PYTHIANS BUY 2300-ACRE TRACT IN PERRY COUNTY

The Knights of Pythias Kin Kora Pythian Association have taken title to a property located at Cove Neck, Perry county, embracing 2300 acres, which will be used as a home for aged and orphans. About 130 acres of this land is cleared and is being farmed, while the remainder is in second-growth timber. The property contains a large stone mansion with twenty-three rooms and also six bathrooms. In addition to this building, there are seven smaller buildings, which are now occupied by tenants. This property has two pretty artificial lakes, one of which is a quarter of a mile in length. There is an abundance of cool clear spring water on the place, also a private electric light plant, which furnishes current to the buildings, all of which are wired. Kin Kora is twelve miles west of Harrisburg. The purchase price was $55,000, and $23,000 of this has been paid. Bonds are being purchased by the different lodges and individual members, the revenue thereof being used to defray the indebtedness and to equip the buildings for proper maintenance of the guests.

Why Apples Split
Splitting of apples on trees is due to excessive moisture as a result of the recent long rainy spell. The sudden influx of water and decreased transpiration from the leaves results in a pressure which the cellular structure of the apples cannot withstand.

Three young persons were recently fined ten dollars each for carving their initials on the bark of a big sycamore tree in Orange County Park in California.

POST-MORTEM MILKINGS MADE IN STUDY OF UDDER CAPACITY

The udders of two cows killed at the Federal dairy experiment farm, Beltsville, Md., were removed immediately after slaughter and mounted in a position for post-mortem milking in a recent test to determine whether milk is manufactured during the few minutes required for the milking process, as is generally taught, or whether it is secreted continuously and collected in the udder previous to milking.

It is quite generally held that the capacity of a cow's udder is not more than a half pint to each quarter and, therefore, that the milk must necessarily be manufactured during the milking operation. In these tests it was found, however, that a cow's udder is capable of holding from 11 to 20 quarts of milk. One of the cows had normally been giving about 12 pounds at a milking. When her udder was milked after being completely severed from all body connections a total of 10.27 pounds of milk was obtained, or more than 85 per cent of her normal production, indicating that this amount had been collected and stored as milk previous to her slaughter.

The post-mortem milking of the second cow yielded practically 50 per cent of her normal production. A considerable quantity of milk still remained due to the difficulty with which it was released.

In the opinion of H. W. Swett, Bureau of Dairy Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, these tests indicate that milk secretion is to a considerable extent a continuous process, and that a large portion of the milk secured at any milking is collected and stored within the mammary gland before milking is commenced; also that the liberation of milk from the gland is not dependent either upon a nervous or mechanical stimulation or upon internal muscular contraction.

Extensive studies of the mammary gland are now being made by the bureau in connection with the project dealing with the relation of a dairy cow's conformation and anatomy to her milk and butter-fat producing capacity. This newest phase in the study of the mechanism of the dairy cow promises to be most interesting and highly productive of valuable information.

MILK TESTERS REQUIRED TO BE QUALIFIED
During the past six months the three Dairy Experts, employed by the Bureau of Foods and Chemistry for the specific purpose of enforcing the provisions of the Milk Testing Law, have Dr. Kellogg, Chief of the Bureau, reports, made 748 inspections and visits to milk plants and receiving stations, where testing is being done.

The purpose of the law is to insure to producers of milk correct tests by competent milk testers who have passed an examination conducted by the Dairy Department of State College to determine proficiency in the Babcock test, have been licensed by the Bureau. Persons not so qualified are forbidden from doing the work.

Inspections show that only a few men were not fully qualified in testing and that some others, not having passed the examination, were operating without a license. In a few instances incorrect tests were found to have been made and adjustments in payment were made on the basis of check tests made by the Bureau's Dairy Expert.

444,939 DOGS WERE LICENSED IN PENNA.
To July 1, 1926, 444,939 individual dog licenses were issued in Pa., exclusive of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton. This is on a 25,000 short of the number of licenses issued for the entire preceding year. During the last ten years the number of dog licenses has increased 82 per cent. Since the enforcement of the law was taken over by the Bureau of Animal Industry in 1922, the licenses have increased 172,000. In the first six months of 1926, 137,000 more licenses were issued than in all of 1921, the last year when licensing was under County supervision.

The number of dogs reported killed by police officers this year to August 1 was 10,303. The number of prosecutions for violation of the dog law to August 1st was 6,686. Damages amounting to $38,744.87 were set to August 1 by the Commonwealth with owners of damaged livestock and poultry.
