Be Careful When You Get Your Tree

THERE IS A STATE LAW AGAINST THE STEALING OF CHRISTMAS TREES FROM STATE OR PRIVATE LANDS

Each year approximately 1,500,000 Christmas trees are used in Pennsylvania. About 1,250,000 are used in the larger cities and 250,000 in the smaller towns and rural districts. Most of the trees used in the larger cities are imported from New England and Canada, while those used in the small towns are usually cut in nearby woods.

With Christmas less than a month away, it is important that the citizens of Pennsylvania give thought to the problem of Christmas trees and other Yuletide greens. The Department of Forests and Waters cautions the citizens of Pennsylvania against the unlawful cutting of Christmas trees from privately owned woodlands. Under the provisions of a new act which became a law on April 27, 1925, the cutting of trees and shrubs on private property without the owner's consent is punished by a fine.

The new law reads: "If any person shall willfully or maliciously cut bark from, or cut down, injure, destroy, or remove a tree or trees, shrub or shrubs or parts thereof, growing or standing upon the land of another, without the consent of the owner, or shall willfully or maliciously do or cause to be done any other act of damage to said land or the trees or shrubs growing thereon, such person on conviction thereof in a summary proceeding before any magistrate, alderman, or justice of the peace, shall be sentenced to pay a fine not less than $25.00 and costs of prosecution for each such tree or shrub or part thereof cut down, injured, destroyed, removed, or from which bark has been cut; and in default of the payment of said fine and costs shall be imprisoned in the county jail one day for each dollar of fine and costs unpaid."

Last year a thousand trees were stolen along a 5-mile stretch in western Pennsylvania during the two weeks prior to Christmas. Already one sees a considerable number of automobiles passing along the highways carrying Christmas trees. No doubt some of these have been taken from privately owned land without the consent of the owner. Some of the people taking these trees may not know about the new law, but it is important that they familiarize themselves with it so that they will not be subject to the heavy penalty. Only a few weeks after the law was passed a resident of New Jersey was fined $25.00 for re-

SALUNGA

Mrs. Ira L. Risser, of Elizabethtown, spent a few days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Raffensperger. Mr. and Mrs. Herr are both well preserved, only that Mr. Herr is almost blind. Mr. Herr is 75 years old. They have always lived a very busy life and Mrs. Herr now does all her own housework, and during her spare time is busy making rugs and quilts for her grandchildren, which is a great pleasure to her.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Herr Sr. entertained at a family dinner, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Herr and daughters, Alta Marie and Martha Elizabeth, John Herr Jr. and wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Raffensperger and son, J. Cletus, Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Risser, of Elizabethtown, Mrs. Amanda Herr, Mr. Edward Stauffer and Mr. Norman Bowers, of Landisville.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Raffensperger entertained at dinner in their home Saturday in honor of their wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Raffensperger are married 28 years and Mrs. Raffensperger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Herr Sr. were married 60 years ago. A happy wedded life of 60 years is a notable event and in honor of this event, they kept open house for them for their many friends to call on them. Mr. and Mrs. Herr thoroughly enjoyed the hearty congratulations and good wishes of all.

Stuck to His Post

Caught in the path of a raging prairie fire in western Nebraska, a United States Department of Agriculture motion picture photographer stuck to his cranks and not only emerged unscathed by the leaping flames but with striking views of the fire which swept 200,000 acres of grazing land. The film is being distributed by the U. S. D. A. educational film service under the title of "Fire—The Prairie Demon."

Make Use of It

Pennsylvania State College crop specialists recommend left-over fertilizer on pasture land instead of keeping it over in a damp place where it will become hard and lumpy before Spring.

Protect Stored Bulbs

Care should be taken to store Gladioli, canna, and dahlia bulbs in a cool dry place out of the reach of mice and protected from freezing.

Delay Spoils Market

Christmas trees that are to be shipped must be cut early if they are to arrive at the market on time. If they are very late in arriving, they might just as well be a whole year late.
