WEEKLY LETTER WRITTEN EXPRESSLY FOR THE BULLETIN BY DR. DAVID H. REEDER

PROGRESS: If a clock were constructed so that it would strike only each hundred years there would be many, many millions of human beings who would never hear it strike. There would be a vast majority who would positively assert that it never did strike and never would strike.

There are millions of human beings living today who do not know that man can fly in the air faster than many birds. They have never seen or heard of an automobile, a telephone or telegraph. They could not even imagine a radio in operation.

I presume that ninety percent of the people now living would emphatically declare that man can never develop an instrument or system that will enable the eye to do what the ear now does and enable one not only to hear but see people and places on the other side of the world. It will be accomplished.

Now as a matter of fact the ear is no where near as useful or highly developed a sense as the eye. About sixty per cent. of all perception is through the eye. The ear is second and then comes feeling, smelling and taste. It is through these five senses that man has progressed and knows that he knows.

In addition, man has developed and is now much more rapidly developing the subconscious or master mind. This develops imagination and through that powerful stimulant his desires are increased. Desires stir the individual into action and as a result of desire, plus imagination, we have invention.

If it has not been for the development of these faculties man would not have invented so simple a thing as a three legged stool.

Many parents, teachers and preachers seek to curb imagination in children. Object to fairy tales, novels and poetry of vivid imaginings, and when a child tells them of the great bear and the Indians out behind the barn or in the woods they punish it for lying.

In that manner they destroy progress in the child. As a matter of fact the bear and the Indians are very real to the child. He has created them in his imagination and to him they are very real and very dangerous.

Wise is the parent who can encourage the imagination and at the same time remove the fear while encouraging a love of truthfulness. Foolish, almost a criminal, is the parent who bluntly calls the child a liar and roughly takes him to the place of the bear and the Indians and thus proves him a liar.

The chair that you sit in existed first in the imagination of the man who made it. You can destroy the material chair with a little match but you cannot destroy the actual chair in the man's mind. A real teacher and leader in progress will go cheerfully with the child to look for the bear and the Indians, will be much disappointed when they are not found and then will make the wonderful explanation as to the difference between the material things and the creations of the mind. The child will be delighted and encouraged, he will progress and become constructive instead of destructive.

Personally I am of the opinion that man is making more progress in each hundred years of present time than he made in several thousands of years in prehistoric times and yet as a matter of fact he is just now approaching the open door of such a vast storehouse of real knowledge that those nearest stand appalled at the stupendous revelations that are to appear.

In a very short time many of the more advanced physicians will be able to treat a patient a thousand miles away with much greater accuracy than has heretofore ever been done by drugs or surgery. A very accurate diagnosis can be made through a few drops of the patient's blood or the tension of his tissues, using the magnetic meridian of the earth for stimulating the reflexes.

I have had only one failure in a number of years and in time there will be no failures at all.

If you do not get your share of the business in this vicinity, it's your own fault—no one else's. Advertise and tell the people what you have to sell.

NATIONAL HIGHWAYS ASSOCIATION

It is apparent that the world was not made safe for democracy by waging war. It should be apparent that roads can not be made safe for pedestrians or motorists by waging war against the latter by prohibitive speed regulations or drastic police rulings.

The motor car and truck have come to stay. They have come to stay because they save time, make speed. Eliminate the speed and the time-saving from motor cars and men would go back to horses.

If the speed and the time-saving result in maimings and killings; if accidents and injuries follow the use of trucks on highways, then some other remedy must be found that will destroy the very factors of these instruments of transportation which make them vital to our modern life.

The answer is plain; most people who have studied the question see it, and many acknowledge it. But it is not much talked about, because, forsooth, the politician dreads to say anything which may be construed as advocating more taxes, spending more money. Had the politician of twenty years ago advised farmers to spend five hundred or a thousand dollars for a new "team" to save time, he would have been defeated for office!

But the answer must be made, and we, as a people, must see it, approve it, pay for it. The answer is wider roads; roads with high and low speed divisions; roads which can carry modern traffic!

Not all roads, of course. But the main roads, the well-traveled roads, the intercity roads, the roads connecting State with State and county with county—these, either now or later, must be made wide enough to carry the present and the future traffic safely, assure the pedestrian of his life and whole limbs, the motorists of freedom from accident, and traffic the possibility of making time without danger to anyone.

When the automobile was new, people cried out against hard surface highway appropriations as "class legislation for speeders." Now the people know that hard surface highways are for them, first, for the "speeders" afterwards. But we all want to make time, save time, go fast enough to get the benefit of our cars. Let us stop crying out against the added expense of the wide highway, which alone can make motor transport safe for us all!

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Mrs. Shaw Calls Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a God-Send to Sick Women

Cambridge, Maine.—"I suffered terribly with pains and soreness in my sides. Each month I had to go to bed, and the doctor told me I simply had to go under an operation before I could get help. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and I told my husband one day to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I took the third dose I felt better. I took four times a day for two years, getting better all the time, and now for four years I don't have any pains. After taking the medicine for two years I had another child—a lovely baby girl now four years old—the life of our home. I do praise this medicine. It is a God-send to women who suffer with female troubles and especially for pains at the periods. I surely was very bad once, and I know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation." — Mrs. JOSIE M. SHAW, Route No. 1, Cambridge, Maine.

A country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound reports its out of every 100 were benefited by it. For sale by druggists everywhere.

WEEKLY LETTER WRITTEN EXPRESSLY FOR THE BULLETIN BY THIS WELL KNOWN ORGANIZATION

The late spring season this year is causing quite a delay in planting most of the crops on schedule time and is causing some farmers considerable worry. For the potato grower, however, the late spring weather may be a "blessing in disguise," according to County Agent F. S. Bucher.

It is true that, for the grower of Cobblers and other early varieties, the late season may prove a handicap in getting the crop on the early summer markets. But in the case of the greater majority of growers, who raise the later varieties, the proposition is quite different.

The County Agent has been observing the "ups and downs" of the potato growing business in Lancaster County for more than ten years and, therefore, speaks with the voice of authority when he says, "I have been wondering whether it would not be a wise thing for growers, in some sections of the county at least, to plant some of their late varieties at a later date. With the present planting dates, the late varieties grown in the county start to set and to form tubers at a period in the season when extremely dry weather prevails more than fifty percent of the time. Another condition that also often exists just at the times when the crop begins to set is the stopping of the tuber growth temporarily unless there is an abundant supply of humus present."

What happens to the potato crop under these conditions is then explained by Mr. Bucher thusly: "As the rains come on during the latter part of the growing season, the growth starts again and the result at harvest time is a rather low yield of mis-shapen potatoes. When planted later in the season, chances are favorable for the tubers starting to set at a time when there is likely to be more rainfall. Under these conditions there will be an uninterrupted growth, and quite generally a very satisfactory yield."

Mr. Bucher's argument for later planting dates is summed up in the following statement: "That it is possible to grow a heavy yield when planting is done at a late date is proven by the fact that in 1923 several of the 58 growers in the "400-bushel Club" of Pennsylvania planted their crops at late as June 1st."

DANGERS OF A COLD

Mt. Joy People Will Do Well To Heed Them

Many bad cases of kidney trouble result from a cold or chill. Congested kidneys fall behind in filtering the poison-laden blood and backache, headache, dizziness and disordered kidney action follow. Don't neglect a cold. Use Doan's Pills at the first sign of kidney trouble. Follow this Mt. Joy resident's example:

C. H. Metzler, mechanic, 49 W. Main St., says: "I wasn't feeling any too good and the trouble was all with my kidneys. In the first place, they were put out of order by a cold. My kidneys were not only sore, but they were sluggish, too, which resulted in the kidney secretions passing too seldom. At times when I did any stooping, a sharp, cutting pain ran through my back. A short use of Doan's Pills brought results. Doan's regulated the kidney action, strengthened me and fixed up my back in a pleasing way."

INCREASED PLANTING IN FARM ORCHARDS

A marked increase in the planting of farm orchards in Pennsylvania this spring is reported by Paul Thayer, fruit extension specialist at the Pennsylvania State College. Wherever spraying has been practiced in the old farm orchards, Thayer observes that farmers are beginning to see that there is an opportunity for profit in the home orchard.

In Wyoming county, where co-operative spray rings have been in operation for several years, larger plantings of apple, cherry, and pear trees have been made this year than ever before. This situation is true in practically every section of the state where the control of insects and diseases and good orchard management have supplanted the "let-alone" policy in farm orchards.

Some users of printing save pennies by getting inferior work and lose dollars through lack of advertising value in the work they get. Printers as a rule charge very reasonable prices, for none of them get rich although nearly all of them work hard.

Moral: Give your printing to a good printer and save money.

The Coming Chautauqua

The date of the Mount Joy Chautauqua this year as it came in the Circuit is July 8—July 13. Some years we have had it in June and that appeared too early. Last year it came in August and that was too late. We believe the date this year is to our advantage. Real wisdom has been shown in the make-up of the Chautauqua program which will be given in a later issue of our paper. Plays—two of them—symphony orchestras and national figures are among the attractions.
