Thieves Again Enter School Building

MASHED LOCK ON SAFE AND FORCED ROLL TOP DESK—ALL DOORS SECURELY LOCKED

Another attempt was made to rob the Marietta street school building last night but the robbers secured nothing for their trouble.

When janitor Harry W. Keller went to the directors' room this morning he found that robbers had been there some time during the night and while they did not succeed in getting anything, they certainly incurred considerable damage to school property.

Two axes, one of which they broke the handle, a 2-ft. pin bar and a mallet, were brought up from the cellar and were the tools the rascals worked with. The combination lock was completely knocked off the safe but they were unable to open it. A roll-top desk was forced and damaged but nothing of value is kept there since the robbery about a year ago.

Last evening when the janitor left, he securely locked all doors and windows and found them locked this morning. This is conclusive evidence that the thieves had keys to the building.

The matter is now being investigated and it is more than likely that the "job" was committed by persons very familiar with the building.

J. Lewis.

Salinger and his wife testified that the Garman machine ran into his car. The defense was that Salinger's car struck Garman's vehicle on the right rear side.

A verdict in favor of the defendant was handed down by the jury.
