WANTED. The man who once wisely said, "Be sure you're right, then go ahead." Might well have added this to wit: Be sure you're wrong before you quit.

Samson is said to have ten moons but I'll bet a plugged nickel it doesn't have any more moonshine than we had right here in Mount Joy on New Year's Day.

A male employe at the Cotton mill went home the other day and said to his wife: "Do you know why I am like a mule?" She said: "I know you are but I don't know why you are."

A certain lady in town, after reading the bargains in Harry Leake-witz's ad in last week's Bulletin, was so anxious to get up early next morning that she set the rooster one hour ahead.

A young fellow and his girl from town went to Harrisburg on Sunday. At the depot they took a taxi to go up town. They were riding along when all of a sudden the chauffeur stopped in the middle of a block. The fellow said: "Why did you stop?" "Because I heard the lady say stop," he replied. Well, she wasn't talking to you," came the reply.

A Maytown man and his wife were out riding in their new car. She was driving and the machine got beyond her control. He said: "Can't you stop it?" She replied: "Heavens no." "Then run it into something cheap," he said.

Nine little saucers. Sizzling on a plate. Down came the boards. And then they were ate.

A country chap passed the office the other evening. He had been in at Darrenkamp's buying tobacco. While there John Grosh tried to make the poor fellow believe that they get Bull Durham tobacco from bulls. The fellow said: "I always knew they get bully from bulls but its first I ever knew that that's where they get the Bull Durham. Then Johnny Charles, his brother "Henner", George Neiss, Isaih, and all the rest of the gang had the nerve to laugh at the poor fellow. They forget that he who laughs last, gathers no moss.

Went out to Paris Shelly's the other day and there he was busy painting the inside of his chicken house. I said: "What's the idea, P.G.?" He replied: "Why to keep the chickens from pickin' the grain out of the wood, you simp." Pretty wise crack, eh.

A very good friend of ours down near Bacon's Mill is indisposed. The other morning I called him and inquired about his condition. He said: "I'd better than I was, sir, but I ain't as well as I was before I was as bad as I be now."

The man who once wisely said, "Be sure you're right, then go ahead." Might well have added this to wit: Be sure you're wrong before you quit.

Two west and girls aged about 10 or 11, went to Krall's butcher shop and made a purchase. While crossing the street they came mighty near being run over by an auto. They jumped aside, the one girl losing her hat and the other her package from the butcher shop. I said: "That was a close call girl. He replied: "You bet; Anna lost her hat and I lost my liver."

There are several parties on my Bell telephone line and last Wednesday I unintentionally butted into a conversation long enough to hear the following: "Hello, hello—Is this one nine, two, four?" "No, get off the line!" "Then what year is it?"

Doc Thome called at a certain place several days ago and said to a small boy about the place: "Is your sister spoiled, Sammy?" The boy replied: "Naw, that's just the perfume she uses."

M. S. Potter is still wondering just who ate that five-pound-box of Sheetz's candy he brought up from Lancaster for "Demmy" Hoffman the day before Christmas.

Frank Tyndall got such a hard crack on his adam's apple in Friday night's game that he tasted cider until last evening. "Frankie" says: "Wise is the chap who knows when to turn the other cheek and when to knock the fellow down."

We have a chap living on South Market street who declares there's at least one nice thing about being married. Only your wife's thumb gets into your soup.

A fair young lady living out near Hossler's church was caught fussing about the face of her whiskered beau on Sunday night. Her father said: "Alice, what are you doing?" She answered: "O, just beating about the bush."

A fellow and a girl had an argument in front of my office Sunday night. He said he would buy a nice farm as soon as she married him. She said: "The only real estate you'll ever own is under your finger nails."

A Virginia man never saw an automobile until the other day, his 92 birthday. "Phil" Schock says that's why he's 92 years old.

A WISE OWL. Want a Fine Home? I am offering for sale the beautiful brick dwelling of the late E. Marsh Trexler on Marietta street. An inspection of this property will say more than I can. Come and look it over. No finer location in town. J. F. Schroll, Mount Joy.

are not, but I just naturally love a good fighter. Especially when he fights fair and in the open. That kind will look death square in the face and if they believe they are entitled to more life they will put up a good strong fight and win.

Some people spend their strength fighting little things. They notice petty annoyances, such as would make a real fighter laugh. I was once called to a house where a middle aged man was dying, and with the last few audible words from his lips he swore at the nurse for spilling a couple of drops of water on his shirt.

After the Moulting EGGS. REMEMBER going through the moult is like going through a long spell of sickness. To force out the old quills and grow new feathers saps a hen's vitality. If you expect your hens to be fall producers and winter layers, then feed them Poultry Pan-a-ce-a during and after the moult. Dr. Hess Poultry Pan-a-ce-a will start your pullets and moulted hens to laying. It contains Tonics that put your moulted hens in fine condition—Tonics that tone up the dormant egg organs—Iron that gives a moulted, run-down hen rich, red blood and a red comb. It contains internal antiseptics that destroy disease germs that may be lurking in the system. No disease where Pan-a-ce-a is fed. It pays to feed Pan-a-ce-a regularly. It brings back the singing—it brings back the scratching—it brings back the cackle. That's when you get eggs; and it's eggs you want—fall eggs, winter eggs—when eggs are eggs. CHANDLER'S DRUG STORE.
