

PIPELESS FURNACES

MORE HEAT "THEY WASTE NO HEAT" LESS COAL
NO DUST

IF YOU were a heating expert, you would know that the pipeless furnace in its place is the cheapest good method of house-heating. That is solid fact, and beyond argument.

But what you want to know is whether "in its place" means in your place. It does, if yours is like any one of the 250 kinds of buildings pipeless furnaces heat now, and heat well.

Those buildings include city homes and country homes; churches and schools and public halls; theatres and garages and the like, all over the United States. Pipeless furnaces supply all the heat they want, for the least fuel cost possible. The right pipeless furnace will do that for you, if your house-heating problem is like any one of these—as it probably is.

So what you next want to know is which is the right pipeless furnace. If your building is suited to this method of heating, some pipeless furnace will serve you better and cost you less than any other heating system there is. But any pipeless furnace will serve you better than any other method. Let us show you the different makes we sell.

Your practical mind will easily see the principle of the Pipeless Furnace. You will study out how the furnace draws in the cold air from all over the building, heats it, and sends it forth through the register, ever-fresh and warm and clean—heat of the most healthful, comforting, steadfast kind!

You will observe how the Pipeless Furnace does away with all the mussy, fussy toil and bother stoves cause; how it automatically renews the current of warm air as long as the fire stays lit; how it provides perfect control of the volume of heated air pushed forth through the register; how easy it is to stall; and how its outrush of fresh, hot, fumeless, sootless, dustless warm air goes into every nook and corner of the whole house.

We shall be glad to show you all you want to know and to answer, truthfully and fully, any question you want to ask about the Pipeless Furnace. Let us demonstrate it to you. We feel quite sure of the pleasant results—long years of house-comfort and fuel economy for you.

1924'S FINEST PERFORMER

-test the new motor on any hill you know

OF the many improvements in the 1924 Cleveland Six, most important is a new, more powerful motor—the finest of its size ever placed in a motor car.

Put it to any power test you know. Learn for yourself what Cleveland engineers have long since demonstrated in competitive performance tests: that the 1924 Cleveland not only out-performs by a decisive margin all sixes of its size and price class, but shows a marked supremacy over dozens of cars that are bigger and more costly.

Until you have ridden in the 1924 Cleveland, you cannot conceive what a marvelous range of hill and traffic performance is now to be obtained in a six that costs so little and is still so beautiful, so roomy and comfortable, so easy to operate and so economical to own!

Seed Corn for 1924
Just as soon as the ears begin to dent, you can wander into the corn field and begin marking those plants that are producing good seed ears. Picking seed from the wagon box at husking time is a poor method of selecting seed corn.

BUSINESS MEN ARE THE CHAMPIONS OF OUR LOCAL INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE

The Business Men and the Cotton Mill teams played off the tie for the championship of the Industrial League here on Saturday afternoon and the former won in one of the most interesting games seen here in a long time.

Both teams started off in the very first inning, being as sincere in their efforts as were Dempsey and Firpo in the first round, the Cotton Mill scoring a run and the Business Men two. The teams battled along until the ninth round when the Cotton Mill scored a run and tied the score at 3-3.

The game was finally decided in the eleventh inning when the Business men scored the winning run.

The attendance was good and the entire proceeds were for the benefit of the sufferers in Japan. Score:

Lost Last Sunday
Jake Brown's aggregation did not play up to its usual standard last Sunday and as a result was easy picking for Middletown. The visitors hit Alcorn safely fourteen times and coupled with about nine errors easily spelled defeat.

RAISED FIFTEEN ACRES OF VERY GOOD TOBACCO

Adam King, assisted by William King, is farming the Amos Cooper farm, near Landisville. The farm contains sixty-five acres and about one-fourth of it is planted in tobacco. A large sixteen-room frame house surrounded by a well kept lawn makes a beautiful appearance on the place which is located out in the country at a distance from the town.

The large barn and a couple of tobacco sheds furnish room for the fifteen acres of tobacco, which is a real good crop this year. It was not planted very early.

Ten head of steers are fed on the farm, and four cows are kept from which the milk is taken to the creamery at Landisville.

General farming is the rule in this place. Corn, tobacco, wheat and hay are rotated. This year's corn crop will be only fair on account of the very dry weather in this section of the country.

SECRETARY WALLACE TALKS TO PENNA. FARM GROUP

More than 400 farmers and farm women of the Franklin County Agricultural Extension Association accompanied by County Agent J. H. Knod and John B. Crawford, president of the organization, made an auto tour recently to Washington, D. C., visiting the Government farm at Beltsville, Maryland, the University of Maryland, and the National Capitol. Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture addressed the group.

County Agent Knod in speaking of the tour said: "These trips which we plan to make each year are primarily educational and we expect to profit a great deal from them in introducing into our country the best farming practices we see in these excursions."

Last year, Franklin county farmers paid a visit to the Pennsylvania State College and Experiment Station where they inspected the growing crops.

Not So Good
"Pop, I had a fight with Benny Smith today," spoke up the embarrassed youngster.
"I know you did," replied father very soberly. "Mr. Smith came to see me about it."
"We," said the youngster, "I hope you came out as well as I did."

MANY GASOLINE PUMPS MUST BE MOVED BACK

The highway secretary. "The Department of Highways observes that in numerous boroughs of Pennsylvania in which the department has constructed a modern roadway the authorities have permitted the erection of gasoline pumps so close to the road that when an automobile is stopped for gasoline some portion of the vehicle remains on the improved highway."

The letter concludes with the statement that the department has no jurisdiction over the traffic regulations in the boroughs nor the erection of the pumps, but it suggests "that accidents will be prevented and lives saved if the boroughs of the State enact ordinances or provide regulations forbidding the placing of gasoline pumps closer than eight feet to an improved highway."

Advantage of Late Potato

The chief advantage of the late potato over its earlier brethren is its keeping quality which permits its sale and use all winter and through the early summer the following year says the United States Department of Agriculture. This involves special methods. The whole question of successful late-potato marketing can be summed up under four heads, according to department workers. They are: (1) Careful planning from planting time to day of sale; (2) full use of crop and market news; (3) good handling, grading and loading; and (4) readiness to learn from the methods of other potato growing sections.
