spruhl, and say he is their choice for Governor of Pennsylvania. Although some had Congressman Griest's political reigning days numbered, it appears as tho he is more powerful than ever.
