SUFFERED AFTER BIRTH OF BABY

Trouble Caused by Getting Up Too Soon. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Talleville, New York.—"I thought it would interest you to know what benefit I have derived from taking your medicine. A few days after the birth of my third child I got up too quick. Then just before my fifth child was born I had inflammation of the bladder and displacement. Seeing your advertisement in a Liverpool (England) paper I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and that was the best confinement I had. Whenever I feel run-down I always take the Vegetable Compound as a tonic. We have just removed from Brockville (Canada) so I was pleased when the doctor ordered the medicine for me and I got it today. I would not be without it for any price and I recommend it to ladies around here because I feel so sure it will benefit any woman who takes it."—Mrs. AGNES WIGNALL, Talleville, New York.

Women can depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve them from ills peculiar to their sex. For sale by druggists everywhere.

County Linked With the Taylors

the stable and found his favorite horse gone and Annie's side saddle. He called in vain to Mrs. Bucher, "Where is Annie?" for the truant lovers were married the same day. Their son was the father of Bayard Taylor.

Bayard Taylor's mother was born in the stone house on the Square in Maytown, now occupied by Henry Haines and family. She was the daughter of Caleb and Anna Maria Way and was born in 1799 and named Rebecca. On the old records of the Maytown Reformed church, Rebecca Way was confirmed as a member of that church on April 21, 1816. Her parents died while she was still a young woman and, following the death of her mother, Rebecca went to Chester county to live with her father's folks; Caleb Way having come to Maytown from that locality. She was later married to Joseph Taylor and one of their children was Bayard Taylor, who became the famous poet and traveler. Bayard's mother was always a great inspiration to him for she was a remarkable woman. She lived to the ripe old age of 91 and is buried in Longwood cemetery, near Kennett Square.

Caleb and Anna Maria Way, the grandparents of Bayard Taylor, are buried in the old cemetery adjoining the Maytown Reformed church. In 1917, at the suggestion of Rev. William J. Lowe, who was then the pastor of the congregation, Mrs. Anne B. Lamborn Polk, of Kennett Square, a great granddaughter of Caleb and Anna Maria Way, had the graves marked with a large granite marker, on the face of which appears the following inscription:

"UNDER THIS STONE ARE BURIED THE GRANDPARENTS OF BAYARD TAYLOR, POET, TRAVELER, AUTHOR, DIPLOMAT."

In the main auditorium of the Maytown Reformed church, a beautiful especially designed memorial window was placed by Mrs. Polk in honor of the mother of Bayard Taylor, Rebecca Way Taylor, who as a girl was confirmed in the same church building. The main design of the window consists of a bas-relief of the poet, Bayard Taylor, by Launt Thompson. The original of this bas-relief in bronze is imbedded in the Taylor monument in Longwood cemetery. Surrounding the head, is a wreath of oak leaves and bay, emblematic of civic and poetic honors, and directly under, a scroll upon which is inscribed a verse from a poem by Taylor to his mother.

These memorials were placed in Maytown by Mrs. Anne B. Lamborn Polk in August 1917, and were dedicated as part of an anniversary celebration of the Maytown Reformed church, which was organized in 1765 and the present building erected in 1808.

AGRICULTURAL INSTRUCTION IN SCHOOLS RECEIVES AID

Much of the vast amount of information accumulated by the United States Department of Agriculture and the agricultural colleges and experiment stations is being made available to teachers of agriculture, nature study, and allied subjects in elementary and secondary schools through the Division of Agricultural Instruction of the department.

This division cooperates with the several bureaus and offices of the department in the preparation of subject-matter material in form for immediate use by teachers. Illustrative material in the form of lantern slides designed especially for agricultural teachers, prepared in cooperation with other offices of the department are widely distributed. Classified lists of publications of the department and sources of other material are distributed in large quantities to teachers of agriculture and related subjects.

The division cooperates with state departments of education and state agricultural colleges in preparing courses of study in elementary agriculture for teachers in rural schools. Outline courses of this character have been prepared for Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, Ohio, Wisconsin, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

In cooperation with teachers in service and with teacher-training divisions, the aim has been to meet in so far as possible the needs by supplying them with results of studies in agricultural education, copies of publications, illustrative material and suggestions on the analysis of farm enterprises for the teaching curricula.

The division maintains close cooperation with the Federal Board for Vocational Education in making studies in the analysis of farm enterprises and in preparing publications for the use of agricultural teachers in accordance with the latest methods in the field of agricultural education.

BIOLOGICAL SURVEY RIDS MARINE BARRACKS OF RATS

The Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture recently rendered assistance in rat extermination at the marine barracks, Quantico, Va., where the post commissary building had become infested with rats. All efforts to get rid of them with commercial baits were of no avail. An appeal finally made to the department was met with immediate response.

Under the direction of the Biological Survey, about 500 baits of various sorts, poisoned with barium carbonate, were set out on September 4. The first night about 250 of the baits were taken and the second night about 50 more. After the second night no more baits were disturbed and they were gathered up.

The commissary officer has written to the Biological Survey that the results were most gratifying and the campaign considered a complete success. As a rule, only a very small proportion of the rats killed by poisoning with barium carbonate die outside of their holes where they may be found. In this case, about 35 dead and dying rats were found, and since putting out the poison not a live rat has been seen.

MIGRATORY WATERFOWL ABUNDANT THIS YEAR

Thousands of ducks are to be found this year on the Potomac below Washington, and excellent shooting is reported to the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. At least 50,000 ducks have been seen recently within 25 miles of the Capital. Three-fourths to four-fifths of them are canvasbacks, the others including black ducks, scaups, ruddies and redheads. Two hundred to three hundred Canada geese also were seen and thousands of coots. There appears to be a great increase in migratory waterfowl on the Potomac this season over last.

Reports from other districts are equally encouraging. More ducks and geese have been seen in eastern and western Missouri this year than for several seasons. Some of the old residents in the Havana, Ill., region of the Illinois River state that they do not remember any season when as many ducks were present as at the beginning of December. The United States game warden for Florida says he has not seen as many coots in 23 years, and that waters everywhere are black with them.

We use the same methods employed by the leading shoe factories and our results are fully as good. Add months of wear to your shoes have them repaired here.

Why Not Start the New Year in one of these NEW HOMES?

I have five new and very beautiful homes on West Donegal Street, Mount Joy, along trolley, that I am offering at attractive prices as they are to be disposed of before Spring. They are all new, one is a corner property, very well built by the Mount Joy Construction Company, which is a local corporation formed to relieve the house shortage situation in Mount Joy and not to make a bunch of money. All the houses are built right from the ground up, thoroughly equipped, all modern conveniences and will be sold worth the money. Four of them are now vacant, having just recently been completed and the other is the property of the late Mrs. Mary Brunner.

Any one interested in a home should at least investigate. Call, let me take you thru these houses and then be your own judge. This is about the finest residential section in Mount Joy. Will finance half if desired.
