in the manufacture of steel tanks by an automatic process that takes only one-tenth the former time.

On Saturday a tract of land, on Marietta street, of the estate of H. H. Luckenbill, was sold at public sale to Mr. Charles Schaeffer, of his place.

A San Francisco water company pleaded with its customers to cut down the waste of that utility. As a result that city is now using 1,500,000 gallons a day less than it did a year ago.

The Men's Bible Class of the Evangelical church held their monthly meeting Thursday evening at the parsonage. A business session was held and those present were served a dainty lunch by Mrs. Bornman. Those present were: C. S. Gingrich, Harry Kaylor, George Myers, S. F. Eshleman, Paul Peifer and Rev. Ralph Bornman.

PENNA LIKELY TO HOLD A SECOND WORLD'S PIG RECORD

The honor of raising the world's heaviest litter of pigs for this year is likely to go to Thomas M. Strong, of Blairsville, Indiana county, Pennsylvania.

Strong's litter of fifteen Chester White pigs was weighed the other day by State College extension men at the close of the litter's six month feeding period for qualification in the Keytone Ton Litter Club.

The pigs totaled 3461 pounds, and Tom Strong's pride in his hogs is equalled only by that of T. B. Byers, of Fayette county, who had a litter of seven pigs, less than half the number in Strong's, quality last week for the ton litter club.

The purebred sow that produced the record litter for the Indiana county breeder is known as "Petroleum Girl" and each of the six litters that she has presented to Tom has numbered from twelve to eighteen. Four of five litters have reached the ton weight in 180 days. The litter that was just weighed in at 3461 pounds originally totaled eighteen pigs, fifteen of them being raised. A new litter of eighteen arrived recently. No other litter to meet Strong's record has been reported as yet for this year in the United States. The heaviest pig weighed 273 pounds, the average being 236.

Noted Violinist Coming

Estelle Gray-Lhevinne, who has been on the concert stage for a number of years and who has come to be known as one of the greatest woman violinists, will give a recital at the College Chapel, Elizabethtown, Friday evening, November 7.

She plays a violin made in 1715, that was used by Mozart, Paganini and Donizetti, all great artists in the violin world. In most musical centers Madame Gray-Lhevinne has taken the place of the late Maude Adams, recognized as the greatest woman violinist the world has ever known. Her coming promises to be one of the leading musical events of the season.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

Potato growers, poultrymen and agricultural extension men are gathering at State College this week-end. Thursday was Potato Day, the first of its kind ever held at the college. The second annual State Standard Production Poultry Show is on and will continue until Saturday. Over 600 birds are entered. County agents, practically all graduates of Penn State, will close their activities at each of these features and wind up their conference meetings in time to join in on the fifth celebration of Alumni Home-coming Day on Saturday when Penn State and Syracuse meet for their annual football game.
