

WOMAN COULD NOT WORK

Made Strong and Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn. — Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a tired, worn-out feeling and painful periods. I used to get up with a pain in my head and pains in my lower parts and back. Often I was not able to do my work. I read in your little book about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken it. I feel so well and strong and can do every bit of my work and not a pain in my back now. I recommend your medicine and you can use this letter as a testimonial. — Mrs. PHIL. MASER, 801 Winslow St., St. Paul, Minn.

Just another case where a woman found relief by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Many times these tired, worn-out feelings and pains about the body are from troubles only women have. The Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for just this condition. The good results are noted by the disagreeable symptoms passing away—one after another.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a Woman's Medicine for Women's Ailments. Always reliable.

MADE BUSINESS OF MURDER

William Burke, Infamous Irishman, Also Instrumental in Adding Significant Verb to Language.

Burke and Hare were two notorious big-game snappers, or resurrectionists, who carried on their infamous trade in Edinburgh. William Burke was born in Ireland in 1792, and went to Scotland as a laborer about 1817. In 1827 he was living in a cheap lodging house kept by another Irish laborer named William Hare. About the end of 1827 one of Hare's lodgers, an army pensioner, died, and Burke and Hare sold the body to Dr. Robert Knox, an Edinburgh anatomist. Hare thereupon suggested body-snatching as a business and Burke agreed. The two men then started in to entice poor travelers to Hare's or some other cheap lodging house. The victims were piled with liquor and then suffocated under mattresses, without marks of violence. Doctor Knox took the bodies and paid up to $14 ($90) for them. At least 15 people had been murdered in this way before Burke and Hare were arrested. Hare turned king's evidence, and Burke was found guilty and hanged in Edinburgh on January 28, 1829. Hare found Scotland too hot for him and went to England, where he is believed to have died under an assumed name. The verb "to burke" meaning to suffocate, to strangle, to suppress, or to put out of the way secretly, had its origin in Burke's method of doing away with his victims.

WHERE GREAT EXPLORER LIES

South Georgia Island, Tomb of Shackleton, Lonely Spot in the Great Antarctic Region.

An interesting picture of life in South Georgia Island, the "Gateway of the Antarctic," where Shackleton was buried, was given by an explorer who made a research expedition there a few years ago. At that time there was only one woman on the island, and she was the domestic in the household of Capt. C. A. Larsen, a former Antarctic explorer who had settled down as head of a Norwegian whaling station on the island. "Below my solitary tent," the correspondent writes, "the grassy bank sloped sharply to a milk-colored glacial stream entering an inlet of the sea only 50 yards away. A quarter of a mile across the inlet stood the perpendicular front of a beautiful valley glacier, coming down from peaked hills from the lifeless, silent interior. Penguins bobbed out of the sea below the glacier and were by most interesting callers for their curiosity could not resist a human being. Sea elephants crawled unconcernedly up the stream below me and went to sleep among the hummocks on the beach. Above the tent, on the plateau of the little promontory, seven pairs of albatrosses carried on their courtship and nesting, along with giant petrels, skuas, kelp gulls and the pretty little antarctic titlarks, the only land bird of the Far South, whose cheerful song was almost the sole homelike sound."

Details Needed.

A woman, blessed with a masterful disposition and considerable property, died, leaving behind her a will in which her husband was cut off with a dollar, on the ground that he had deserted her a year before. The lawyer finally located the man and broke the news gently by telling him that he had received only a small bequest. "How much?" carelessly asked the man. "One dollar." With the same carelessness, the man turned toward the door. Just as he reached it, however, a sudden thought struck him. "Say," he called back anxiously. "Did she specify what I was to do with this dollar?"

Sarcasm From the Grave.

The will of Alexander Louis Teixeira de Mattos, the English translator of Fabre, Maeterlinck, Couperus, Zola and many other continental writers, contains one bequest that will interest a good many booklovers who have loaned their favorite volumes not wisely but too well—at any rate, so generously, says the Living Age. The estate of Mr. de Mattos was not large, its gross value amounting to less than $3,000 ($15,000), and many of his bequests take the form of books. He leaves books to many of his friends. One volume in particular is left to a certain friend and is described as one "which he borrowed many years ago and has not returned."

Increased Tractor Power.

A new attachment designed to give the small tractor greater bearing area and increased pulling power, replaces the round wheels with two large sprockets, according to an illustrated article in Popular Mechanics Magazine. Outside of each sprocket is a cast-steel arm which projects forward and downward, carrying at its front end a smaller idler wheel. A track tread passes around the sprocket and idler wheel, giving the tractor increased bearing area.

Lightest of Liquids.

Many experiments here and abroad have shown that liquid hydrogen is by far the lightest of all known liquids. Its density is one-fourteenth that of water, and, curiously enough, this happens to be the same ratio of density that hydrogen in the gaseous state bears to air. For long the lightest liquid known was liquefied marsh gas, which possesses about two-fifths of the density of water.—Washington Star.

Makes Over Same Hat 12 Times in 5 Years

Seattle, Wash.—This city boasts the most economical woman in the country. Mrs. Hannah Bunday has made over the same hat twelve times a year for five years. Each time she produces a new millinery surprise and is the envy of her admiring friends, who hustle to imitate her inventive genius. By the time many have copied her creation, Mrs. Bunday knocks them all cold with a newer and more startling conception. Mrs. Bunday uses an assortment of ribbon, plush, plumes, flowers, cloth and colored yarns. The framework consists of a wide brim Filipino straw braid, which may be folded, plaited, bent, wet and turned inside out. She possesses a secret of making a dye that may be washed from the straw when another tint is desired.

RAISED AS GIRL, BOY RUNS AWAY

Mother Wanted a Girl and Concealed Sex From "Vera" for Twenty-One Years.

Ocracoke, N. C.—Charles Williams of Ocracoke, who lived the first twenty-one years of his life as a girl on isolated Ocracoke island and then from his first contact with the cruel, cold world, has disappeared again. It is thought he may have become a sailor and gone on a foreign cruise. When Charles was born his mother was so disappointed that he was not a girl she decided to bring him up as one. So under the name of Vera he grew up in the little community of fishermen which constitutes Ocracoke island. He was a popular "girl." He learned the domestic arts; he even had sweethearts, for he is pretty. Then about a year ago, shortly after his twenty-first birthday, it was made known that he was a man. He wrote to a young man in New York, a former resident of Ocracoke, to whom he was almost engaged, that he could not continue their correspondence because it wasn't "manly." The next step was to provide himself with man's attire and go out into the world. In Baltimore he got a job, but soon he became homesick and in a few months went home. He followed the only occupation possible on Ocracoke and became a fisherman, but in many other ways his home island was changed. His friends, who had so long regarded him as a girl, could not treat him as they had before, and Williams became restless. He recently told friends he would like to become a sailor and see the world, and they believe he has done so. But they say they liked him and want him to come home again.

He Had Sweethearts.

FARMER HIDES $60,000 GOLD

Revealed Buried Treasure a Few Hours Before Death—Surprise for Family.

Great Bend, Kan.—J. H. Brack, a farmer near here, who died about three weeks ago, left a substantial fortune to his heirs in the form of a large number of fine farms in Rush county, and in addition another fortune which came as a surprise to the members of the family in the way of $60,000 in gold, which was secreted under the house in which he lived. Unknown to the members of the family, Brack had been hoarding gold pieces of all denominations, and it was not until a few hours before his death that he called his family to his bedside and told them that he had a store of gold hidden under his home.

Flapper Ghost Is the Latest

"GOT MAD," STAYS IN BED 38 YEARS

"Retires" After Row With Father-in-law, Refuses to Get Up, Now Paralyzed and Can't.

QUARREL RUINS LIFE

During Idle Years Railroad Has Come to Town, Autos Appear and Phones Are Installed, but She Hasn't Seen Them.

Tipton, Iowa.—Thirty-eight years ago Mrs. Alexander Wickham of Tipton "got mad" and went to bed. "I'm never, never, never going to get up again," she declared. A little while ago she changed her mind and attempted to get out of bed and walk. But she found she was paralyzed from her waist down.

Mrs. Wickham was a young wife when she went to bed. She is a white-haired woman now. She is rich, but she gets little enjoyment from her money.

How Mrs. Wickham retired to her bed to remain the rest of her life is an odd story. One morning she was cutting bacon for her breakfast. She and her father-in-law were quarreling. Old Man Wickham made some remark she resented. She laid down her butcher knife and started for the door. "Where are you going?" her husband asked.

"I'm going to bed, and I'm never, never, never going to get up again," answered the wife as she walked into her room and slammed the door.

She stayed in bed all that day. Her husband thinking to humor her, brought her meals. The next morning she refused to get up. Again the husband brought her meals. The third day was a repetition of the first and second. So were the fourth and the fifth and the sixth. "She'll get over it," said the neighbors when they heard of what was going on over at the Wickham farm.

Years of Reading.

Mrs. Wickham spent her time reading books and writing poetry. After thirty-eight years of such reading she is undoubtedly the best read woman in all Iowa. Also she probably has written more poetry than any woman in Iowa.

Neighbors came to see her after she took to her bed. But she refused to see them. Gradually these visits ceased and she was left severely alone. Her husband called a doctor. "There's nothing the matter with her," said the physician. "She can get up whenever she wants to." But she didn't want to.

Specialists from Des Moines were brought in. They could find nothing wrong with the woman. The village grew into a good-sized town. A railroad was built through the place. Mrs. Wickham could hear the whistle of the locomotives as they passed near her house.

Never Saw Telephone.

When the telephone exchange was set up in Tipton the Wickhams had a telephone installed. Mrs. Wickham never saw it. It was in another room. Styles in clothes did not interest her, she didn't wear any clothes, except her nightgowns.

Tipton grew until it almost enclosed the Wickham farm. The farm became very valuable. When the father-in-law died, her husband became sole owner of the place. But he gave up farming and went in to raising colts dogs so he could be at home all the time and could look after his wife.

Two years ago the husband, worn out with thirty-six years of constant waiting on his wife, died. Mrs. Wickham went to the funeral. But she had to be carried. She could not walk. But she does not express a single regret over her wasted life.

Wife's Love Worth Six Cents.

Hackensack, N. J.—Damages of 4 cents for the alienation of his wife's affections were awarded to John H. Stein by the jury trying his $50,000 alienation suit, brought against Edgar H. Kane. Five women were on the jury.
