Outlines Policy On Hunters' Tags

MANNER BY WHICH THOSE DESIRING MAY PROCURE LICENSES TO SHOOT DOE THIS FALL

Harrisburg, Pa.—As a result of the opinion recently given the Game Commission by the Attorney General's Department to the effect that it is necessary to have a special deer license, costing $2, to hunt for antlerless deer during the season of 1928, the Game Commission outlined its policy for the distribution of these licenses.

Immediately upon receipt of the Attorney General's opinion, the Game Commission stopped, temporarily, the issuance of resident hunters' licenses in every county of the Commonwealth. This was done in order to be fair to those hunters who had already secured
