EDITORIAL

ACCIDENTS
The word "accident" by derivation means something which "falls across." Falls across what? Why, some orderly procedure? Accident implies an order violated. If there were no order in the world there would be no accidents, for all events would then be equally casual. Order implies purpose. A bad adventure is one contrary to order and purpose. It results in an accident. Cross a street absent-mindedly and in violation of the order of traffic. You wake up in the ambulance. That's a bad adventure, according to the National Safety Council.

AUTOMOBILE HEADLIGHTS
One of the most common causes of automobile accidents is glaring headlights. The motorist who is blinded by such lights is very much hampered in his effort to exercise care. He may be so intent on not colliding with the cars he meets that he may hit people standing or walking on the side of the street. It is up to every motorist to do what he can to have proper lights and have them correctly regulated and focused and do his part so that night driving shall be safe and comfortable.

BE GENEROUS
President Coolidge's call for Ten Million dollars to relieve distress in the Mississippi valley flood district should be given a hearty and generous reception.

The need is great. Men who have surveyed the region say that years of progress have been wiped out; that thousands of people have lost every possession they had; that when the flood subsides the south will find itself by the worst problem of reconstruction since the Civil War.

In a case like this, we who are more fortunate cannot hesitate. We are a rich nation, and we have a reputation for generosity. There is but one answer we can make to this appeal.
We must give, and give abundantly.

A NATION OF ROAD BUILDERS
Less than ten years ago it would have been impossible to figure on driving an automobile more than a few miles from the home of the year in the rural districts of most of our states. A "touring" car making an extended trip, would carry ropes, chains and a shovel to use in cases of emergency, which were quite frequent.

Today automobiles may be driven from coast to coast and north and south with little inconvenience. Another ten years will see paved roads to every important point. No nation ever attempted such a road building program as we are now carrying out, as an established feature of state and national development.

Not only are we building and hard-surfacing new roads, but are widening and straightening thousands of miles of old roads. Our annual bill for building and maintaining highways is approximately one billion dollars. It is necessary to keep close watch to see that this money is properly expended on scientifically built highways and permanent and practical bridge construction. Thousands of miles of feeder roads into the main highways must be improved with a waterproof wearing surface.

The telephone, the automobile, good highways and our transportation system make possible instant and continuous communication and association between all sections of our Country.

BOOSTING THE HOME TOWN
Quite often we get good sound advice to the effect that we ought so far as possible to buy goods made in America. It is the theory of the protective tariff advocates that when American goods are bought and consumed the money goes to keeping American workers employed and American capital active.
And if it is true, as it undoubtedly is, that we ought to favor American goods whenever possible, it is also true that we ought in the same measure favor the goods which are manufactured and sold in our home community. For just as we are in favor of building up American industry as a whole, we should strive for the progress and prosperity of the town in which we live.
It is a good rule, therefore, to patronize the business men of our own community and to purchase so far as possible goods manufactured in the home community. A great many American cities feature this home consumption campaign. They ask the people to buy from local merchants, and they ask the merchants to push so far as possible the goods manufactured at home. And communities which feature this patriotic rule are always num-

Garden Furnishes March Food
The ideal garden provides plenty of vegetables which not only keep the family well supplied during the growing season but also provide food to be canned, dried, or stored for the winter months.

Russian farmers shave only on the rarest occasions. Among the Old Believers, a large religious sect in Russia, a man who has sheared his beard is considered to have lost all chances of entering heaven.

bered among the most progressive business slumps are few and far between and they are often prosperous and progressive when, communities with less civic consciousness are floundering in the slough of depression.
After all, it is the community in which we live that shares our character and the characters of our children. If the community is clean, progressive, and with a fine sense of civic pride, and with good local institutions, we are apt to be happy and progressive ourselves. And to form such a community we must keep the civic consciousness alive, and as far as possible keep our money at home for local development.

Do Not Pasture Calves too Soon
Spring calves should not be turned on pasture until they are 4 to 6 months of age. Less digestive trouble and more satisfactory growth will result.

Are You "Toxic?"
It is Well, Then, to Learn the Importance of Good Elimination.
FUNCTIONAL inactivity of the kidneys permits a retention of waste poisons in the blood. Symptoms of this toxic condition are a dull, languid feeling, drowsy headaches and sometimes, toxic backache and dizziness. That the kidneys are not functioning as they should is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many readers have learned the value of Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, in this condition. Use every where a course Doan's. Ask your neighbor.

Picture's Valuation
The picture by Whistler called "Old Battersen Bridge" is alluded to as the "Nocturne in Blue and Gold." It was the source of one of the artist's most famous witticisms. The opposing counsel in the suit for libel which Whistler brought against Ruskin in 1875 elicited the fact that the picture had been painted in two days, and then asked: "The labor of two days; then is that for which you ask 200 guineas?" To which Whistler retorted with dignity: "No; I ask it for the knowledge of a lifetime." This picture sold two years later for 2,000 guineas.

Train Faster Than Birds
Tests of bird speed in calm air, made by a German investigator, show that the flyers have a wide range of rapidly and few equal the rate of a moderately fast train. Of those observed, the starting had the greatest speed, slightly more than 40 miles an hour. Jackdaws made 38.22 miles an hour, the parrot finch 37 miles, rooks 32.58 miles, and hooded crows and gray gulls 31.05 miles. The sparrow hawk had the slowest speed of all the birds whose flights were measured, making only 25.70 miles an hour - Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Supreme Honor
"Look here, bruddern," complained an old preacher who had just been appointed chaplain of a new colored lodge. "How come you'll get such grand names, an' I ain't nuffin but jes' plain chaplain. Something's got to be done or I resigns f'r'm dis here lodge."
A discussion then arose about what would be a suitable title for the reverend, and a number of suggestions were made; however, none of them suited, until one of the dusky members, struck with a happy inspiration, pointed to his feet and exclaimed: "Brother, bruddern, Ah moves we call you 'Brother' in dis here lodge!"
