EDITORIAL

EVOLUTION
It used to be you could rob a mail train and get a world of publicity and a jail sentence out of it. Now it happens so frequently that the reporters turn their noses up at it, and it's become such a regular occurrence it's almost considered legal.

PAINFULLY TRUE
The proposed anti-revolver law will do little in stopping the sale of firearms. The desperate characters will still carry all the guns they care to, while respectable folks will continue to be unarmed, thus still furthering widening the chasm of "preparedness."

THE MORAL IS TO KEEP YOUR DOLLAR AT HOME

Start a dollar bill out early in the morning on its mission of service and if kept going it will pay ten, a hundred or more dollars worth of obligations and nine times out of ten it will find its way back into your own business. Same is true of larger denomination. Put them to work in community service.

JAILING THE MACHINE

A justice of the peace in Berkeley, California, has hit upon the idea of jailing the machine for automobile traffic violations. This would seem like quite a clever way of handling people who violate the automobile laws.

ATTRactions FOR BUSINESS

A systematic effort to establish new industries in a town is pretty sure to bring in a number of such establishments. But success in getting them does not depend wholly upon the energy with which such campaigns are conducted.

ENTITLED TO THE FACTS

A general impression has been too often encouraged that when the price of gasoline is raised on about the same date in different sections of the country, it is a result of an agreement between the various companies. The man who drives up to a filling station knows that the prices fluctuate at times, but he doesn't know why.

Nothing but the drill, at great cost, can answer the eternal conundrum, where to find oil.

When a flood of new crude oil comes in, the oversupply lowers the price, with resulting drop in gasoline. When the crude supply becomes scarce, the price goes up, and gasoline follows. It is the same as the price of butter and eggs, and the oil refiners are as unable to prevent fluctuation in price as are the sellers of farm products.

"Traffic spies," large mirrors erected at the elbows of L-shaped streets, are being used in many German cities to lessen danger of collisions between motor cars on ancient, narrow streets.

YOU'LL STEP SOME to beat this benedict's sense of humor; he had married an actress and the matrimonial bark had not sailed smoothly. He asked the county clerk if it was a MARRIAGE LICENSE that he gave him last month and was told that it was. "I wasn't certain, for we lead a DOG'S LIFE ever since," he said. If you want to be certain to obtain a fire that will not only mean a distinct saving but absolute satisfaction as well, insist on DAYTON tires as leaders—a leadership based solely on merit.

Dunham Culti-Packer For Horses or Tractors

Good equipment makes a farmer better
Do what you will to a seed bed, you have not added the final touch until you have gone over it with the Culti-Packer. It is only a matter of time until the Culti-Packer will be considered as necessary a part of farm equipment as any of the most important tools now are. It can be used more times in the year and on more kinds of crops than almost any other tool. In seed-bed preparation, disking and culti-packing should follow the plow as soon as possible in order to prevent the escape of moisture. The Culti-Packer compacts the body of the seed bed, pressing it into contact with the subsoil, and facilitating the rise of moisture. It leaves the surface mulched to prevent the escape of moisture. Culti-pack after planting to firm the soil over the seed and insure more rapid and more complete germination. Use it to break crusts. Use it on your young corn and other crops. Use it on your winter wheat and seed beds both before and after planting. Built in sizes to suit your power.
