Writes Interesting Letter from France

MISS MARY HERSHEY, FLORIN, IS NOW IN ARLES, FRANCE, ON AN EXTENSIVE TRIP

The following interesting letter as received by Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hershey, of Florin, from their daughter, Miss Mary Hershey, who is now in France:

Arles, France, Aug. 12, '25.

Dear Folks:

My sketchy notes have not been sufficient to describe my marvelous trip. I'm using my free evening to give you fuller details. Our departure with the usual rush on the pier--newsboys calling extras; late baggage being rushed on deck; stewards laden with flowers, fruit, etc., unmindful of the hilarious quiet, and sad farewells around them. The last minute messages called from the pier all added to the gala occasion of yours truly--a novice's departure for sea. To feel our tug boats pulling us out to sea; to leave behind the surging mass of humanity; to get away from the roar and shriek of whistles, bells, taxis, and feel the serenity of ship board was a relief.

As you know the Berengaria is manned entirely by Englishmen, who indeed make a business of being servants and in so doing, do their work well. Slow and easy, but they seem to get there as soon as we who rush frantically--Stolid expresses them, and yet that word carries with it a wealth of ability to accomplish the required task. Six days at sea passed all too quickly with promenades, deck sports, many meals per day, and on a sunny afternoon we landed by means of a tender at the old town of Plymouth.

England, dear old England, with her small fields hedged in by hawthorn hedges, looking almost like a checker board in the distance. Her narrow winding lanes, houses built mostly of stone and brick, which lend themselves to lovely rose and ivy vines. The tile roofs making bright bits of color over the landscape. Some few frame houses with thatched roofs seemed centuries old. The country was so clean, spotless; and each field gave the impression of great care and intense cultivation. The custom of the country to hand down land from father to son has made the estates divide so that each field seems now to be only a garden plot. Our first view of this country, was from the English train which is so different from our great American trains. Wooden cars with compartments holding only eight people, and about six compartments to a coach. Small engines which are tiny in comparison to ours and yet as we sped thru the country at fifty and sixty miles per hour we realized that all is not pomp and circumstance. The quietness and ease with which the

HARVEY REIGEL "IN DUTCH" THRU WORTHLESS CHECK

Harvey Reigel, residing above Falmouth, was arrested by State Police, Friday on a warrant issued from Alderman Hicks' office, Maytown, charging him with passing a worthless check. According to the story given out, Reigel while in Maytown; about two months ago, purchased some gasoline at the store of J. C. DeHoff, and in payment gave a check for $12.50 drawn on the Farmers Trust Company, Middletown. The bill for the gasoline amounted to $1.25 and in exchange for his check Reigel received $10.75. The check was presented to the Maytown bank for payment, but when it returned to Middletown, it could not be honored, although Reigel had an account at the bank, he did not provide a sufficient fund to cover the amount of the check.

After a hearing Alderman imposed costs amounting to $10 in addition to making the $12.50 good for the check. The necessary amount was made up and Reigel was discharged.

BAINBRIDGE STAGES HOLIDAY CELEBRATION

Labor Day was a big day for Bainbridge, when the annual festivities were held, coupled with a homecoming celebration. Hundreds of people flocked to the river town and all were well repaid for their visit. The fantastic parade in the morning was one of the largest and best ever held, and music was furnished by the Bainbridge band.

The town was beautifully decorated. In the afternoon games and races of all kinds occupied the time, and in the evening the festival and play given by the young men and young ladies was a feature. It was entitled, "Down Where the Pine Trees Grow." The fireworks concluded the day's festivities. There were no accidents of any kind to mar the pleasure of the day.

There Are Many Mystery Fires

FARMERS SHOULD TAKE ALL POSSIBLE PRECAUTION IN AN EFFORT TO GET AT THE ORIGIN

This is the season of the year when barn fires of unknown origin are reported from all parts of the State, and especially southeastern Pennsylvania.

A large majority of such fires are caused by spontaneous combustion and while many reports are heard ascribing cause to arson, farmers should remember they can do much to remedy this condition with little effort, according to Major C. M. Wilhelm of the Bureau of Fire Protection, Pennsylvania State Police.

Such fires at this time of the year are not confined to any one portion of the State, but are reported from all districts and when several fires are reported from any one district it does not follow that a so called arson ring is at work but actual field work has developed the fact that weather conditions, when storing crop and other similar features, play a large part in the cause of fire.

It is not denied that we have in Pennsylvania a certain number of incendiary fires and in many of these cases the perpetrator is arrested nor may we suppose that Pennsylvania farmers are more careful in any district as compared with others, but it is a well known fact

Hunting Here For Missing Sister

SEPARATED FOR YEARS, HE BRINGS NEWS OF $60,000 FORTUNE—FORMERLY LIVED IN FLORIN

The Bulletin received a communication from Mr. Richard Hahn 166 Railroad Avenue, Jersey City, N. J. Following is his story and any person in this community who can give Mr. Hahn any information relative to his sister, who formerly resided at Florin, will be greatly appreciated.

Richard Hahn, Jersey City restaurant-keeper, is still looking for the long lost sister who he says is to share with him in two legacies of between $40,000 and $60,000, awaiting them in Germany.

Hopeful of locating her in Manheim or nearby—it was there the two were separated as small children, according to Hahn's story—Hahn has taken quarters at the Washington House, Manheim, and intends spending a week looking around for his sister.

Richard Hahn and his sister, Anna, were the children of Charles Adolphus and Mary Smith Hahn and were born at Florin. Later the family moved to Manheim. On March 19, 1883, the mother burned to death and in 1900 the father was killed in an accident on the Lebanon railroad.

NARROWLY ESCAPES COLLISION WITH A TRAIN

Speeding along the highway near East Petersburg at 9 o'clock Monday morning, a man named Gible, of East Petersburg, escaped annihilation by a train at the Reading railroad crossing only because he turned from the road and raced the train along the roadbed.

Gible was driving a touring car at a rapid rate of speed, it is said, and evidently failed to see the fast-traveling train until he was nearly upon it. He snatched his only chance for escape and turned toward Lancaster, running along the track. He struck a sign beside the track, the machine turned completely around and then slid a distance of about 60 feet. Gible was uninjured although the front end of his automobile was demolished.

ELIZABETHTOWN COLLEGE OPENED YESTERDAY

Elizabethtown College opened yesterday, with a considerable increase in enrollment over that of previous years according to an announcement from the college this morning.

Besides numerous increases in students in the three upper classes a record freshman class is expected. According to the dean of the college, Professor R. W. Schlosser, more first year students have already enrolled than there has been the number in attendance in any former year.

Workmen have been busy since the close of the summer session putting the entire college equipment in the best condition possible for the approaching term. The woodwork of the college buildings has been repainted and this together with many other improvements puts the local institution in first class condition to accommodate a record enrollment this fall.

Recent Local Real Estate Matters

THE STEHMAN PROPERTY, ON NORTH MARKET STREET, WAS WITHDRAWN ON SATURDAY AFTER-NOON

The Harnish farm of 122 acres, opposite Long's Park, near Lancaster, was purchased by a realtor and will be developed into home sites.

Benjamin K. Brandt, of Sporting Hill, sold a 2-story frame dwelling house, situated on the south side of the road in Sporting Hill, to Ezra Eichelberger for $2200. On Thursday afternoon the real estate for the estate of Jacob C. Gerber, deceased, was offered at public sale by Milton G. Erb and Fianna Erb. The farm was withdrawn as there were no bidders.

On Saturday afternoon Auctioneer C. S. Frank offered the fine frame dwelling of the late Jacob Stehman, on North Market street, at public sale for Mr. Phares B. Stehman, Trustee. It was withdrawn at $3810.00.

The 82-acre farm, with improvements, situated on the road leading about 60 feet to Mt. Joy, near Hossler's Church, on Saturday, was offered at public sale on Saturday by the heirs of Amos H. Shearer, deceased, was withdrawn at $73,500 per acre.

Lester Williams, residing on the Bowman farm near Falmouth, has purchased the Joseph Bartschlerger Sr. property at Buck Lock, above Falmouth. This property was known as the Bartschlerger home-stead for many years, as father and sons had occupied same in that period. Mr. Williams will occupy the place October 1, when he expects to open a chicken farm. Mr. Bartschlerger who will be retired by the Pennsylvania R. R. will move to Ioytown.

RIDER STRIKES FENCE DURING ASTHMA ATTACK

George Pantic, aged 45 years, of Lancaster, sustained several fractured ribs and a fractured pelvis, when a sudden attack of asthma caused him to lose control of his motorcycle.

Pantic's mishap occurred near Landisville, where the Petersburg road branches from the Harrisburg pike. The cycle skidded into a fence and caromed off. It struck the fence four or five times before it finally came to rest. This was at 2 o'clock.

John Buch in front of whose home the crash took place, hurried to the injured man's aid and hailed J. K. Farchit, Hotel Pennsylvania, who was passing. Farchit rushed Pantic to the St. Joseph's hospital.

What's Happening In Our Schools

MANY NOTES OF INTEREST CONCERNING THE PUPILS AND TEACHERS OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The Senior and Junior Classes held their first class meetings on Thursday evening for the purpose of organization.

The election of officers in the Senior class resulted as follows: President, Dorothy Loraw; Vice President, James Krall; Secretary, Harold Krall; Treasurer, Lester Brubaker.

The Juniors elected the following officers: President, Robert Heilig; Vice President, John Meisenberger; Secretary, Clara Shatto; Treasurer, Rachael Hoffer.

The temporary schedule of recitations in the high school was dropped and a permanent schedule for the term went into effect with the opening of school on Monday morning. Due to the large increase in the high school enrollment it was necessary to put in a number of additional seats. The high school was dismissed at 3 o'clock on Friday to permit the carpenters to do their work.

Tuesday, September 8, was the first Bank Day of the school year. Quite a number of teachers turned in a good deposit. This habit of saving a little each week is a good one. Remember, the day is Tuesday of each week. The money given to the teacher is deposited the same day and draws interest in the bank.

The total enrollment in our schools to the present time is 530. Several agents for class jewelry offered their line to the Juniors. They have not purchased their rings as yet.

The Patterson Staff held their first meeting for the year. They are planning to give us a good magazine this year.

100 MARRIED WOMEN TEACH IN THIS COUNTY

The school districts of Lancaster county are employing exactly 100 married women as teachers. Superintendent Mylin reports. This shows, he says, that the opposition of School Boards to employing married women is not general.

Mr. Mylin's records for this year, are not complete, some school districts not having reported, but he believes that at least 600 women are employed as teachers in the county schools.

About 740 teachers comprise the county staff, exclusive of the city and Columbia. Last year there were 723. The gain is due chiefly to population increases. The enrollment this year will be very close to 25,000, as against 24,500 for last year, according to Mr. Mylin.
