Big Institution Now Being Built

(From Page One) changed and according to State Secretary of Health, Dr. Theodore B. Appel, $7,000,000 is the estimated cost. From ten to twelve years will be required to complete the huge plant, which will rest on a hillside to the west of Elizabeth town. The first unit of the plant is now building. This structure will serve as the administration building and also provide space for some crippled children. It is expected that this building, work on the concrete frame of which is nearing completion, will be completed late next summer. Work on four other units, built at angles of 45 degrees from either end of the present building and extending both back and front, will be started in the next year or two. To complete these units is the desire of the present administration. It has been so planned that crippled children who may be cured within six months or a year, will be provided for first. Children whose ailments will require longer treatment, who may never permanently recover, will be provided with later additions to the hospital. A situation on a hillside has been selected for the hospital, far enough away from the railroad and the highway to be safe from loud and disturbing noises, yet in full sight of the town. The present building rests in a large clump of trees and is almost invisible from the road. From the top of the structure, cars speeding along the highway may be seen through the bare trees. When summer comes and the leaves are thick, the highway will be invisible. With the exception of the site on which the building stands, not a tree has been cut. The natural beauty of the place was preserved in every way possible. The State engineers in charge realize that calmness and beauty are necessary to the life about the hospital and they are conserving trees with this end in view. To the rear of the present building in small woods, which will remain standing. It is proposed to build the hospital in a rough circular form, which will surround a clump of trees forming a wooded court; something unusual. Patients in wards and rooms facing the court will have as much to see, the beautiful trees in the spring and summer, as those on the outside rooms of the hospital. Beyond the woods and to the west, is a slight hill, now used as farm land, cared for by a Lancaster county farmer, Paul Aldinger. This giant tract provides food for the other state institutions at Hamburg, Mount Alto and Cresson. Late next fall, it will supply the Elizabethtown hospital with the good plain foods which will be necessary. Large oats, wheat and corn crops were taken from the farm last year, the soil giving a prolific yield. On the top of the hill will be reservoirs providing water for the hospital. From this same peak a magnificent view of the surrounding country is gained. To the north, one may see as far as the Lebanon county hills. To the west is Middletown and south and east is Lancaster county. When completed the hospital will provide for at least 700 children with rooms, wards, operating rooms and other places necessary to carry on the work. For crippled children who are compelled to stay at the institution over a long period of time, the state will provide industrial schools, which will teach them trades they can handle despite their deficiencies. The work will not only be reparative, but constructive. Beyond the hospital will be the director's home, the bachelor quarters for internes who are unmarried, the nurses' home and quarters for married resident physicians and internes. Every building will be connected by underground passages with all other buildings, so that a nurse leaving the nurse's home at an extreme, may walk to the other side of the plant without going outside. These passages however, will be so built that windows at the top will allow sunlight to enter making them bright and cheery at all times. In front of the structure which is building now, the hill falls away to a creek which is visible through the trees as they are now free of summer foliage. Almost in front of the hospital is an old dam, the breast of which has been repaired. A small lake will be formed here and shrubbery and other landscape features will be stocked with fish by the state. A roadway, in very poor condition now, will lead from the highway just west of Elizabethtown, back over a slight hill, down into a gully cut by the creek, thence up into the woods and the site of the hospital. The road leading directly

TRUST COMPANIES RANK NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING HIGHEST

The outstanding trust institutions of the United States are those that were pioneers in using advertising as a means of selling their services. A speaker told a conference of trust companies held in New York recently. He presented the results of a questionnaire sent out by the Trust Company Division, American Bankers Association, making an inquiry into the advertising practices of institutions doing a trust business. Three out of every four trust companies and banks engaged in extending trust services were found to be advertising. The opinion was expressed by the speaker that their growth would closely follow the amounts spent each year for advertising. The local newspaper is the most highly regarded advertising medium. It was disclosed. In all, 929 companies answering the questionnaire used the local papers and 338 did not. The institutions buying space in local papers are evenly divided among all sections of the country. Comparing six media for selling personal trust services and considering their effectiveness from the standpoint of producing results, the speaker declared that the local newspapers should head the list. Folders and booklets can reach a limited audience, he observed, but the newspaper is the best medium for acquiring prestige and mass circulation. It should never be omitted, he urged.

CORN BORER CAMPAIGN OPENS IN 8 COUNTIES

Getting rid of the corn borer and his hiding places is the chief order of business on farms in eight Pennsylvania counties this month. Information about the clean-up regulations is being distributed to the farmers in Beaver, Butler, Crawford, Erie, Lawrence, Mercer, Venango, and Warren counties. They, in turn, are plowing under all corn stalks, stubble, cobs or trash left in the field wherever possible. In other places the corn stalks, cobs and trash not shredded or ensiled are being burned. The object of the campaign is to control the corn borer, which threatens America's $2,000,000,000 corn crop. Voluntary clean-up must be completed by May 1. Grow A Timber Crop April 24 to 30 is American Forest Week. Remember that wood and timber gain in volume even though a farm may be abandoned. While other income may fall very low or cease altogether, the timber crop continues to gain. This feature is important in maintaining the value of the farm in the face of the town industries which tend to lead the farmer away from agriculture and cause him to neglect his farm business. Want a Nice Business On account of ill health of the owner, I now have the fine brick property, confectionery and cigar and tobacco store of the late Harry E. Klugh, on East Main St., Mount Joy for sale. House has all conveniences and will give possession any time. Call, phone or write J. E. Schroll, Mt. Joy, Pa. into the hospital will eventually go under one of the buildings, entering the large court around which the hospital buildings will be constructed. Near the entrance a tree has been left standing in the middle of the road, according to Mr. Marks, the state resident engineer, will remove the tree and build around the tree. It will serve to halt speedsters and add a pleasant little feature to the hospital entrance. On the south side of the court here will be another road leading out under the building continuing on to the highway again, thus providing a large loop. The state owns 270 acres of land on which the hospital will be built and the farm managed. There are three farm houses on the land at the present time. One of these is used as a general office for the men in charge of construction. In addition to the construction of the administration building to the third floor level, in the concrete form, which is now almost finished, the workers have been clearing out the woods of dead underbrush and making it habitable. Work on the laying of the sewage system will be started soon. The buildings will be absolutely fireproof. There will be no wood floors, no window frames to burn; all danger from fire being eliminated by the use of concrete and steel in the construction work. Funds for the hospital will be provided by successive assemblies, as the money is needed. Many years and millions will be required to complete the construction, but the work and results in the hospital it is believed will be worth the effort. It will mean a real boost for Elizabethtown, the home of the present fine Masonic Homes.

TULIP SUGGESTED AS STATE TREE AND FLOWER

A bill, now before the Legislature, provides that the tulip tree and bloom shall be the State tree and flower for Pennsylvania. Various botanical societies in the State have joined in favor of the tulip and many reasons are given for its selection. First it is found wild and cultivated in all parts of the State. Second, it is becoming popular as a forest and shade tree. Third, its leaves resemble a key-stone in shape. Fourth it is strictly but not exclusively a Pennsylvania. Fifth, it is in bloom during the latter part of May and can be used Memorial Day. Pennsylvania is the only State that has never chosen a State flower, according to Dr. E. M. Gress, State Botanist.
