Rev. W. R. Funk, D.D., of Dayton, Ohio, the energetic publishing agent of the denomination, who is attending the sessions of the East Pennsylvania United Brethren Annual Conference at Mount Joy next week, is a native of this state having been born at West Newton, Penna., in 1861. He comes from United Brethren stock on both sides of his parentage, his mother having been baptized by William Otterbein, founder and first Bishop of the Church. He is a member of the Allegheny Conference, having been admitted in 1883. He was educated in Otterbein College, and Bonebrake Theological Seminary. While in the active pastorate he served charges at Westmoreland, Scottsdale and Greensburg. He was elected as Publishing Agent in 1897 and has served the entire denomination in this capacity very acceptably ever since. He is considered one of the most capable business men in the church, and it was principally through his wise leadership that the large twenty-one story publishing plant was completed, valued at nearly two million dollars. He is big in body, head and heart, an orator of much power, and is in great demand for dedications. He was re-elected to this office last May for the eighth term.

The United Brethren Publishing House

At Dayton, Ohio.

The Publishing House of the denomination, with a twenty-one story office building, is located at Dayton, Ohio. This building is constructed of solid concrete—the tallest of this construction in the world. It is a great hive of industry, employing in its various departments, several hundred people, sending out annually a vast amount of wholesome literature. It is esteemed as one of the most solid of the business establishments of the flourishing city in which it is located. In its financial standing in the business world the house holds its place in the first rank. It has a combined floor space of more than one acre, and is thoroughly equipped with the machinery requisite to a high class publishing house. The income from the large office building, which has been erected during the last few years, above what is required for capital investment, equipment and current expenses, will be devoted to the welfare of the needy itinerant ministers and their families. This is in accordance with the express purpose of the leaders of the church in starting the printing establishment in 1833.

Rev. W. R. Funk, D.D., is the efficient and untiring Publishing Agent since 1897. He is considered one of the most capable business men in the entire denomination. In the management of this large institution he is assisted by the following Board of Trustees: Rev. A. W. Drury, D.D., of Dayton, Ohio; Hon. A. S. Kreider, of Anville, Penna.; Rev. P. M. Camp, Dayton, Ohio; Rev. J. A. Lyter, D.D., of Harrisburg, Penna.; Hon. Jay M. Cogan, of Canton, Ohio; Prof. A. A. Maysilles, of Dayton, Ohio; Col. H. E. Myers, of Dayton, Ohio; Mr. W. H. Cassel, of Dayton, Ohio, and Mr. G. A. Lambert, of Anderson, Indiana. The two weekly papers—"The Religious Telescope", and "The Watchword", in addition to all the Sunday School and Missionary literature is printed here and sent out by the thousand copies.
