EDITORIAL

HOW TOWNS ARE JUDGED

A good newspaper, a good hotel, a clean town and courtesy among business people are marks that strangers take note of in forming an impression of a community. We all have something to do to make Mount Joy winsome to the wayfarer.

NATURE UNMERCIFUL

Man's justice is more merciful than nature's.
A California bus driver with a load of school children beat a train to the crossing, but was fined $50, for his recklessness. If he had been a second slower, would have been death, for him and many of his charges. Nature takes no excuses and has no tolerance of error, honesty or kindness. Most disasters are somebody's fault.
In nature's court, the penalty of error is death.

ABOUT TOWN

Honesty needs no explanation, no apology and no advertising. Quite true. But how about the stranger within our gates, who is looking for a square deal. Let your little ad so read that they will not be blind to the truth. Get the habit of reading The Bulletin. It's a Happy Habit That Every Progressive Person Should Become Attached To.

PAY YOUR DOCTORS

The good doctors of this community are deserving of prompt reward for faithful services rendered. This can come only by prompt payment of your doctor's bill and a kindly word for the good work they do. We have said it before and we say it again. "The doctors are the worst impostors in the community," men know, but the happy part of it is that these servants of humanity are getting away with the dead beat just as are all good business men. It is right that the deserving patients der to render the best service. Of course, in charitable cases the good doctor goes his limit but it isn't right for him to have to suffer at the hands of the impostors. It is also necessary that you pay your doctor as your grocer or any one else from whom you obtain service or goods. Pay your doctors if you would keep in good credit standing with them.

ROUND AND SQUARE

A square peg never fits a round hole. This adage is as old as man almost, yet its application is not always apt. The trouble is not with the peg but with the hole. We say a man is as square as a brick; that he stands four square to every proposition; that he is square in all his dealings. The square from time immemorial has been emblematic of rectitude. On the other hand, the circle, while emblematic of those phases of character that are not always desirable. Thus, it is better to be a square peg than a round hole—better for you and all concerned.

ARMISTICE DAY

What could be more fitting than that the ultimatum, delivered by the Council of the League of Nations, commanding Bulgaria to cease hostilities forthwith, should have been formulated and delivered practically on the eve of Armistice Day? Time, which modulates the passions and provides a deeper background for mutual understanding, time which levels all things and lays the shepherd's crook beside the scepter, has brought much of moral advancement to the world, but never has it given to us a happier augury than now when it turns the consideration of Armistice Day to one of softened joy in place of inspiration for the renewal of hatreds and continued bitterness of soul. It seems almost as if that great apostle of peace, Jesus, in one of his national congresses may differ as to the wisdom of this great nation entering into the entangling alliances of the League; readers of ten thousand newspapers may hold ten thousand different views, but all will rejoice that renewed bloodshed on the field for battle, with its incident horror and human suffering has been checked, and muskets silenced by the influence of a great American.

As the years roll on that influence must grow in power, carrying in place of sadness, solace to those stricken souls whose dear ones went west for human freedom. No more need Armistice Day cause the eye to flash in memory of great wrong done. Rather may it now make the stricken soul pass from that pain that is almost pleasure in its sacrifice, to pleasure that is almost pain in its nobility.

Provide Fresh Air

Fall colors and fresh air in the poultry flock are things brought about by faulty ventilation. Three sides of the poultry house should be tight, with a liberal opening in the front for fresh air. This should be covered with muslin curtain only when it is stormy or on extremely cold nights. Frost or moisture on the ceiling of side walls and foul air in the poultry house are positive indications of poor ventilation.

The Bulletin is always prompt in the delivery of all printing.

RHEEMS

Church of the Brethren held services at the Green Tree church on Sunday morning.

The M. K. Enterline residence, at Rheems, was converted into a double house recently, to accommodate their mechanics.

David K. Hiestand, who operates a large chopping mill, near Milton Grove, received several cars of feed, at the Rheems station.

The Rheems Corn Meal factory is in operation. This is a new industry for Rheems. Their product has been placed on the market, meeting with approval as first class meal, made from home grown corn.

John Royer, of near Rheems, is filling the vacancy as cut watchman, in the Rheems cut, as successor to the Charles Swager, who met his death in a revolver duel at the home of his father-in-law, in Perry county.

Harry K. Landis took advantage of the recent pleasant days to construct a large concrete porch attached to his Rheems residence, where he is making extensive improvements, expecting to make it a modern home, when completed. The Strasburg potato merchant, with his force created activity in the potato market throughout Mt. Joy, East and West Donegal townships by loading a number of loads at the Rheems station. Quite a number of merchants are offering $1.75 per bushel which is a thrill to the farmers, who were anxious to dispose the tubers at $1.10.

The B. H. Greider farm, near Rheems, has a corn field of 15 acres that is quite attractive to the Mount Joy Township farmers as they cross the railroad bridge. About one half the field was cut and placed on shocks, the balance was topped, making an interesting scene of large corn ears in the hush at the top of each stalk. He expects his large corn cribs to be filled with about one half of the crop. He husks two shocks to each heap, which fills three to four baskets of beautiful yellow dent corn.

MASTERSONVILLE

A large number of folks attended the districtal meeting at Fairview church.
