Alexander Cunningham. The plaintiff alleges that on the evening of September 2, Funk, in company with a woman, was driving on the Harrisburg pike, near Mount Joy, when his car hit a team loaded with railroad ties. Cunningham, it is claimed was in the rear of the wagon attending the brake and several ties fell upon him, in- pastor and his family. This will be pleasing news to juring him so badly he died several hours later. Funk was tried at the November term of Quarter Sessions Court on a charge of involuntary manslaughter and acquitted.
