

OWL-LAFFS

BY O. W. L. (On With Laughter)

The fellows were arguing as to the correct meaning of a night mare while warming the park benches the other evening. Finally one fellow got the correct meaning. He said a night mare was Dairyman Christ Heilig's horse.

On Monday night a bunch of freemen got into an argument about big feet. Funny subject isn't it? Anyway one chap made this remark: He said: "Them ain't your feet man, they are 18 inches of each leg turned out."

About the time the laughter subsided I asked one of the firemen how far it was from his one ear to the other. He didn't know so I told him one block and then ran.

Edgar Hagenberger tells me that the best way to approach a girl with a past is with a present.

At that grooms are queer fellows. They never get mad if you kiss the bride unless you do it six months or so before she gets married.

A gentle tip from one who knows. If you love life, don't squander your time as that's the very thing life is made of.

El Weaver sprung a good one recently. He says there's one thing about a horse that has it all over the auto. He says you can sell a man a horse and feel sure that another dealer won't come along in a few days and show him a new or later model.

Some fellow asked John Booth how old his baby was and John told him it was a 1927 model. You know John's always there with the right answer.

A certain colored fellow went to a local justice of the peace and inquired as to the approximate cost of a divorce. When told he said: "Well I don't think I want it. There ain't that much difference between my wife and the other girl I likes."

If there's anything I hate its a guy that's yellow. Even the egg is yellow inside.

Here's a conversation that I overheard in town a few days ago: A man said to a workman: "Who the devil told you to plant all that new shrubbery in my front yard?" The workman answered: "Why your wife, of course."

The man replied: "Mighty pretty, isn't it?"

I can't understand why kangaroos are not extinct because they are always on their last legs.

A fellow who recently moved to town went to Eshleman Bros. and bought a suit of clothes four sizes too big for himself. Clyde asked him why he bought one so large and he said: "Why I'm a big man where I come from."

Just the same a little worry is a blamed good thing provided it doesn't cry at night. What I'd like to know most of all is: If the moon had a baby, would the sky rocket?

One of our Manheim street colored gentlemen told me he saw a play at Philadelphia recently in which there was a bed room scene and the women who took part appeared on the stage dressed in nothin but their negligence.

Listening to some music by a violinist at Lancaster I said to my friend to the right: "Don't you think the violinist's obligato is very beautiful?" He said: "Can't tell. Wait till she turns around."

A certain fellow from town recently took a trip thru New York state. The brakeman called out the various stations but when he yelled Poughkeepsie a passenger jumped up and coked him for sneezing all over him.

Herman Hauer says he can't understand one thing. If they want people to keep clean, why do they bar soap?

Docky Snyder thinks if one icicle is an icicle, two icicles must surely be a bicycle.

There was a big execution over at Roy Sheetz's the other day. He and Joe Witmer hung some pictures.

Two Florin girls walked down Main street Sunday night and a fellow followed them. The girls noticed him and matched nickels to see which one was to have him.

I see by the papers some one found a handkerchief which belonged to William Penn. They

When To Cut Alfalfa Wait until alfalfa is in full bloom before cutting if a long stand of the legume is desired. Where alfalfa is grown in the rotation and the field is to be plowed next year the first crop may be cut just as it starts to bloom.

Make Good Hay for Cows Hay for dairy cows should be cut early as it contains more milk-producing power and is more palatable than when cut later.

Secretary Mellon says there is to be a $127,000,000 surplus. Evidently Uncle Sam has no installment phonograph and automobile.

placed it in a museum and labeled it, "An Original Penn Wiper."

A fellow on Marietta street said to a lady: "How would you like me for a husband?" She replied: "No thanks. I don't need a husband. My sister has one."

I was at the Fulton Opera House recently to see a chorus of seventy and darned if they didn't all look it.

A Main street business man thinks the most appropriate gift for a telephone operator would be earrings but I think not as she has enough of those.

I was kidding a woman at Florin yesterday and she told me I was just like the rest of the men. I replied: "Well I certainly hope so." A WISE OWL

Plan Annual Meet At Chiques Hill

(From Page One) Chiques Hill last year and will return to her post next year. Swapping experiences, these two were, drawing contrasts, noting changes that have taken place in the past half century in the Mennonite community which entrusted its children to their care.

It has been a constantly settled community, this Mennonite valley; in 1880 Mr. Moyer taught between 35 and 40 pupils, in 1926 Miss Seiders taught 37 pupils.

Present at the meeting were three generations of Werners, a family having a representative in the school each generation since its founding. There was Joseph G. Werner, his son, William I. Werner, and his grandsons, Harold and Ira Werner. Two members of the same family have taught there, J. Brubaker and his daughter, Mary Brubaker.

Ten Teachers Present Ten of the twenty-eight teachers who have taught there in the past forty-seven years were present at the reunion. They were Earnest Eshleman, Mary Gibble, Mary Brubaker, J. B. Brubaker, Frank Moyer, Dorothy Seider, Mrs. I. L. Reist, Mrs. Cyrus Geib, Mrs. C. R. Good and Kathryn Zug.

Officers for the new organization who handle reunion arrangements for the next year were elected as follows: President, Rufus Eby, of Manheim R. D. No. 4; vice president, J. B. Brubaker, of Florin; secretary, Mrs. I. L. Reist, Elizabethtown; assistant secretary, Mrs. John Geib, of Manheim; treasurer, William J. Werner, Elizabethtown, R. D.

A short program included music by ladies' and men's quartets, talks by all the teachers present, and a discussion, "Value of School Reunions," by Mrs. Cyrus Geib, of Manheim.

To Decide Where Doe May Be Shot

(From Page One) country but also because of the possible disease which is said to sweep wild life when it becomes to numerous.

The commission has full power to decide just what counties or parts of them will have open shooting for female deer. Game wardens in all parts of the state have been furnished the commission with estimates of deer in their district. Individual sportsmen protesting because of the rigid manner which the law against shooting doe has been enforced in recent years. To protect the does as well as the young bucks the commission twice changed the rule governing the shooting of male deer. The last provision was that bucks, to be legal game must have not only six antlers but a visible prong or "Y".

While a majority of the wardens used leniency in applying the rule, decisions of others frequently were protested. Each illegally killed buck or doe brought a $100 fine. The commission will be faced with a delicate situation in that many farmers and sportsmen who own large tracts of land say that they will prohibit all hunting on their property if their sections are thrown open to doe hunting.

Reunion At Donegal Thursday, June 30

(From Page One) The society was organized under the leadership of Miss Martha Bladen Clark to perpetuate the memory of Donegal church, to collect relics and antiquities belonging to the church, to preserve and beautify the graveyard, to erect tablets, monuments and in other ways commemorate historical events, and to carry on the annual reunion.
