

Here's An-Udder feed

There are feeds and feeds—But—here's an-udder feed—one that fills the udders fuller, because it is SWEETER, more palatable—makes cows give MORE milk. Cows like it better—keeps them in better condition. The best result producing feed we ever sold.

SUGARED SCHUMACHER FEED is a highly nutritious feed, composed of the products of corn—oats—barley and wheat. It is a base or MAINTENANCE feed—SWEETENED, making it unusually palatable. Stock like it—thrive on it—keep in better condition.

Fine for all farm animals.

Call at our store and learn what our customers say about this better feed—also get our surprisingly low prices.

QUITE HELPFUL SUGGESTION

Sally Just Naturally Hated to Return Without Something to Show for the Journey.

A young couple in the mountains of Tennessee set out to get married. The young man put a lump of beeswax in the bottom of the buggy and with his prospective bride drove to the nearest magistrate, who was also a storekeeper. The young man told the squire that he wanted to get married, and also mentioned that he was short of funds. Would the magistrate credit him till more prosperous times?
The hard-hearted magistrate refused.
"Well," said the young man, "I got a ball of beeswax here, if you'll take it I'll turn it in on the cost." The squire agreed and took the beeswax into the store and weighed it, returning with the disappointing news that it lacked a dollar and a half of being big enough to pay the fee.

"Well, can't you trust me for the rest?" persisted the young man.
The magistrate shook his head with finality. "Kain't do it." Then Sally slipped into the breach.
"Hilt looks like you could do it this out," she whispered.
"Ain't possible," was the firm rejoinder.
"Well," said Sally, her face suddenly brightening, "howcome you kain't marry us for as fur as the beeswax will go?"—Exchange.

BIDS DEFIANCE TO "KICKERS"

Editor's Encouragement to Writer Who Felt Like Giving Up in Face of Criticism.

"Some of the neighbors are making a howl about the items we are sending in," says a contributor of local news items to the Columbus (Montana) News.
"So I believe that as soon as my supply of stationery runs out I will quit writing. Let some one else take the job if they think they can do so much better. I am getting tired of being bawled out every week, and would like to sit back and criticize some one else writing for a while."
To this the editor, not wishing to lose an able writer, brackets a comforting and finely independent reply:
"Stay with em, kid! Don't let the jabbering of a few kickers unwell the cayuse in your disposition. If an editor or writer takes the scare that easy, we would have swapped our pen for a Pattina 10 years ago, and each and every issue since then. If our patrons don't like what you and I write let them stop taking the darned News, and then they will surely have no kick coming."—From the Outlook.

Work for Mathematician.

While putting a record on a phonograph the other day the writer was struck with the fact that a point on the circumference of the disc makes 78 revolutions a minute exactly the same as any point in nearer to the center.

In other words, while a point two inches, say, from the center is going around a certain number of inches, a point on the outer edge is going around a greatly increased number of inches in exactly the same time.

Supposing the disc were increased to a diameter of a mile—some record!
—and the speed of this huge disc still maintained at 78 revolutions a minute, how fast would a given point on the edge be going?

Not being a mathematician, I leave this pretty problem to the bureau of standards, naval observatory or any one of the scores of statistical branches of the government service.

It ought to be easy to work out for a person whose inclinations run that way.—Washington Star.

Sea Fishing for Giant Whip Rays.

The English hunter and explorer, F. A. Mitchell-Hedges, is fishing for sea monsters in the Caribbean, and he declares the sport to be far more exciting than hunting big game on land.
Especially if one goes after giant whip rays, "the most deadly creatures in the ocean." They weigh some three-quarters of a ton and are armed for offense with a long whip tail which carries a spike as sharp as a needle.
"A fearsome poison is hidden in that spike. One blow, and the man who is struck by it dies in agony within three minutes."

Mr. Mitchell-Hedges' party got two whip rays, nearly losing themselves and their canoes in the first fight, when they tried to land a ray that was only pretending to be stunned and attacked them savagely with his fendish tail.

More Than Two Weeks.

The Russian calendar, thirteen days behind ours, rather annoyed some American businessmen who tried to place orders in south Russia during the reactionary regime of General Denikin. One of them in particular was slow to grasp, for instance, why our June 14 should be the Russian June 1. At length, when the idea had finally penetrated him, he still shook his head incredulously, remarking—"No, siree! You can't make me believe that these people are no more than thirteen days behind the rest of the world. It's hundreds—and years, at that."—Robert Dunn in the New York World.

Something Similar.

"Are scientists still trying to learn the monkey language?" asked Mr.
Gipping.
"I don't know," said Mr. Dubwaite, "but if they want to hear a pretty fair substitute they ought to listen to my youngest daughter talking to one of her rah-rah friends over the telephone."

A Good Truck Farm.

I have a  $\frac{1}{2}$ -acre truck farm close o markets, best limestone land, 9-oom brick house with bath, slate oof; frame barn with slate roof, tobacco shed, ice house, chicken house and hog pen, fruit wonderful garden.
Property is located on a pike. Will sell for less than it would cost to build a house like the one on the premises. Act quick if you want it.

NO RIVER LIKE THE JORDAN!

Characteristics of Historic Stream Have No Counterparts Elsewhere in the World.

In one matter, Palestine enjoys an advantage obvious at once to the student of her maps. The River Jordan, which Joshua crossed dryshod, in which Naaman the Syrian bathed away his leprosy, and where John the Baptist preached, is unique. Among the rivers of the world, there is no other like it. The source of the Jordan is 900 feet above sea level. From that source to its outflow, the distance is only sixty miles, but it is a distance which the river itself, by the frequent winding, more than triples. The outflow is not into any open sea, but into a lake surrounded entirely by mountains and exhausted only by evaporation or soaking of the water into its bleak and desolate shores. This lake is so charged with various salts that to sink in its waters is impossible, while bathing severely tests the complexion. Most remarkable of all is the fact that the lake, supposed to contain the ruins of Sodom, Gomorrah and other cities of the plain, is situated 1, 300 feet or thereabouts below the level of the sea. Nowhere, not in the Grand canyon itself, is there a phenomenon so mysterious and so sensational.—P.
W. Wilson in the World's Work.

STILL BELIEVE IN WITCHES

Alaskan Indians Cling to Old Superstition Despite All the Teachings of Missionaries.

The primitive trait to shift the blame for one's misfortunes to some one else, still endures among the Thlinget Indians of Alaska in the form of witchcraft, despite the efforts of the missionaries and the presence of white settlers. When sickness or trouble of any kind falls on a community and endures more than the ordinary length of time, the word goes forth that the village has been "witched" by some enemy dwelling among them.

Twenty years ago each tribe had its witch doctor whose duty it was to detect witches, but since the government authorities abolished these medicine men, witches are detected in other ways. They are still punished as they were before the white man came, with this difference: In the old days death followed torture.
Now the victim is tortured and ostracized. The most efficacious punishment, according to the Thlingets, is thrusting a stick through the looped hair and twisting the scalp off the unfortunate victim.

Evolution of Name "London."

The name "London" dates back to the time when the inhabitants of Great Britain were wild and uncivilized and when the Thames was much wider than it is at present. In fact, this river was then a sort of lake or lagoon upon which the tide came from the sea.

It was upon this body of water that the Celts built a rude sort of fort, to which they referred as "the fort on the lagoon," or in Celtic "cair Lun-dun." Upon their invasion of England, the Romans adopted the same name with a slight alteration to enable it to fit into the Latin, and the town was then known as "Londinium." It was during the Roman occupation that the place grew to be an important town, and even after Romans departed, the Latin term clung to the city until well on into the Middle Ages, when the gradual trend away from the strict Latin form caused the elimination of the last two syllables and the changing of the first "i" into an "o" thus producing the name "London," precisely as it is today.

Path of English Liberty.

Alfred the Great had his troubles in establishing trial by jury. The judges refused to submit cases to judges, and then Alfred would hang the judges. He hanged 44 of them in one year following convictions of impeachment before a grand council, known as the "wittenagemote," which was the real beginning of the English parliament. The Normans came and turned things topsyturvy for a time, but in the reign of King John the barons of England took the bit in their teeth and forced the Magna Carta upon the king. The Plantagenets, Tudors and Stuarts, all full fed on the doctrine of the divine right of kings, tried to administer justice in their own several fashions, but this only led to the revolution of 1688, which established the bill of rights and set the people of England free.

Pat Knew What He Meant.

The village constable found Pat moaning and writhing by the roadside.
"Hello, 'Pat! What's the matter with you?" he asked. Who've you been fighting with?"

"Sure it's not fighting at all that I've been," replied Pat. "A couple of motor bikes and side whiskers came tearin' by an' one of the whiskers took me in the back and landed me in the hedge."
"You mean side cars—not side whiskers," said the policeman.
"Indeed, I do not," replied Pat.
"They both whisked off before I could get their numbers!"

The Impression One Gets.

"You've traveled much?"
"Oh, I've been everywhere."
"Oh, I've been something."
"Well?"
"What size tip do you have to give a prime minister abroad?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

MAKING THEM AMERICANS

How few of us realize the importance of making over the foreigner—of implanting American ideals, ideas and common sense in place of socialistic and maybe anarchistic theories. It means a lot to every American citizen. This work and many other interesting activities of the Department of Labor are discussed in the twelfth issue of the series of beautifully illustrated booklets on Our Government which we have been distributing to representative citizens of this community.

If by any chance you have failed to receive regularly
