Tragedy Stalks In Swearer Home

WIFE OF FLORIN MAN KILLED IN A DUEL DIED AT HARRISBURG HOSPITAL IN CHILD BIRTH

Sunday when the minister said, "dust to dust" in the little churchyard back in the Perry county hills, tragedy stalked in the family of Charles Swearer, of Florin, until the neighbors feel it most surely stalked itself out. Sunday Mrs. Charles Swearer was laid to rest in those Perry county hills, having died at child birth in a Harrisburg hospital, directly due, the doctors say to the nervous shock she received when her husband and friend fought their duel to death in her presence while in delicate health in the home of her father at Donnelly Mills.

It was October 20 when Charles Swearer, railroad man, left Florin, and went to Donnelly Mills, Perry county. There in the parlor of the modest home, he found his wife and with her was George Henderson, of Florin, who boarded at the Swearer home at Florin. It was over Henderson that Swearer and his wife had quarreled and in July she left her Florin home and went to her father's home in Perry county.

Removal of the 30-Year-Old Pipe Line

LARGE FORCE OF MEN ARE DIGGING UP PIPES AT THE RATE OF MORE THAN A MILE A DAY

The pipe line of the Crescent Company is being removed from the ground, where it has lain for over thirty years. The transportation of oil by pump and pipe was abandoned a few years ago, and transportation is now done by their road or tanker ship. The pipe line extends from a point in Ohio, across Pennsylvania to Philadelphia. This pipe is buried at a depth ranging from two to four feet. It crosses streams, farms, gardens and mountains. Some time ago the company decided to raise the line and sold it to the highest bidder, a New York dealer. Under terms of agreement the company is to raise the pipe, disconnect it and load it on cars. Some work was done on the line last year, but it was abandoned when cold weather set in. Recently the work was resumed. (Turn to Page 5)

Reviewing the Revolutionary War

LANCASTER COUNTY IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR THIS WEEK ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY YEARS AGO

The following article was written for the Bulletin by H. Frank Eshleman, Etg. of Lancaster:

One hundred and fifty years ago this week we find the committee of Safety of the Province of Pa. calling again on Lancaster County for 300 more rifles. It was decided that the Lancaster County Committee should try to make the arrangements with our local gunsmiths to make the rifles, as the price the Province was able to offer was not satisfactory to the gunsmiths, and it was thought that the local patriots could get them to yield better than the Philadelphia authorities could. The trouble was that our local gunsmiths were informed that the gun makers of Philadelphia and of the western counties of Pa. were being paid more than the offers made for rifles here, and this local men had the reputation of making the best in the Province.

Incidentally the Lancaster County Committee was highly complimented by the General Committee of the Province for the manner in which they have always "attended to the public service."

During this same time our local Col. Samuel Miles, Commander of the Miles Battalion of Riflemen, of whom two or three were local men, was authorized to purchase the rifles from all sources in the Province of Pa. He was recognized as an expert in the making and in the use of rifles in war. George Ross was chairman of the Committee of Safety of the Province during these days.

There were two George Rosses, one a colonel and the other a civil personage. The former of the Declaration of Independence was a latter. He was president or chairman of the Committee of Safety at intervals.

Hoffman's Assets To Be Preserved

CREDITORS MAKE AGREEMENT TO LIQUIDATE PROPERTY; NO ASSIGNMENT MADE AGREES TO TRANSFER

An agreement that all assets of M. R. Hoffman be preserved and liquidated was made at a meeting yesterday afternoon of Mr. Hoffman with his creditors. There has been no assignment made for the benefit of the creditors as yet. Mr. Hoffman, however, has agreed to make such transfer of property rights it is understood.

Mr. Hoffman's assets exceed his liabilities by considerable margin; the assets being placed at two million. However, because the assets are largely in farms with their equipment, and in case tobacco, of all of which the market is inactive, they are what is termed in banking circles as frozen assets.

Among the cases of tobacco is approximately 12,000 cases of "Little Dutch," besides many thousands of cases of Lancaster county and other tobaccos.

According to bankers, Mr. Hoffman will be in no difficulty provided the tobacco market picks up, and the demand for farm lands increases.

Mr. Hoffman, as president of the Union Trust company, of Lancaster, resigned yesterday afternoon. The executive committee of the Trust company accepted with regret his resignation, it was announced. His successor will be elected at a future date.

Mr. Hoffman was one of the organizers of the Union Trust company for several years, and was elected president in 1912.

BASE BALL RECEIPTS GIVEN TO THE LEGION

Many years ago this town successfully supported a professional base ball team. The writer managed the team and Mr. B. W. Brown, was treasurer of an association of local business men who sponsored the movement. The team had a successful season and when all expenses were paid, there remained about $70.00 in the treasury.

Mr. Brown placed the money on deposit in one of our local banks, since which time it has been drawing interest. Many times since then Mr. Brown was asked to donate the amount to base ball teams but he refused.

On Saturday, with the sanction of the officers of the old base ball Assoc., Mr. Brown turned over to the treasurer of the recent Legion Home drive, a check for $77.83, the principle and interest of the base ball profits.

Mr. Brown could not have contributed this money to any better cause.

Local Physician Highly Honored

THE LATE DR. J. L. ZIEGLER, OF THIS PLACE, RATED AMONG THE LEADING COUNTY DOCTORS

The following interesting article relative to former local physician appeared in a recent issue of the Lancaster Sunday News. The subject of the sketch is the father of Dr. James Ziegler, of this boro. The article follows:

Dr. J. L. Ziegler died at the ripe age of 84 and for more than half a century had been the medical oracle of Mount Joy—an honored member of the Lancaster City and County and State Medical societies. I never failed to meet him when he came to Lancaster, as I greatly enjoyed a conversation with him, for he had the gifts of the scholar and student, as well as the medical knowledge.

He never failed to be present when the Medical Society had its regular monthly meeting and usually made it a point to meet the society when it adjourned to greet the medical friends I knew and thoroughly liked.

In personal appearance Dr. Ziegler did not so much seem the distinguished physician, as he could readily be taken by a stranger as a clergyman. His white necktie, invariably worn, and his clerical dress could easily lead one to that conclusion. Unlike most physicians, he did not confine his studies to the science of medicine, but he kept (Turn to Page 4)
