

OWL-LAFFS

O. W. L. (On With Laughter)

I've been reading in a New York paper that they're now making booze out of acorns. I suppose that old saying will still prove true "Great soaks from little acorns grow."

Paul Diffenderfer, one of the Bulletin's force, got home from Florin a little late the other night. He was quietly turning at the door knob so his mother wouldn't get wise as to the time he turned in, but she heard him and said: "Paul, what are you doing?" He turned the knob to beat the band and remarked: "I was just tuning in WGY on the radio, mother."

It's easy enough to be happy When the world moves along like a clock But the man that's worth while Is the guy who can smile With a hole in the toe of his sock.

You know it's mighty nice to be an evangelist. He's the only guy who can increase his business by bawling out his customers.

From what I saw the other night a woman in town should write a ballad entitled: "Don't Worry About the Wood, Mother; Father Will Bring Home a Load."

One of the kids in the lower grades didn't want to go to school because he said the teacher was queer. One day she said 4 and 1 make 5 and next day she said 3 and 2 make 5.

One of our local gunners says that a bird in the hand often costs a day's work and a box of shells.

Here's a funny one. Over in York county a man and his wife were both on the same jury and it agreed.

Tell me not in morunful numbers, Life is but an empty dream; I have eaten raw cucumbers And I find that Life's a scream.

"Why all the bandages on your husband's head?" asked a woman here. The neighbor replied: "Rot-ten bridge." "What, did he break thru?" "No, the darn fool trumped my ace at a card party the other evening."

This wasn't Bill Miller but I understand he knows something about it.

Up at the school's athletic meet last Friday one of the boys said to his girl: "Just one, darling." She said: "What did you just win?"

You know I don't believe horses get very hungry. I've often noticed that no matter how hungry they are they won't eat a bit.

Ed. Ream told me that one. Ed. ought to know.

That may be all right and true but I think a horse eats best when he hasn't a bit in his mouth.

David Laskevitz asked his father the meaning of the word "antagonize." Harry said: "I'll illustrate with a sentence. 'Eat your dinner, children, antagonize walk.'"

A city girl tried to tell a Milton Grove shiek that she originated the shimmy. He said: "Aw, go on kid. They wore 'em long before you was born."

George Halbleib would like to know if August died would September mourn?

Yesterday I said to Roy Sheetz, "How's business?" He said: "Oh, it's the buries."

But here's one just as funny. There's a lady on Marietta street claims she is only thirty years old. Next day when I went down the alley I heard her say to her neighbors she remembered a certain incident that happened here and that was 40 years ago.

A fellow asked me if I could quote that part of the Bible which forbids a man from having two wives. I said: "Yes sir; 'No man can serve two masters.'"

I wonder if a woman with a double chin talks twice as much as other women?

An old man and his wife from town went to Philadelphia last week and by mistake got into a burlesque show. He said: "Gosh, I bet they make money on these shows." She said: "Heavens, no, they can't even afford to give the poor girls enough clothes to wear."

You know hats hide the bald heads, balloon pants hide the bow legs but why don't they invent something to hide the fat man's paunch?

Up at the postoffice on Sunday night some fellows were arguing about something that happened ten years ago. Out of which can you get the most pleasure: Ten nights in a Bar Room or Ten Bar Rooms in One Night?
