

Ku Klux Klan Meeting

PUBLIC SPEAKING

Fri. Evening, Oct. 24

Along the Concrete Road Between Mount Joy and Florin

EVERYBODY WELCOME

Speaking will start at 7:30 P. M.

In case of bad weather the meeting will be held the following Tuesday evening.

OWL-LAFFS

A certain lady and her daughter went to Lancaster by trolley a few days ago. When they reached College Avenue several F. and M. students got on the car and stood near where they sat. As they were about to get off the car at the square the mother said to her daughter, "When the car stops, we will both get off backward." They did and as they walked up North Queen street the daughter inquired of her mother, "Mother, why did we get off that car backward?" The lady replied: "Just as we neared the Square I heard one of those students say, 'Let's pinch these two ladies' seats when they get off.'"

Even after all that Arthur Hendrix says you can't make him believe there isn't any Santa Claus.

A man went to Ed Ream's the other day and said to George Hinkle: "I would like to see a first-class second-hand car." George replied: "So would I."

Met a beautiful lady from Elizabethtown yesterday. She pulled her hand away very quickly after shaking hands. Really I hadn't the least intention of squeezing it.

A Marietta street woman said: "If women were wiser, they wouldn't complain when their husbands go to a ball game. No man can go to the dogs while he is eating peanuts and rooting for one more run to win the game."

Jake Zellar asked me if I knew why leaves turn red in the Fall. I said they are only blushing because they were so darn green in the Spring.

Now that that's off my chest there is something I'd like to know. Black hens may give white milk, black hens may lay white eggs but how can blackberries be green when they're red?

Of course there's Sixty Groff says they ain't but then that's no good reason why a fellow should take his girl to Doc Garber's, buy her a soda and then take her home and try to squeeze it out of her.

A Main street girl named Anna On the sidewalk slipped on a banana. And e'er since that day I'm sorry to say She stands up to play the piano.

I said to a man from Florin. "George I heard your wife met with a motor accident this morning. Did it amount to much?" He replied: "No, just a little paint knocked off both of 'em."

I'm convinced that there's nothing a man can say that will interest his wife more than when he talks in his sleep.

A fellow from Sporting Hill went to Frank Hershey's restaurant and ate a piece of pie and then a bowl of soup. Frank said to him, "What's the idea?" He replied: "Why my stomach is completely upset."

You may say what you will about the women, we've a married lady on Mt. Joy street who knows her business. She kisses her husband every time he comes home after spending a night out, where other women would be too sore to do such a thing. She says, it isn't affection either but investigation.

If you want to be very popular always ask the advice of your friends and if you want to be successful don't follow it.

A man from the country was walking across a grass field yesterday taking the short cut home. He heard a noise and stopped as if to see an airplane go by. As it passed he was very much surprised to see it was only a grasshopper.

"Member, when they used to have their pictures taken with the poor boob sitting in a chair, and the blushing bride standing alongside with her hand on his shoulder. Now they take 'em with wife's hand in hubby's pocket and it looks natural.

We have a fellow here in town reminds me very much of a match. Every time he strikes he loses his head.

A WISE OWL

WEATHER DATA IMPORTANT IN FOREST FIRE CONTROL

To determine the feasibility of predicting periods of fire hazard two or more days in advance a study of weather in relation to forest-fire hazard was carried on last fall by the Appalachian forest experiment station. It was based on weather data from the United States Weather Bureau station at Asheville, N. C., fire records from the national forests of western North Carolina and eastern Tennessee and from the district fire warden for the mountain district of North Carolina and a comparison with similar records for the preceding season.

The general conclusions reached were that weather conditions are of minor importance until the leaf crop is down. Heavy rains which pack the leaf litter retard its drying and make fire control easier. Dry periods occur after the passing of storms and with the advent of high pressure. The high Appalachian Plateau tends to induce a downward movement of air and to retain high pressures. Disturbances which displace the pressure conditions in times of severe fire hazard commonly advance over Montana or Texas and the Gulf, the latter type being less frequent in the late fire season. The weather data collected daily by the Weather Bureau at Washington is broad enough to indicate such disturbances and the rate of movement with sufficient accuracy to forecast them at least three days in advance.

General weekly forecasts are now issued by the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture. More studies, however, are needed for the specific purpose of forest-fire control, especially those through which at times of great fire hazard the paths of storms may be promptly fixed. The factors controlling leaf fall and the rate of drying of litter under varying condition of atmosphere should be given further study.

HAIL INSURANCE PAYS—"HAIL RODS" ARE WORTHLESS

The Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture is frequently asked whether there is any known method of preventing hailstorms. The answer is emphatically negative. Many million dollars' worth of ammunition has been expended in Europe in bombarding the clouds for the purpose of averting hailstorms. Quite an elaborate technique has been developed, entailing the use of special types of mortars, bombs, and rockets. Shortly before the World War the practice prevailed widely in France of erecting tall hail rods, or so-called "electric Niagaras." These were, essentially, large copper lightning rods installed on high buildings or on steel towers especially constructed for the purpose. In the early part of the nineteenth century smaller hail rods, consisting of metal-tipped poles, were set up in European fields, vineyards, etc., on a very extensive scale. None of these expedients ever had any plausible scientific hypothesis back of it, and the merits popularly ascribed to them were undoubtedly wholly imaginary. It is understood that the popularity of these practices has greatly declined in recent years.

The only protection the farmer has against damage to his exposed crops from hail is hail insurance. This form of insurance has been practiced on a large scale in Europe for more than a century and in recent years has made rapid progress in this country.

"STATE" ALUMNI TO HOLD FIFTH HOMECOMING DAY

The fifth annual alumni homecoming day celebration will be observed at the Pennsylvania State College on Saturday, October 25. This holiday for graduates and former students of the college has now become the biggest annual feature for alumni on the campus, and an attendance of several thousand is expected.

The outstanding feature of the day will be the annual football game between Penn State and Syracuse University. This will be the third consecutive meeting of the two teams. The first game ended in a score-less tie and the second was won last year by Syracuse. The Nittany Lion eleven is out to avenge last year's defeat and the game should turn out to be one of the best ever staged in Central Pennsylvania. An alumni smoker in the college armory will close the big reunion day for the former students, many of whom travel hundreds of miles to attend the occasion.

At the Western Pennsylvania Penitentiary at Rockview, Centre county, 135 of the 700 prisoners have enrolled for elementary educational studies under the direction of the engineering extension department of the Pennsylvania State College. Classes will be held at the penitentiary each Monday and Thursday night, in charge of extension faculty members.

Scheduled Foot Ball Games
The manager of the Mount Joy A. A. has scheduled the following gridiron attractions for the local eleven:

Saturday, Oct. 25—Columbia A. A. here.
