EDITORIAL

Next to crossing a busy street on Saturday evening without looking both ways, the most dangerous thing we know of is running for President of Mexico.

One statistician estimates that 204 tons of hair have been shorn from American women since the bobbing craze started. And still the price of mattresses hasn't gone down any.

Over 3,000 poets competed for the $1,000 in prizes for poems to memorialize Lindbergh's exploit. The judges who will have to read all of them should be entitled to the prize money.

One southerner now claims that Barbara Fritch's flag story was a myth and that Barbara was actually a Confederate sympathizer. Next thing we expect to hear is that she was also in favor of the League of Nations, and that she thought the Revolutionary War was a mistake.

INCOME IN THE U. S. A.

If incomes reflect the actual value of their recipients to society, as economists tell us, will one of them kindly explain these incomes: Dempsey, $1,000,000. Babe Ruth, $70,000. Cabinet member, $12,000. Congressman, $10,000. Average bootlegger, $8,000. Average lawyer, $4,000. Average professor, $3,200. Average doctor, $3,000. Average wage earner, $1,400. Average farmer, $800. Average preacher, $700, while a publisher's income is so measly low that it isn't even mentioned.

CHRISTMAS TRADE

It is time for people to be thinking about their Christmas and holiday purchases. We have it in our power here in town to do an important stroke of business for our community, by buying our holiday and winter supplies at home. We are going to spend in the next few weeks a large sum of money for these purposes. If much of it is spent elsewhere, our local enterprises will feel the drag of this loss for months. If practically all of it is spent at home, a new wave of prosperity goes through our town. And there is no place where we can make the money go as far as in our home community.

COMMUNITY DEFECTS

In every community there are certain defects that are undesirable and unnecessary. In some cities and towns, the idea prevails that such things can't be helped. But in more progressive ones, people set out to work to get rid of these undesirable conditions, and they do not content themselves with irresponsible fault finding. If a town has certain faults, they either can or cannot be removed. If they can't it is best to forget about them. If they can be removed, then some organization or influential people should take the subject up and work for this improvement. Anything within reason, with all our bright and progressive people, can be accomplished here in town in the way of improvement.

WOLF, WOLF!

Every town needs to be reminded constantly that effective publicity is based upon actual accomplishment. The town that is forever talking about what it proposes to do rather than about what it is doing will soon be given the same credence as the lad who kept yelling "Wolf, Wolf." There is much talk between proposal and accomplishment. It takes a lot of talk to acquaint the people with the merits of a proposal. It takes a lot of talk to build up the will to accomplish. But the town that permits itself to get into the "Wolf, Wolf!" classification will find its talk the fluency of vanity and the whistling for absent courage.

STEALING AUTOS

Our constables here can make a ten strike if they catch and punish the young men in Mount Joy who are stealing automobiles, using them for joy riding and then abandoning them. Two weeks ago the editor's Essex was stolen out of the garage, used that night by three young men and placed in the garage again. Last week a man from the country came to town, parked his car and later returned to find it missing. He found his car that same night. Elsewhere in the Bulletin may be found an article telling of another car that was stolen here and later abandoned. Our authorities should get busy and see if they can't catch these violators. The writer may be able to give the constables a good clue.

THE STREET NO PLAYGROUND

Addressing the National Safety Congress at Chicago, a 14-year-old school boy from Providence, R. I., told the delegates that it is too bad that the children of today can't play in the streets as their parents did. He is quite right.

In this respect the boys and girls of populous cities today are worse off than they were 25 years ago. At that time, the street was a kind of natural playground, where an infinite number of kids played base ball and foot ball and had no end of fun. On many of the side streets this was safe enough. But then along came automobiles, and turned this playground into a place as dangerous as a railroad track. Millions of city and town youngsters today have no suitable place in which to play.

This restricts their development, it increases the chance they will get into mischief. It is probably one reason why there is so much crime at this time.

MASTERTONVILLE

Rev. Henry L. Hess is conducting a series of meetings at the Catholic church in the Springville district.

OVER 700,000 CATTLE TESTED FOR TUBERCULOSIS

The rapid progress in eradicating bovine tuberculosis from Pennsylvania herds is indicated by the following figures from the Bureau of Animal Industry at Harrisburg: 714,331 cattle, 56 per cent of all in the State, had been tested for tuberculosis up to November 1.

Eleven counties—Butler, Cameron, Clearfield, Columbia, Crawford, Indiana, Jefferson, Lawrence, McKean, Mercer and Potter—have been declared "modified accredited counties" which means that the disease has been reduced to less than half of one per cent.

Eight other counties—Elk, Huntingdon, Monroe, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Tioga, Union and Venango—had completed county tests but had not qualified as "modified accredited counties" by November 1.

2,559 herds in 54 counties were awaiting the test under the individual herd plan and 101 townships in 29 counties were awaiting the test by the area plan on November 1.

A very large collection of insects has been bequeathed to the United States National Museum by the late dean of the Philippine College of Agriculture. It is considered such an important addition to the national collection that the Bureau of Entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture is cooperating with the Museum in arranging for its safe transport to Washington by sending a member of its staff to pack and ship the specimens properly. The collection is reported to include more than 1,450 Schmitt boxes of pinned specimens, a large quantity of unmounted material, and a very extended card index of references to Indo-Malayan entomology. It contains many types and hundreds of species new to the national collection.

It Pays to Care for Pastures

It pays to take good care of pastures. Pastures are like poor feeds of any kind. Good pasture probably furnishes the cheapest source of milk-making nutrients of any farm crop. The cows harvest it themselves. Top-dressing pastures with manure or commercial fertilizer is usually profitable. It will induce faster and heavier growth of the grasses and will also increase their lime and phosphorus content. It is also good management to mow the pastures occasionally to prevent the weeds from reseeding themselves.

SALUNGA

HUDSON Super-Six This Leadership exclusive in High-Compression Performance The almost universal trend to the high-compression motor only serves to emphasize the exclusive method, advantages and results achieved by the Hudson Super-Six in this development. While conventional types depend upon special, costlier fuels to minimize roughness, the Hudson design uses any gasoline, delivering the extra power with the elastic smoothness of a steam engine. Combined with the Super-Six principle this new invention makes Hudson the most powerful and economical car per pound weight in the world. The extraordinary speed of Hudson getaway is but a single expression of the brilliant activity of the New Hudson Super-Six, which is carried on to every phase of performance. A single ride will explain why this has been the most enthusiastically accepted Hudson ever built. E. B. ROHRER, Mt. Joy, Pa.
