Good E. Donegal Farm

If anyone wants a real good East Donegal township farm, along the Donegal creek, with the best of limestone soil, here's your chance. 100 acres, seven acres of which is good meadow. Farm divided into 6 fields. New barn, 40x90, 8-room brick house, summer house, shedding for 10 acres of tobacco, running water at barn and house. Buildings in exceptional shape, farm is convenient to markets, is an excellent producer and can be bought at $180 an acre. If interested call, phone or write Jno. E. Schroll, Realtor, Mount Joy.

After the Moulting EGGS

REMEMBER, going through the moult is like going through a long spell of sickness. To force out the old quills and grow new feathers saps a hen's vitality. If you expect your hens to be fall producers and winter layers, then feed them Poultry Pan-a-ce-a during and after the moult.

Dr. Hess Poultry Pan-a-ce-a will start your pullets and moulted hens to laying

It contains Tonics that put your moulted hens in fine condition—Tonics that tone up the dormant egg organs—Iron that gives a moulted, run-down hen rich, red blood and a red comb. It contains internal antiseptics that destroy disease germs that may be lurking in the system. No disease where Pan-a-ce-a is fed. It pays to feed Pan-a-ce-a regularly. It brings back the singing—it brings back the scratching—it brings back the cackle. That's when you get eggs; and it's eggs you want—fall eggs, winter eggs—when eggs are eggs.

WEEKLY LETTER WRITTEN EXPRESSLY FOR THE BULLETIN BY DR. DAVID H. REEDER

PRUNES

Many times I have recommended Prunes as an article of diet. I consider them most excellent and at the same time they are agreeable to most people are fairly economical. In the last issue of "Successful Farming", I found some very excellent recipes for preparing Prunes and I am going to give you some of the best of these.

I am going to suggest that these various dishes will be much better and much more wholesome if honey is used instead of sugar, whenever sugar is specified.

"Prunes are very wholesome, nutritious article of diet, and when properly prepared are as delicious as they are wholesome. They contain a high percentage of sugar, and often are served without any additional sweetening."

"Prunes should be soaked until plump, overnight if possible, before cooking. First wash well to thoroughly cleanse them, and soak in about three times their quantity of warm water. Cook them in water in which they have soaked, as this contains much of their goodness, simmering rather than boiling them until tender."

Following are good ways to serve prunes:

Quick Prune Sandwich Bread
"Two cups of graham flour, 1-2 cupful of cornmeal, 1-2 cupfuls of flour, 1-2 cupful of brown sugar, 2 teaspoonfuls of baking powder, 1 teaspoon of soda, 1 teaspoon of salt, 2 cupfuls of prunes, cooked and stoned, 1-2 cupful of molasses, 1-2 cupful of walnut meats 2 cupfuls of sour milk. Sift all dry ingredients. Add molasses, milk prunes and nuts. Mix well and pour into two greased bread pans and let stand fifteen minutes before baking. Bake forty-five minutes in a moderate oven. This is excellent for the children's luncheons."

Prune Coffee Cake
"Two eggs well beaten, 1 cup sugar, 1-2 cup milk, 1-3 cup melted shortening, 2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract. Beat eggs, add sugar, sift flour and baking powder. Add to mixture gradually with milk, beat until smooth, then add the melted shortening and extract. Pour into two greased layer cake pans, and cover the entire top with uncooked pitted prunes. Bake in moderate oven."

Prune Bread
"One cup scalded milk, 1 teaspoon of shortening, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cake yeast dissolved in 1-4 cup of luke warm water, about 3 or 3 1/2 cups flour and 1 cup of cooked, stoned and cut prunes. Put shortening, sugar, and salt in hot milk, let stand until luke-warm, then add the yeast. Add flour gradually, beating until too stiff to stir. Put on the molding board and knead in flour until smooth. Place in greased bowl, brush dough with melted shortening, cover and let rise in warm place until twice its bulk. Then turn on board, add prunes by kneading, and shape into loaves. Place in bread pans and let rise until light; bake in oven forty-five minutes for a medium-sized loaf."

Prune and Orange Jam
"Take large prunes, wash, and cut from the stones, then run through the food chopper. Grate the peel from half of the oranges used—the yellow rind only—then peel and cut the orange pulp in small pieces. Use equal amount of prunes and cut oranges. Add a large tablespoon of sugar to each cup of orange and a half cup of water to two cups of prunes. Mix all together, cover, and let just simmer on the back of the stove for several hours. Put in to small jars or glasses."

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Tells of Mrs. Vogel's Terrible Suffering and How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan. — "My troubles were severe pains in my back and terrible bearing-down right and I stopped having that nervous feeling and got a better appetite. The doctor had always said that an operation was the only thing that would help me, but I never had any faith in an operation. Since the Vegetable Compound has started helping me I do not suffer the severe pains, feel stronger, and am able to do my own work. I am more than glad to tell my friends that it helps where other medicines have failed."

STREET SPECIFICATIONS FOR SUBURBAN ROADS

Better city streets have taught vehicle users to demand better suburban roads. The requirements for the country road are not as drastic as for the street in the municipality, but they are much closer than they were ten or fifteen years ago.

For fast moving traffic city pavement must be smooth, not only to permit the rapid and comfortable movement of vehicles but to conserve fuel and tires. A slight saving in the operating cost per vehicle reaches a large aggregate when the vast number of motor cars is considered which justifies a considerable outlay to obtain smoothness.

This factor gets bigger every year, in country road specifications.

Impact attracts the attention of engineers to an increasing degree. A wheel with a drop of 1 inch when in motion delivers a blow equivalent to six times the dead weight. City engineers, therefore, attach increasing importance to the resiliency of pavements to take up the shock of impact.

County road engineers build more flexibly every year.

It is now almost impossible to close an important street to traffic for any time. The engineer must, therefore, select his type with ready repairs in mind. Even when possible to detour traffic the cost in extra fuel over a comparatively short space of time adds enormously to the cost of the pavement.

Quick reparability is now much considered in county-road design.

Prune Scuffie

"Stew half a pound of prunes, rub through a sieve, and to the pulp add four tablespoonfuls of sugar and the yolks of three eggs well beaten. Then fold in the stiffly-whipped whites of six eggs, turn at once into a buttered dish, dust the top with powdered sugar and bake in a quick oven five or six minutes. Serve immediately in the dish in which it was baked."

MAP SHOWS NEWSPAPERS INTERESTED IN ROADS

In the National Highways exhibit at the great road exposition at the Coliseum, Chicago, this week, is a great map of the United States, in which 7,452 red-headed pins have been driven, indicating the location of that number of newspapers of the 13,388 daily and weekly papers of the United States which have accepted of a Newspaper Association membership in the National Highways Association and are in receipt of, and publishing from time to time, the roads news the association sends to its members.

The map must be seen to appreciate the thorough way in which this great educational campaign is being carried on by the newspapers of the United States, more than half of which are so progressive and so interested in the transportation problem which affects in one way or another every one of their readers, that they contribute of their valuable space to the cause of good roads everywhere.

As it is natural, the pins in the map are thickest in the extreme East and Middle Eastern States' and thinnest in the far West, where towns are more widely scattered and newspapers are fewer. Certain parts of the West, however, notably the immediate vicinity of San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Portland and Seattle are so thick with pins that the map is completely hidden from view.

Visitors to the National Highways Association exhibit in the Coliseum express themselves as amazed at the amount of effort being put into the cause by the newspapers, as well as much pride and satisfaction when their own particular home paper is
