ACCURACY in ACCOUNTING

Within the memory of persons still living the word "accounting" brought up a picture of a man on a high stool writing with a quill pen and using sand instead of blotting paper.

But the telephone belongs to a newer era, and telephone accounting is as modern and as accurate as is humanly possible.

The men and women who do the accounting work are careful and take every precaution to avoid mistakes.

For they know that errors sometimes cause misunderstandings.

When mistakes do occur—and they are bound to occur once in a while—every effort is made to adjust them.

To adjust them courteously.

For in the accounting, as in every branch of the telephone organization, the Bell people work with the idea constantly before them that courtesy pays.

THE BARBERRY BUSH

"Here we go round the barberry bush"—
Three tiny maidens, with wind-tossed hair—
Sing the old rhyme to the well-worn air—
"So early Monday morning!"

Chubby fingers interlaced,
Every tumbler scolding,
Around and round they tizzily go—
Eyes that shine and cheeks a-glow,
Beeste and Belle and Budy Snooty—
"So early Monday morning!"

And, here we go "round our barberry bush!"
I thought, as I heard the gay little song—
Mothers and wives, our whole lives long—
Our days as well as our moans,
Busy fingers never still.

Not a duty scolding;
Round and round with tireless feet,
Conquering every task we meet—
Home and children keeping sweet—
Morning after morning!

"This is the way we wash our clothes!"
They rub and wring and dampen and press—
In poonamie, apron or dollie's dress—
"So early Monday morning!"

On they go in the queer old play
Each day's work performing;
They knead the bread and stir the cake,
With many a pat and knowing shake—
Dearest of dear little cooks they make,
This lovely summer morning!

"This is the way we go to church,"
Soft-dimpled arms creep out of sight,
Long apron sleeves are buttoned tight—
"So early Sunday morning!"
They don their hats all trimmed with leaves.

And dandelions adorning—
Three small mimics of earthly toil!
Pure little hearts without a soil!
Nothing they know of the world's turmoil—
"So early in life's morning!"

And shall we not leave our "barberry bush!"
Each day has brought us its burden of work;
Duties and cares which we could no shirk—
Morning after morning!

Cometh now the Sabbath's rest!
Wear thy brain give warning
That woman needs one day in seven
To free her heart of earthly leaven,
To fit herself for God and heaven,
One holy Sabbath morning!

FIJIANS OF HEROIC STRAIN

Incident Proves That Savages Are Capable of Great Self-Sacrifice on Occasions.

A remarkable tale of Fijian heroism comes from the island of Vanua Leon. Chief Inoke and a native boy, aged twelve, put out to sea from the native town of Namuka and when about half a mile out their craft capsized.

The boy, in a rough sea, swam for the shore to get help. The chief was old and sick and after swimming some distance went back to the overturned craft and hung on. The boy, exhausted, reached the shore and found only a blind man and a little girl in the village.

The blind man essayed to rescue the chief. The little girl swam with him to guide him to the boat, and when they got there they assisted the chief toward the shore. Meanwhile the little girl swam ashore to get a boat; but while the blind man was helping the chief, the latter succumbed and sank. The blind man dived and recovered the body, finally bringing it ashore, though half-dead himself.

Hen's Odd Nesting Place.

An Australian living in New South Wales says that one of his hens had a nest 40 feet up in a pine, an old nest of the ring-tailed opossum. The hen used to climb up via the branches and come down airplane fashion. With the exception of one, all the chicks reached the earth by tumbling. The last one, No. 10, was rescued with a prawn net affixed to a pole, into which the nest, chick and all, was poked. Prior to the final act No. 10 had become proficient in walking the branches, appearing from time to time several feet from the nest and retreating to his pine-needle home whenever he was approached. Not one of the fledglings was injured by its sudden descent, but the thick foliage of the tree broke the fall.

Takes Notes From Radio.

There are many uses to which a radio outfit can be put other than to merely amuse the individual. A Brooklyn girl, who had difficulty in getting some one to dictate to her in the evening in order to assist in bringing her shorthand to the speed necessary to get credentials from a commercial school, listens in and when a lecture or address is given she takes it down in shorthand. This is excellent practice and there is much fun in transcribing the notes.

Good House for Sale

I have a good 8-room house on West Main street, in A1 shape, that I will sell very reasonable. If interested will be pleased to show same. It pays better to own a home like this than pay rent. J. E. Schroll Realtor, Mount Joy.

Do they come back?

I'll say they do —
The Milk Scale tells the Tale —

YOUR cows get tired of unpalatable feeds — their production falls off, but Oh Boy! How they do come back and fill the old milk pail brim full when you begin to feed Sugared Schumacher. It sharpens their appetite—they eat it with a relish—they don't go off their feed—they improve in health and their better condition is reflected every day in the milk pail. Come in and let us tell you all about it.

THE LITTLE BROTHERS OF THE NATION

There is no phase of the achievements of our government more creditable to us than that dealing with the acquisition and handling of our outlying possessions.

A foreigner speaking of the United States colonization work says: "There never was a colonizing power which set out so fast to teach and educate the native races with which it came in contact. One great fact in development which citizens of the United States understand is that money spent on essentials is bound to pay itself back."

An interesting account of our insular and other outlying possessions is given in the latest booklet of the series on Our Government being issued monthly by this Institution. Are you receiving them?
