OWL-LAFFS

O. W. L.
(On With Laughter)

A young chap from Landisville went to a Lancaster jeweler, bought a ring and wanted this inscription put on it: "Edgar to his dearest Alice." The jeweler said he was foolish and instead should have "Edgar, to his first and only love" put on. The jeweler said: "That way you can use it on a half dozen girls and believe me I know."

A stranger came here and stayed all night at a certain place. Next morning he said to the proprietor of the place: "Now I know where the straw came from that broke the camel's back."

One of the rural school teachers asked a pupil how matches are made. The boy replied: "I really don't know ma'am and I don't blame you for wantin' to know. Ma says you've been trying to make one for several years."

One of the foreigners who works on the railroad here sent away for a bottle of fat reducer and used it. One month later he wrote the manufacturer as follows: "I took 1 bottle, now my hatts no fit me."

I had an argument with Rev. Kercher the other day and when we departed he agreed with me that the most stirring passages ever written are found in the Cook Book.

I see by the papers that "London May Call India by Phone" but I'd hate to print what India has been calling London lately.

They tell me that Hard Hearted Hannah said to the Prince of Wales: "Go home kid and come back when you're a king."

One of the fat women of our town has given up the reduction plan just because rolling on the floor makes her dizzy.

One of our corner lizards said he can't see how Attorney General Stone was raised to the Supreme Bench with a name as hard as his.

A certain woman here in this town just positively refused to play the pipe organ in her church. She says she feels too blamed childish playing with her feet.

That Marietta chap who still makes three trips a week to Mt. Joy asked his girl the difference between an old fashioned and a modern kiss. She said: "O, about five minutes."

Last Winter on a zero day two Hebrews walked from Mt. Joy to Lancaster and neither said a word the entire distance. They didn't want to get their hands cold.

A fellow from town who has a sweetie at Columbia, was being kidded that his girl was married before. He replied "She swears she wasn't." Another guy chimed in and said: "Maybe that's why she swears."

Finnegan Kramer declares there is a bright side to everything. He said there's even a bright side to a fellow's last year's suit of clothes.

Of all the tight wads I ever heard tell, here's the turtle's galoshes. There's a man living at Florin who goes to the post office early each morning just to fill his fountain pen.

A fellow from the country came here and had a young lady make a date for him. The girl said: "I'll have you meet a dandy girl friend of mine, she's as straight as a string." He said: "Aw, I don't like that kind. I like 'em knotty."

I met a fellow at the post office yesterday morning. He is one of the most forgetful men I ever saw. He still had on his bed-room slippers. I told him about it and he limped all the way home.

The judges say, "You be hanged." The bishop says, "You be damned," but I wish you could have heard what I said when my lip caught in the clothes wringer.

A lot of the post office lizards were loitering around the other evening when one said: "What was that noise? It sounded like a dog." Red Metzler said his shins barked.

Two fellows, standing in front of my office when one said: "I certainly owe a lot to that lady." The other replied: "Your mother."

First fellow said: "No, my land-lady."

One of our Mt. Joy street belles told me she liked a fellow with plenty of action. I suggested she get a beau, who has St. Vitus dance.

Five fellows from town went to Middletown the other evening to a dance. While dancing a certain young lady's stocking came down and would you believe it there wasn't one out of the five noticed whether or not the lady blushed.

I know a woman here in town who dresses real neat and laces real neat but I'll bet a pair of my last winter's pajamas that she can't lace herself as tight as her husband can drink himself.

A WISE OWL

A MAYTOWN MAN ATTENDS CONVENTION AT DAYTON, O.

Mr. C. E. Hollenbaugh, Delco-Light dealer for this section, located at Maytown, has just returned from the eighth annual Delco-Light convention, held at the factory at Dayton, Ohio, where 1200 Delco-Light dealers, distributors, and fieldmen met in what he declares was by far the most enthusiastic and enjoyable convention which the Delco-Light Company has ever held.

The outstanding, and the most important feature of the whole convention, he states, was the announcement of a new, low-priced Delco-Light plant which sells for $195.00. F. O. B. Dayton, Ohio. The importance of this, Mr. Hollenbaugh pointed out, lies in the fact that practically every farm home can now enjoy the advantages of electric lights. Even if farmers have felt, heretofore, that lighting plants were high in price, now they have that objection removed, for now they can buy this electric plant on easy terms, at a price that anyone can afford to pay.

"I firmly believe," said he, "that millions of farm homes that heretofore have put up with smoky kerosene lights will know the joy of clean, safe, bright electric lights, and I know that many of these homes will be found right here in Lancaster County. Our farmers and their families have just as keen an appreciation of the benefits and advantages of electric lights and other electric service as do those of any other community, and our farmers want to give their families the modern comfort and convenience of electric service, just as much as they do anywhere else in the world. They have the opportunity to give them these modern electric lights now, with this low-priced plant available and I know they are going to do it."

Special features of the convention, Mr. Hollenbaugh said, were, a trip through the Delco-Light factory, the largest of its kind in the world and where a most instructive and enjoyable exhibit had been specially prepared for the benefit of the visiting Delco-Light men, and also a half-day spent with Mr. C. F. Kettering, a Vice President of the General Motors Corporation, President of the General Motors Research Corporation and the inventor of Delco-Light—a half-day filled with educational and inspirational surprises which could be found no place in the world except as Mr. Kettering presented them.

Another memorable feature, and one never to be forgotten, he declared, was the big banquet which concluded the convention on Friday night, when almost 1500 members and factory representatives enjoyed a banquet program which was filled with enjoyment, from start to finish.

"I have come back from this convention, a better Delco-Light man, better prepared than ever before to serve the people of my home county with the electrical advantages that Delco-Light products render, and I come also," he concluded, "with a bigger and broader vision of the new advantages and the new enjoyments that are in store for every American Home that will fall into line in the march of progress and put electricity and modern improvements to work for them."

MAY BUILD A CONCRETE STREET THRU E-TOWN

Last Thursday evening several representatives from the State Highway Department met Borough Council and presented a proposition whereby Elizabethtown can secure a permanent concrete highway through the borough, which includes North and South Market streets.

The proposition made by the State Highway Department is to construct eighteen feet of the street at no expense to the borough whatever. This with the seven and one-half feet that must be constructed by the traction companies, would leave about fifteen feet to be paid for by the citizens.

The representatives of the State Department were of the opinion that since our streets are in bad condition due to the installation of the sewer system, now would be the proper time to have a permanent street constructed.

Council in that borough is now considering the proposition and present sentiment seems to favor the project.

The S. S. Leaders Plan Big Meeting

EVERY COUNTY OF STATE WILL BE REPRESENTED AT CONFERENCE AT JUNIATA COLLEGE

The Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association will hold its annual Christian Leader's Conference at Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa., on April 30, May 1 and 2, with many State, National and Denominational leaders in charge.

The nature of the conference will be three-fold. On Thursday, April 30, the day will be devoted to leadership training. Leaders of National and State experience will direct the discussion. Dr. H. Shelton Smith, of Chicago, and several teacher training leaders of the denominations will be present.

Friday, May 1, will be devoted entirely to Church Vocation Schools with international leaders in charge and it is their desire to cover the whole field and map out a program of promotion that can be carried into the local community.

Saturday, May 2, will be given entirely to the problems of week-day religious instruction. It is fully expected that Dr. James N. Rule, deputy superintendent of Public Instruction, will be present with several other outstanding leaders.

Among the speakers of the evening sessions will be Dr. Shelton Smith and former Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh.

These gatherings are planned as real conferences where county leaders may come and get first-hand information on these three present day subjects direct from the larger experience of national and international leaders.

Last year a similar gathering was held at Tyrone and the first of its kind to be put on by the State Sabbath School Association and was pronounced as one of the most profitable Sunday School gatherings of the year. The Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association through its force of field workers is constantly aiming to increase the efficiency of the local school and recognize in the subjects of Leadership Training, Daily Vacation Bible Schools and Week Day Religious Instruction as three of the most important steps in furthering the progress of the Sabbath School.
