THE WAY TO MAKE ROADS SAFE

Revolving the license or privilege of a dangerous automobile driver, and if necessary throwing him or her in jail for a few months, would have a wholesome effect in securing safer traffic conditions.

THE PUBLIC LOVES BUNC "Bunc," observes the Atlanta Georgian, "is always popular. How true! He would completely debauch the present generation and probably be mobbed to death and his estate confiscated by the indirect process of boycott, but posterity would build monuments to his memory. The trouble is most of us do not care to wait on posterity for our applause."

HITCH ON PULL AND PUSH Did you ever hear of a farmer buying a binder, and then finding fault with the dealer because it did not cut and put his wheat? No. He hitches on to his binder, and guides and directs it, and the job is done.

It is just so with your co-operative organization. It will serve you just so far as you hitch on to it and give it the benefit of your thought and your money. The amount of personal interest that the farmer gives the co-operative organization to which he belongs will be the measure of the benefits which the organization will render to agriculture.

MY HOME TOWN IS THE BEST HOME TOWN

If you live and do business in a town, for heaven's sake be loyal to it. If this town furnishes you with food and shelter, boost it; speak well of it; stand by it; and stand by the industries it represents. If put to a pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a ton of clever knocking. If you must vilify, condemn and eternally disparage, pack your trunk and get out, and when you are on the outside, knock to your heart's content. But as long as you are a part of a community, be a real man; do not condemn it. If you do you are loosening the tendrils that hold you as a part of the community, and when the first high wind comes along you will be uprooted and blown away, and probably you will never know why.

WHY ADVERTISED GOODS SELL

There are many reasons why advertised goods sell best. In speaking of nationally advertised goods, for example, travelers are able to purchase the same brand of cracker in the East as in the West, in the North as in the South—and all of them are equally good and crisp. And the same principles apply to all merchandise and goods made or sold locally. The buyer knows that a local advertiser is ready to stand behind his product because his advertising is a proof of his confidence. The advertiser is known and has pledged himself to stand back of his merchandise. He has given his printed word to the public and must keep it. It is a mark of his faith and is recognized by buyers of the world over as such.

GIANT POWER

Utilization of water to generate electric current for power purposes is doubtless only in its infancy. Its economic advantages over every other fuel is the main spring of its increasing development. Of water there is an abundance and it is ready to the hand of man. The earth need not be tunneled nor the forest felled to obtain the largest of all fuel supplies. And now that science has revealed how easily it may be applied to commercial usage, and how men of vision are planning for the future, the shrewdest and the keenest sighted are anxious to get the choicest slice of the melon.

That some means will eventually have to be exercised by state or national governments, or both, for the conservation and control of the water resources and for the protection of the public against unjust prices for the power is inevitable. There could just as easily be huge monopolies in hydro-electric power as in railroads or any other public utility and against this menace the public must be protected.

It is to this end that Governor Pinchot is directing his drive. He is in the last Legislature to obtain the financial support of his water power commission he asked, he has now appointed a new commission and he is making strenuous efforts to stimulate public sentiment in order that he may obtain the aid he needs for the furtherance of his plans. Giant water power and its closely allied interest, forest conservation, are the Government's business and he is riding them to the limit. He is probably unduly alarmed over the outlook. In every little power plant he beholds an ome of monopoly. He trusts no one. There are already large concerns in the state that have investments running into many millions of dollars in these water power plants and they are selling current at rates that are entirely satisfactory to the purchaser. As yet the danger of injustice to the public is not apparent.

The time may be at hand, however, when precautionary steps should be taken by the Government for protection against colossal mergers, or at least for their control, may well be needed. But when legislators undertake this work the danger of extreme measures must be carefully avoided, for governments can be, and often are, as oppressive to business and invested capital as the latter at times is to the public.
