WEEKLY LETTER WRITTEN EX PRESSLY FOR THE BULLETIN BY DR. DAVID H. REEDER

Summer Health Notes: It is time y to make some suggestions concerning the dangerous maladies common to hot weather, and offer means of prevention and cure of sickness and accidents common at this period of the year. Do not underestimate the importance of this article. Keep it. You may need it at any moment. These are the days when the fool-killer should be busy, and get after the one who points the gun that "is not loaded" at you, and his twin brother who rocks the boat to be funny. If they would try these things when alone all would be well.

WINTERTIME RADIO RESULTS OBTAINED DURING SUMMERTIME

No Longer Is There a Dividing Line Between One Season and the Next in the Pursuit of Radio Happiness.

By DR. ALFRED N. GOLDSMITH Chief Broadcast Engineer, R. C. A. Radio, unlike canned goods, has no winter or summer season. There are fresh vegetables the year round in the radio garden, so that it is hardly necessary to harvest and can our radio enjoyment during a few months for use in what might be a less fortunate sea

If we mentioned wintertime or summertime phonographic music, we might be laughed at, because phonographic presentation has come to be accepted as a permanent, unchanging, immune form of entertainment, ready to serve in mid-winter or mid-summer alike. And by the same token, when radio programs and radio services are maintained from one end of the year to the other at the same high levels of excellence, with little difference to indicate the passing seasons, it becomes decidedly out of order to speak of seasonable radio.

Today the signal strength of any first-class broadcasting station within its service range is more than ample to ride high above the normal sum mertime static level. Indeed, it is only when the radio enthusiast insists on going in search of DX or long-distance signals that the static level be comes troublesome, since he has plunged below it. Important Considerations

Of course the elements of good reception should perhaps be more closely observed in summer than in winter Among the more important considerations are:

1. Selecting the signals from a station of adequate power, located not too far distant. It is well that the station have a repuation for careful maintenance, and be quite free from the criticisms of poor transmitter operation, haphazard monitoring, vary ing power, serious fading, wave length wobble, and other signs of poor broadcasting. Fading, it goes without saying, is usually a condition beyond the control of the broadcaster, and may just as well be charged up to the location of the listener.

2. Selecting high quality programs and especially features with sufficient "body" to cover up such static background as may exist even with high signal level. It is well to note that signal level is one thing, and sound level is another. Thus a dance orches tra or concert band is a better feature in combatting static interference than a string trio or a violin solo.

3. It is well to be content with reasonable volume. While it is true that the volume control of the radio set increases or decreases everything issuing from the loudspeaker-static as well as signal - proportionately, it is a matter of how much background noise may be present before the listener becomes fully conscious and even irritated by its presence. By being satisfied with reasonable volume during the days of high static, we may reduce the background noise to a mini mum. The power of transmitters is not reduced during the summer months Hence in most localities there is am ple signal strength from leading stations to ride well above the usual summer static, with the exception of the occasional thunderstorm in the immediate neighborhood. Yet 'who expects idea, radio conditions every night? Try driving your automobile through a thunderstorm at night, with the dazzling flashes of lightning, the torrential downpour of rain, with the ignition system in difficulties due to moisture, and other troubles! Still we do not speak of summertime auto mobile handicaps. We are willing to forego motoring during the occasiona storm of winter or summer.

Quality Programs Programs are maintained at the highest standards, although in keep ing with seasonable moods and ac tivities of outdoor weather, they may be pleasantly different from those of indoor weather. The skilled program director, in fact, pays close attention to the demands of his summertime audience.

As to the radio listener, there is just as much reason to listen in during the summer as during the winter Music, enlightenment, contact with the world, the thrill of sporting events, participation in history in the making, and other program features form a rich mental background for our summer life.

If anything, radio may truly be enjoyed to better advantage amid the outdoor setting made possible in warm weather. The acoustics are frequently better when windows can be thrown open. Radio is at its best outdoors, on the porch or even on the lawn. Indeed, too little attention has been paid to the stage setting for the radio presentation, and summer time offers us many an opportunity in this direction.
