

Why Farmers are Turning to

In 1922 Chevrolet jumped from seventh to second place in sales of all cars, and to first place in sales of fully equipped modern cars.

Purchases by farmers were the chief factor in this remarkable development.

Farmers want automobiles not only of low first price, but also of low later cost for operation and maintenance.

They want room, comfort, and the ability to stand up under hard conditions.

They find that Chevrolet, fully equipped as sold, is the best value per dollar in the low-priced field, and neighbors tell them it costs less per mile to operate.

REFRESHMENTS SERVED FOLLOWING JAIL WEDDING

Weddings are not at all uncommon, but a wedding in the jail is rather unusual.

There was one in the jail at Bloomfield, Perry county, a few days ago, when Reuben Kreider, who is serving four months' sentence, and Ellen Lauver, of Lewistown, were married. The ceremony was performed by Squire D. C. Kell.

There were present a number of relatives of both bride and bridegroom, Sheriff and Mrs. Ullsh, Miss Mildred Phillips and Ray Wallace. After the ceremony, refreshments were served. The bridegroom is twenty-two years old, and the bride fifteen.

COLEBROOK ROAD TO BE CONTROLLED BY STATE

Announcement was made Thursday that an agreement has been reached between the Adjutant General's Department of Pennsylvania and the supervisors of South Londonderry Township to the effect that the Adjutant General's Department will take over the care and maintenance of the Colebrook road, running from a point off the Horse-shoe Pike, a half mile east of Campbellstown to the northeast corner of the State Military Reservation at Colebrook, a distance of about four miles.

UNUSUAL PEACH "DROP" REMAINS BIG MYSTERY

Inquiries are still being received by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture about the "June drop" of peaches which was unusually heavy this season causing many orchards to have a far smaller crop than would have otherwise been the case.

The reason for this mysterious mid-summer drop has not been discovered, reports W. A. McCubbin, pathologist in the Bureau of Plant Industry. The various theories advanced to account for this sudden and unusual damage are all subject to such serious objections that none of them is convincing. Brown rot, arsenical injury, lime sulfur injury, injury by winter, effects of fungi, and activity of the bacterial shot hole organism have all been considered, but the only thing that anyone seems certain about is that the abnormally cool, wet weather of early summer has had something to do with the situation.

The drop this year was accompanied by quite unusual manifestations in the foliage and twigs, never before observed in our orchards, states Dr. McCubbin. The buds on bearing wood were surrounded by cankered areas in that bark and these cankers injured the fruit stalks to such an extent that the fruit became wrinkled, dried up and fell off. Sometimes the cankered area was so severe that the twigs were girdled and died; such branches showed foliage that is very yellow, rolled and curled. Effects are also seen on the present season's growth. Small cankers are formed at the bases of the first leaves which fell off and were often sprinkled with brown shot hole spots. It is evident that about the time the peaches were as large as cherries here was a decided shock of some kind to the trees for at that time twig growth slowed down or stopped and then started again. Later, leaf and twig growth is normal so it is presumed that the trouble is only temporary except for the after effects of the cankers which caused fruit drop or girdling. Even these are now healing up and there is no expectation that the trouble will persist into next season.

SEED LAW GIVES FARMERS MUCH NEEDED PROTECTION

Weeds are taxing the farmers of Pennsylvania millions of dollars each year, states Dr. E. M. Gress, State Botanist. Much of this loss could be avoided by sowing seed in a free of all bad weed. Wheat that contains cockle or garlic should never be sown, nor should oats that contains quack grass, mustard or bindweed.

The Pennsylvania Seed Law was made to protect farmers from bad seed. Wherever a suspicious lot of seed is purchased, a sample should be sent to the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture for analysis. If the sample contains more noxious weed seeds than the law allows, the seed can not be sold in the state. During the past year, over 325 seed samples were analyzed and several samples were found to contain noxious weed seeds. One sample of alsike clover seed, for example contained 26 Canada thistle seeds in two ounces or over 3,000 seeds per acre at the usual rate of seeding. Another example of alfalfa seed contained three or four times as many dodder seed as the law allowed. Canada thistle and dodder are the noxious weed seeds most frequently found and these are usually in samples coming from seed wholesalers outside the state.

Commenting upon the seed law and its operation, Dr. Gress states: "The seed law offers protection to the farmer but can not force him to accept that protection. Many are not taking advantage of the law. Every purchaser of farm seed should demand that the man from whom he buys seeds shall comply with its provisions."

WEEKLY LETTER WRITTEN EXPRESSLY FOR THE BULLETIN BY DR. DAVID H. REEDER

FEET: People who have perfect feet do not, as a rule, know it. They are unconscious of the hundreds of things done by the feet daily.

Dr. Millard tells some interesting things about the feet, in an article written for "The National Foot League Journal" for August, and, as the information may help you I will pass it on in two articles: "The nerve controlling the big toe, with its connections, is sometimes six feet long. In other words, sit or stand and think about moving your big toe and you will be sending impulses from the brain through the various nerve centers and nerve tracts to and through the foot to the big toe. We move our fingers in the same manner, but the nerves are not quite as long.

"In perfect health the reflexes are strikingly active, alert, or quick to respond, that it is almost impossible for anyone to hit you in the eye without your eyelids having closed first. Seldom do we get cinders in our eyes, or fine pieces of glass from a nearby object that has broken. Nature has automatically protected us. Talk about the new automatic telephones that are being installed in some of the larger cities—we have, in the human body, the most complete automatic telephone mechanism that can possibly be conceived of, and with only one operator.

"Normally, we have but to think and we start walking. It is possible to climb stairs, run down stairs, jump fences and walk for miles, without even thinking about walking. I have seen people so absorbed that they could walk and talk for five miles and never give their walking one consideration, and, in the meantime, climb stairs and step over things, and take it as a matter of fact, with their mind completely absorbed in their topic of conversation.

"A corn will make most people miserable, and the parings from corns, if put in one receptacle, would surprise the world. The number of corns removed in one town or city, where chiropodists are working in accumulated bulk would measure several bushels a day. I saw a peck of corns the other day, removed by one chiropodist, in a show window. They were free from the toes, and that much pain and discomfort had gone out of the lives of the former possessors. No one seemed anxious to claim their corn, and no one in the world would ever think of putting an ad in the "Lost and Found" column for a corn.

"The majority of people are on their feet every day. It is possible to flatten the arches of the foot by too much standing, but, in the majority of instances it would be impossible to flatten the arch by simply standing. There is usually in flat-footed people, a lack of tone in the body; a weakness in the small of the back; or a slight curvature that has altered the axis of the spine. The ligaments that bind together the bones in the arch of the foot are strong enough normally to hold up four hundred pounds—in fact, almost one thousand pounds—but through a general weakening, or lack of tone in the muscles and ligaments in the legs, the arches in time drop and will not return to their former arched position until there is re-established nerve tone throughout the body, as well as in the foot.

ALL OUT OF SORTS?

So Was This Mount Joy Woman Who Told Her Experience

All too often women accept their pains and aches as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Thousands have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. This Mount Joy case is one of many: Mrs. Mary Shiers, 27 Mount Joy St., says: "A cold settled on my kidneys and when I started to work, my back ached. The trouble became so severe I couldn't lift anything. My nerves were in bad shape. Dizziness bothered me and my kidneys were disordered. When I heard of Doan's Pills, I got a supply at Garber's Drug Store and they put my kidneys in good condition. The backache and other troubles were corrected."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Shiers had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
