For Better Advertising

There isn't a town in the United States that has better business men than Mount Joy. The general appearance of their places of business will verify this broad assertion. However, one thing is lacking—one of the foremost essentials to greater success and that is NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

Some of them say they can't write a good ad. Others say they have no up-to-date cuts with which to illustrate their ads, thereby making them attractive, while others have other excuses.

The proprietor of the Bulletin, who is ever ready and anxious to overcome just such obstacles as these, has contracted at quite an expense, to supply cuts or illustrations for almost any business, and will also write the advertisement for any of his advertisers.

All this service will be absolutely FREE.

Hereafter if you don't have a good and attractive ad in the Bulletin, blame yourself. If you want this service, phone us and we will do the rest.

Better Tools, Better Work

Good farm equipment is a necessary factor in economical production. Too much and too expensive farm machinery is almost as costly as too little. Good judgment must be used in the selection of tractors and other machinery according to the nature of the farm and the kind of farming to be done. A carpenter with a dull, broken up set of tools would make slow work of building a house, and the chances are it wouldn't be a very good house. The farmer with an inadequate supply of machinery, in poor working condition, will work lightly and at a high acre are production at a low cost. It can be secured by farmers who can plow, harrow, plant and do the work thoroughly. Of course other things must be considered, such as fertilization, soil building, and seed, but soil preparation and cultivation must come first. The right kind of tools or machine used at the right time is an economy, and economy in production is just as important as right methods in selling.

Ridiculous Maneuvers

The Chicago Youths who killed the Franks boy admitted the crime and their admission is confirmed by binding circumstances, but presumably reputable lawyers will contend that proof is still lacking as to the guilt of the defendants. Men really indulge in some ridiculous maneuvers in criminal practices.

The Lesson of Good Roads

"Though the mills of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceedingly fine!" has been quoted in connection with a thousand causes. Not often is it applicable to roads, but in at least one instance, no glove ever fitted tighter!

Two friends lived across a county line from each other; in the one county was good roads, connection with the nearby county seat, in the other was opposition to good roads, and no good connection with the county seat.

The two friends had many an argument on the subject, he of the good roads county exulting in what the good roads did for him, he who had poor roads being glad at the smallness of his taxes.

Then the farm house and the barn where lived the opponent of good roads, caught fire. He telephoned instantly to his county seat, meanwhile his friend was also crying "fire" to his county seat, over his telephone.

The fire engines from the up-to-date county seat arrived and put out the fire before those from the poor road county were seen!

Of course the poor-road advocate had to pay the cost of that fire run; it was not in his county! And of course the cost was much, much more than a road tax would have been. But he paid it cheerfully.

"Either we get good roads next election, or I'm going to move across the line!" he said.

Adequate fire protection is just one of hundreds of reasons why any other kind of a road than a hard road is uneconomic, expensive, unreasonable, and foolish!

I am the County Newspaper

I am the County Newspaper. I am the friend of the family, the bringer of tidings from other friends. I speak to the home in the evening light of summer's vineclad porch or the glow of winter's lamp. I help to make this evening hour;

I record the great and the small, the varied acts of the days and weeks that go to make up life.

I am for and of the home; I follow those who leave humble beginnings whether they go to greatness or to the gutter, I take to them the thrill of old days, with wholesome messages.

I speak the language of the common man; my words are fitted to his understanding. My congregation is larger than that of any church in my town; my readers are more than those in the school. Young and old alike find in my stimulation, instruction, entertainment, inspiration, solace, comfort. I am the chronicler of birth, and love and death—the Editorials Continued.

I bring together buyer and seller, to the benefit of both, I am part of the market-place of the world. Into the home I carry word of the goods which feed and clothe and shelter, and which minister to comfort, ease, health and happiness.

I am the word of the week, the history of the year, the record of my community in the archives of state and nation.

I am the exponent of the lives of my readers.

I am the Country Newspaper.

The New OLIVER Plow for the FORDSON

Fordson plowing was a step in the elimination of plowing drudgery. In the new Oliver No. 7-A you will find another important forward move in better plowing, easily accomplished.

You will find the Oliver No. 7-A different—so simple in construction, so easy to operate. It will penetrate in hard soils as in more favorable conditions.

When you see this plow, note the exceptional clearance which permits good plowing in trashy fields. See how a powerful screw sets the depth and allows the bottoms to be raised clear of the ground even with the plow standing still. Grasp the handy controls which permits all adjustments from the tractor seat. There is a power lift, of course.

Wheels, not landsides, carry the weight of the plow, making lightest draft and even depth furrows so desirable for a good seed bed. The hitch can be rigid or flexible as your field requires.

As for the work of the plow itself—we ask you to see it and compare it with your exacting standard of quality plowing.
