Seaboard Petroleum Terminal

eration will have a capacity of between four and five million gallons and will involve an expenditure of over three hundred thousand dollars. Between two thousand and three thousand carloads of petroleum products will be shipped from Wilmington to their distribution points each year.

The Schock Independent Oil Company who are marketers of Sico petroleum products, have their headquarters at Mt. Joy Pennsylvania, and branches of the organization are at Harrisburg, Lancaster, Lebanon, Carlisle and York, Penna.

The company began trading under the name of the Independent Oil Company in 1898, which was succeeded by the Star Independent Oil Company in 1921 and later by the Schock Independent Oil Company in 1924.

Long Negotiations

It was learned today that the Chamber of Commerce began negotiations with Mr. Schock in April of last year. Investigations were made to secure a site large enough for the Schock plant and which at the same time afforded the opportunity to reach piers they would construct on the Delaware River.

No local ordinance existed at that time covering an operation of this nature. In August of last year the City Council passed the necessary ordinance, covering operations similar to the one proposed.

Negotiations for the site were conducted through Colonel George A. Elliott.

President Pleased

Clarence Schock, when interviewed, said: "I want to express my appreciation of the splendid co-operation I have received from the Board of Harbor Commissioners and the Chamber of Commerce.

"I believe that our operations in the Port of Wilmington will be thoroughly satisfactory and that we shall have no regret in placing our import plant here.

"The increase in our business in the past five years has made it desirable for us to control our own source of supply as far as possible. With our import plant in Wilmington we will be enabled to receive vessels from American or foreign ports, discharge and store in Wilmington and distribute to our whole sale stations.

An official of the Chamber of Commerce speaking of the Schock operations said, "We are very much pleased that our efforts of the past 18 months have been brought to a successful conclusion. Schock operation represent an investment of over one-third million dollars in Wilmington but the State and City will derive splendid revenues therefrom and Wilmington's port statistics will show a decided increase in tonnage. The railroad shipments will be from two thousand to three thousand cars annually.

"Their pier development on the Delaware River will make the first permanent development on the Delaware within the Port of Wilmington."

The lease approved by the City Council last night was an agreement entered into by Schock interests and the Board of Harbor Commissioners covering the construction of piers and bulkheads on the Delaware River, in front of the Marine Terminal property and provided also permission to cross the rear end of the Terminal property for the purpose of gaining access to the Schock site.

H. S. Bell, of the Woolworth Building, New York City, will be the engineer in charge of the plant and pier construction. James Morford, Wilmington, is attorney of the Schock interests.

STOCKHOLDERS ARE OUT; VERY LITTLE IS LEFT

Visions some years ago of a mammoth fair ground speedway at a point where a portion of the Midletown Air Depot now stands, projected by a group of promoters have faded into a total balance of $908 in cash and a thirteen-acre plot of ground.

The disclosure that the stockholders who hold the more than 60,000 shares of stock in the project could expect no more than two or three cents in return for each $10 invested for a share in the Keystone Industrial Corporation was made at a recent meeting of the project. Disappointed at the collapse of the project, the stockholders at the meeting decided to sell the remaining plot of real estate, which is located along the Middletown pike near Jednota, and divide the proceeds along with the $908 among themselves.

Officials of the company which was organized to take over the affairs of the Keystone State Fair and Industrial Exposition, told the stockholders the debts of the corporation absorbed the money obtained from the Government for the sale of the ground in 1923 and another item of $32,000 awarded for use of the property for the three years preceding.

There are a number of stockholders here who will not be very much pleased on learning this information.

Renew the Lawn

Lawns should be gone over now if they were not attended to last month. Rake the lawn well and throw seed in the thin and bare spots. Keep the water hose running long enough to soak the soil so that the seed will germinate quickly.

(On With Laughter)

The other day a fellow went to John Booth's store when one of the clerks said: "How is it that I don't see you in the store oftener?"

The man replied: "Maybe its because I ain't there."

A certain down town fellow who drank a little too much home-brew, was standing at the corner of Main and Barbara streets the other evening just as constable John L. Schroll came a ong and here is what he said:

Twinkle, twinkle lissle star, and I wonder what you are? Way up on that p'liceman's vest. Ohmigawd! I'm under arrest!

I don't know what he was drinking but the other rainy night Clabe Gantz called at Henry Garber's home on Manheim street and asked the baker to take him home. He declared he didn't know where he lived.

Back at school yesterday a teacher asked one of her pupils to give her the opposite of the word "woe." After a brief deliberation the boy replied: "Giddap."

A funny one happened a few days ago. A huckster came to town and went before the Burgess for a license. The Burgess said: "What's your name?" The man replied: "It's on my wagon."

Mr. Engle said: "It's obliterated."

The huckster said, "you're a liar, its O'Brien."

Here's a pretty good one that was written by one of our local butchers about a year before he was married:

I never sausage eyes as thine, And if you'd butcher hand in mine And liver 'round me every day We'll seek a ham-let far away; We'll meet life's frown with love's caress And cleaver road to happiness.

I know a fellow who owns a very talkative parrot that he is willing to swap on a radio set. Guess he wants a different kind of noise.

Its a' right to rub it in but a certain young fellow who recently got married says there's no use in playing the "Prisoner's Song" right after the wedding march.

A certain chap here was heard to say: "She was only a bootlegger's daughter but oh how I loved her mug."

Business As Usual

Some folks can't mind their business. The reason is you'll find— They either have no business Or else they have no mind.

Many an apple grower is looking forward to a pleasant winter, not because he had a good crop but because his cider just started working for him.

After a certain man here died one of the neighbors said: "I heard he left everything to his wife."

The lady replied: "That's nothing he always did."

A certain chap who belongs to our local bridge crowd, is about with bandages on his head. Some one asked: What happened.

The reply came: "Rotten bridge."

Did he break thru? The person inquired.

"No, he trumped his wife's ace."

Just as the twig is bent, so is your old man.

That is quite true but then you must remember that no matter how hungry a horse gets he won't eat a bit.

Of course they tell me that a horse eats best when he don't have a bit in his mouth.

A certain young lad here was asked to make a sentence with the word "antagonize" in it.

He said: "Dad says: "Eat your dinner children, antagonize walk."

Charles Wealand would like to know if August died, would September mourn?

Once upon a time there was a boy who was a model child. He didn't drink. He didn't smoke. He didn't chew—not even gum. He didn't swear. The only thing he couldn't do was make his own dresses.

"How's business?" asked Pat (or some other Irishman) of the undertaker's assistant.

"Oh, its the buries," he replied.

"Its the buries."

"Can you tell me a part of the Bible which forbids a man having two wives?"

"No, an serve

PROTECT YOUR CHILDREN AGAINST DIPHTHERIA

What does the dramatic story of the Nome, Alaska diphtheria epidemic teach us? What can we, the people of the United States, gain from them?

Just this: Diphtheria is one of the most fatal diseases of childhood. It kills thousands of children each year, while many more suffer from serious "after-effects." It is present in all communities at all times, especially late and early spring.

It is a disease that is communicated from one child to another. The germs are coughed and breathed from one to another, either directly or they are lodged on objects handled by the second child, e. g., toys, books, pencils, etc.

The younger the child the more deadly the disease. All this loss of life, and after-effects on health, as well as on family happiness, can be entirely prevented by the use of Diphtheria Toxin—Anti-Toxin.

The Diphtheria Toxin—Anti-Toxin is given once a week for three weeks. The children do not develop their complete protection for about two months; thereafter, they cannot catch diphtheria.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Sauce naturelle is made by thickening the water in which a vegetable was cooked. It may be made in connection with many kinds of vegetables, and will also provide the basis for a good vegetable soup, creamed or otherwise.

Don't boil string beans a long time with ham or pork merely to flavor them. The vitamins will be destroyed and most of the other valuable ingredients extracted. Instead, add bacon fat or crisp diced bacon at serving time.

Add a tablespoon of horseradish to sweet-sour sauce for beets.

Try potatoes cooked in tomato juice instead of water. Slice or dice them for quick cooking.

Finely chopped raw celery improves many dishes, such as creamed beef, fish, crabmeat, oysters, potatoes, cabbage, or hard-cooked eggs. Try it in cream sauce for serving croquettes; with creamed corn and lima beans, stewed tomatoes and other vegetables. Add just a few minutes before serving time.

School Lunch Surprises

Think back to your own school days, and recall how delighted you were when you opened up your lunch basket and found a "surprise" there. You will immediately want to pull your "thinking cap" on a little more firmly and see what you can do to relieve the monotony of the same old sandwiches in Johnnie's or Mary's box. The United States Department of Agriculture has a few suggestions to make that may help you.

To begin with, you can't do entirely without sandwiches, for they are the most convenient method of combining several substantial foods in a small space, and they are easy for the children to handle without tableware. But you can make sandwiches of different kinds of bread—graham, rye, raisin, nut, date, prune or fig bread, and breads made from cooked cereals with combinations of dried fruit and nuts. Then there are the quick breads—rolls, biscuits, corn bread, muffins—which are not necessarily served hot, although we are apt to prefer them that way. Once in a while use one of these different breads, either for sandwiches, or without filling so that they do not seem like the same old thing. Save all the little jars that have tight lids—peanut butter and salad dressing jars, and jelly glasses. Fill these jars with such favorite foods as honey or preserves, apple sauce, stewed fruits, cottage cheese, or anything that can not be spread in the ordinary way.

Don't Make Bees Waste Heat

Comb honey that is left on the hives after the over becomes soiled and discolored. It should be removed as soon as finished. When the honeyflow is over, all empty supers should be removed, so that the bees will not have empty space to keep warm during the winter.

Make Good Combination

Alfalfa hay and corn silage together supply ideal roughage for dairy cows.

two masters."

I was talking to an uptown lady yesterday who declares she is only thirty years old, yet she can remember clearly things that happened forty years ago.

A fellow who stammers was heard to say:

"Have you ever tasted Coo-coo Coffee?"

"No. What's it like?"

"Just a little weak in the bean."

Just because some women have double chins is no good reason why they should talk twice as much as others.

A certain man at Florin said: "Daughter I smel cigarette smoke on your lips."

She replied: "I guess I got that from kissing mother."

A couple from near town went to Phila., to the Sesqui last week and while in that city, by mistake got to the Casino theatre where they hold burlesk shows. He said: "Gosh, Matildy, I bet they make money on these shows."

"Shucks, Hiram, they can't even afford to give the poor girls enough clothes to wear!"

A WISE OWL

HEAT FOLKS

WE HEAT FOLKS ARE NOT TEACHERS BUT WE MAKE IT EASY FOR CHILDREN TO LEARN

Without good coal Many of the winter's activities would have to cease. Schools would close. Business houses would close. Churches would close. Everybody would be busy at the one occupation of keeping warm. Except the doctors. They'd be busy trying to get everybody well. But, fortunately, the coal is here. Better order yours while it's plentiful.
