Childhood's Privilege
Childhood has no forebodings, but then, it is soothed by no memories of outlived sorrow.—George Elliot.

FREAK WEATHER KEEPS TELEPHONE LINES BUSY

Persons Seeking Relief From Heat Telep one Anxious Inquiries to Weather Man.

According to George S. Bliss, Philadelphia's official weather man, the average Philadelphia, and from reports in other localities in the State, the average Pennsylvanian, is so interested in weather conditions and in their effect on his plans for holiday trips and seashore week ends, that the office force of the Weather Bureau is kept busy answering telephone requests for information.

During the recent hot spell, there were around five hundred telephone calls made daily to the Philadelphia Weather Bureau in the Postoffice Building, said Mr. Bliss. Before holidays and on Thursdays and Fridays, in the summer time he found that there was a great increase in the number of telephone calls for tips on the weather. He also said that there was the same curiosity throughout the State in regard to when "relief is expected" and that the telephone was called into use as the quickest way of obtaining the information.

"The hotter the weather, the more calls," said Mr. Bliss. "It gives us a much satisfaction as the person making the inquiry when we can promise relief."

It is estimated that the Philadelphia office handles about 60,000 such calls each year.

TELEPHONE IS BUSY WHEN SO REPORTED

Time Saver o Subscribers if Understood, Says Telephone Company.

It is claimed by the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania that telephone users would be better satisfied after once receiving a busy report on a telephone should they wait a few minutes before again attempting to reach the same number.

Continued and immediate attempts to obtain a telephone reported busy means continued busy reports and the loss of time to telephone users.

Telephone people are of the opinion that these reports would be materially reduced and the telephone user better satisfied if a reasonable interval is allowed before trying to again obtain a number once reported busy.

Operators, knowing that a busy report means continued calls until the connection is made, do not report lines busy unless they are actually in use.

ILL WITNESS TESTIFIES BY MEANS OF TELEPHONE

An innovation was introduced in the Fayette County Court that sits in Uniontown, Pennsylvania, recently when one of the witnesses in a traffic case was permitted to give testimony over the telephone. Richard Barton, principal witness for the Commonwealth, had just returned home from the Uniontown Hospital, and was unable to attend the trial. He was called to the telephone, the oath administered and his testimony was transmitted by wire and recorded by the Court Stenographer.
