The League Standing

Deadlocked again. That is the way the race for the Mt. Joy Industrial League Championship stands, following the game between the Business Men and the Shoe Factory on Thursday night, the former winning and regaining the ground they lost when they dropped a game to the Cotton Mill last week. The final score was 4 to 2.

Bennett's fine pitching was a big factor in the victory of the Business Men. He allowed the shoemakers but three scattered hits in the five innings, two of them going to Hendricks, one of which was a home run.

In order to break the deadlock for the championship it is planned to stage a nine inning game in the near future between the Business Men and the Cotton Mill teams and award the championship to the winner. Score:

MAY NOW STUDY COLLEGE COURSES IN THE HOME

The same general educational subjects that are taught in the classrooms at the Pennsylvania State College may now be studied by non-college students in their homes. Announcement has been made that the new School of Education at Penn State is ready to give fifty home study courses through its department of correspondence study.

Public school teachers and former college students who are able to continue their education for a time, are especially benefitted through this opportunity, declares Dean Will Grant Chambers and Mr. A. S. Hurrell, in charge of the new Penn State service. A new college bulletin describing the courses will be ready for distribution about September first.

More than a score of the college faculty members have prepared the various extension courses. College credit towards a degree will be granted as soon as the student has met the college entrance requirements. Enrollments may be made at any time. Some of the general courses include drawing, economics, education, English, French, Spanish, Latin History, Mathematics, Nature Study Political Science, Psychology, Public School Art and Sociology.

MILLERS VISIT COLLEGE AND TALK BETTER FOUR

The wheat industry of Pennsylvania will prosper if growers, millers and bakers cooperate in raising good wheat, in milling it properly, and in making it into bread that will make the consumer reach for an extra slice. These were the conclusions expressed by speakers at a recent gathering of the Susquehanna Millers' Association and the Central Pennsylvania Millers' Association at the Pennsylvania State College.

More than 75 millers drove to State College, banqueted at noon and inspected facilities about the college for aiding the wheat and milling industry. All expressed the opinion that a better laboratory is needed at the college for training men for the scientific side of the milling industry and to make it possible to carry on more extensive research along milling and allied lines.

The importance of millers organizing, pooling their flour, and being able to deliver large orders of uniform quality and color was stressed by George Stewart, of the State Department of Agriculture. Dr. C. F. Noll, of the College staff, who is the breeder of "Pennsylvania 44" wheat told of the efforts of the College to give to the wheat growers varieties that would make good flour and hold up in yield.

NEW LEADER FOR FARM WOMEN AT STATE COLLEGE

The appointment of Miss Madge Bogas as head of home economics extension work in Pennsylvania, to succeed Miss Pearl MacDonald, resigned, has been announced by the extension department of the Pennsylvania State College.

Miss Bogas's training for her work as leader of educational activities pertaining to the home is ideal, both from an educational and practical standpoint. She is a native of Minnesota and received her education at the University of Minnesota, Oskosh Normal school, and Teachers College of Columbia University. She has served as a high school teacher as manager of tea rooms, and as head of the foods and cookery department at Syracuse University. Her training includes work in music, arts and crafts, food and cookery, and clothing work. During the war, she was engaged in demonstration work on cold pack canning and war time foods. She will assume her duties at the State College headquarters within the next week.

Campaign Wins New Members

During July, 172 persons qualified for the official emblem of recognition issued by the United States Department of Agriculture to persons who use pure-bred sires exclusively for all classes of animals kept. The work is conducted jointly by the various States and by the department. The total number of persons participating at the end of July was 11,705.

The department is now distributing a lithographed sign, "Pure-bred Sires Exclusively Used on This Farm" to live-stock owners who enroll in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign and who request the sign. Each sign issued bears a number which identifies the live-stock owner with the nationwide movement for live-stock improvement.

NOTED SWINE BREEDER VISITS COLLEGE FARM

That swine producers of Pennsylvania have many advantages over hog men in the middle west is the statement of C. G. McCahan, an Indian breeder who recently visited the swine plant at the Pennsylvania State College and toured several counties of the state.

"You have good markets at your very door which are protected from western competition by the long freight haul," is McCahan's statement. "Good breeding stock, proper feeding and management, and a spirit of cooperation among the breeders will bring success to Pennsylvania's swine industry."

Mr. McCahan came to Pennsylvania at the invitation of the extension department of the Pennsylvania State College. He spent a day looking over the swine plant at the college farm and was very favorably impressed with the animals and the work being done.

What Can Be Made From Milk

Some interesting figures have been compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture to show what can be made from a devinite quantity of milk. Using 100 pounds of milk which tests 4 per cent, it has been found that this quantity will make about 4.8 pounds of butter, 11 pounds of Cheddar cheese, 45 fifteen ounce cans of condensed milk, 12.5 pounds of whole milk powder, 8.5 pounds of Swiss cheese, or 23 pounds of Camembert cheese. The exact amounts of these products that can be made from 100 pounds of milk varies with the richness of the milk in fat and other solids. A number of by-products are also formed by the different processes.

Stone fences are being converted into lime by Anderson County, Kan. farmers, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. Through the efforts of their agricultural extension agent, a cooperatively owned rock crusher has been secured in the county, which with a tractor, is placed near one of these frequent stone fences and the rock ground into a valuable soil amendment, thus eliminating the hauling of lime from long distances. The county agent had previously had the local limestone tested and found that it is suitable for agricultural use.

Self-feeders for their hogs were installed by over 27,000 farmers in 1922 as a result of demonstrations of agricultural extension workers in improved methods of swine management, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture.

RHEEMS

Eli G. Reist, a prominent fruit grower of Mt. Joy, paid a short visit to the S. S. Kraybill family last Thursday.

H. H. Bard, a war veteran aged 81 of Rheems, shot a large ground hog last Saturday afternoon without the aid of glasses.

Walter and Paul Eppenshade of the Harrisburg Island, taking a first of September swim.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Heisey, of near Romersville, Pa. spent last Sunday afternoon at the home of his mother, Mrs. Susan Heisey.

Rheems schools opened doors Monday in charge of Prof. S. B. Landis and Mrs. J. Lloyd Harnish with an unusually large attendance.

Church of the Brethren held their mid-week prayer meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Enterline at Rheems last Tuesday evening.

Miriam Bard and brother, Russell, spent the week-end and Labor Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Bard 1604 West Broad St., Bethlehem, Pa.

B. F. Shank, postmaster, and Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Shank spent last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Shank near Shrewsbury, Md.

A. L. Nissly, an ex-school director of Mt. Joy township, now a resident of near Mount Joy, delivered several acres of choice sweet corn to the Cope's Evaporating factory.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hamilton and daughter, Rose and son, Walter, of the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Henry, notary public at Rheems.

Harvey Hoffman, the Rheems thrasher who has completed a successful year exceeding any previous year of his many years of experience, started his silo outfit on Labor Day.

Victor Shank returned from a farming district near Williamsport where he spent the summer operating a potato sprayer, to enter the Florin Trust Company as clerk on September 4th.

Victor Shank son of Postmaster B. F. Shank of Rheems, has accepted a position as clerk in the Florin Trust Company as successor to Clarence Musser, resigned.

Mrs. Lillian Ebersole has taken charge of the Rheems Grammar school commencing on Labor Day owing to the sudden attack of sickness to Prof. S. B. Landis.

Mr. and Mrs. Elias E. Risser, Scriber and conveyancer, accompanied by their daughter, Myra of Lawn, paid a short visit to her father, James W. Kraybill, last Tuesday.

Landis Brothers, coal for a carload of bituminous coal for their stone meal crushing plant. They have quite a demand for the meal to be used with the fall seeding.

Mr. Landis arranged a device to a cable that was lodged in the pipe and wedged there so that with a block and tackle attached to his automobile the pipe was out in about ten minutes.

Paul E. Hernley and Harry Lloyd two Mt. Joy township tobacco farmers having four acres each, are quite busy and happy housing tobacco that they challenge anyone with at the west end of the county for size and quality.

The Copes Sweet Corn Evaporating factory is swamped with sweet corn far beyond expectation making it necessary to employ a double shift of workers. The late rains will mature the 200 acres to a perfect yield keeping them busy until November 1.

Farmers whose wheat yielded 50 bu. to 40 bu. per acre attributed the success to certified seed, early plowing and frequent cultivation before seeding. A special effort for the 1923 fall seeding is being made by majority of the modern farmers.

Many of the practical farmers are of the opinion that proper plowing, frequent cultivation, and certified seed will mean a 50% increase over the old methods. Less acres properly handled with modern equipments may be the key to the farmers' situation when they reach the large yields.

The following prominent citizens from this section attended the Greider reunion held at the home of Adam Greider last Saturday: Mrs. Alida Greider and daughters, Martha and Alida; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Harnish; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Musser and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith and daughter Ruth.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Butzer and daughter, Arvita, entertained the following guests last Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. David Adams, daughter Ruth, and son, Buster; and Mr. John Eppenshade, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Ralph Siders and son, Ralph, of Florin, and Miss Orthia Hostetter, of Elizabethtown.

H. H. Englemann, manager of the J. A. Hipple farms, has 50 acres of perfect growing corn with ears equal to any previous year. He has 22 steers that average 900 in pasture and expects to purchase another carload to place in the barn to devour the immense yield of corn. There will be no wheat sown on the Rheems farms this coming fall.

Through an ingenious device contrived by Harry K. Landis, president of the Rheems Water Supply Company, the 200 feet of six inch pipe which fell into the 500 foot well at the reservoir was brought to the surface yesterday. The pipe was broken off and fell into the well last June when a storm wrecked the electric motor derrick and attachment.

TESTIMONIALS ON THE D. C. EBERSOLE EXCELSIOR TOBACCO SHEARS

During my fifteen years of tobacco farming and cutting I have used many makes of shears and find none equal to or better than the Excelsior Clipper. I have used them for two years in cutting 40 acres of tobacco.
 ABRAM L. GREINER, Mt. Joy, Pa.

This is to certify that the Excelsior Clipper is the most satisfactory shear we ever used on our farm in the last 25 years. It is equal in not on the market to-day. Its simple construction, its high quality of material, its light weight and its easy cutting makes it superior to any other shear on the market.
 ELI H. ENGLE.

In regard to a testimonial for the Excelsior Tobacco Shears I can heartily say it is the best article I have ever used in my 20 years of farming tobacco. Would recommend it to anyone in need of shears.
 AMOS B. NISSLEY.

I have been using all grades of tobacco shears and I find none that can surpass the Excelsior Shear for rough use. I had five last year and the Excelsior was the only one I did not repair before the tobacco was housed.
 J. L. SWARR, JR.

I surely can say the Excelsior Shear is the best shear I have ever used. I have used different makes of shears; none to equal the Excelsior for easy cutting and endurance.
 ELAM SHERER.

I cheerfully add my testimony regarding the Excelsior Clipper. They are really the very best shears I have ever used, bar none. Have not found their equal in many different makes.
 JOHN HIVNER.

Have used three Excelsior shears last season. They needed no repairs, gave good service and were easy to operate. They are the best shears I have ever used.
 AMOS N. SHELLY.

Having used two Excelsior Tobacco Shears last season must say that they are what the maker claims them to be for easy cutting and needing no repairs. The boys always took and used them because they were so light in weight.
 JOHN E. BRUBAKER.

In my experience with tobacco shears the Excelsior gave me the best service of any make I have tried.
 C. F. MARTIN.
