MOUNT JOY DEFEATED BELMONT ON SATURDAY

In spite of the fact that they had three bad errors marked against them throughout the fray the Mt. Joy baseball team succeeded in nosing out the Belmont club in a fast game here Saturday afternoon.

The Mt. Joy boys had a three-run lead that looked good until the lucky seventh when things went bad and Belmont succeeded in having four men cross the rubber. However Mt. Joy staged an effective ninth inning rally to win the game. Home runs by Myers and Hillard featured. Scores:

A WISE OWL
By Irene F. Shatto

An old retired owl sat dozing on her floor. When ray-a-tap, rap-a-tap! Who's knocking at my door? Oh, it's your friend the eagle, I came to chat with you, I heard you had retired, Had nothing more to do.

Oh, no my friend the eagle, Since you're a bird of prey, I do not care to chat with you, And now, be off I say; Well now indeed that's very strange, I'd take you for a walk, The doctor says the air is fine, We'd visit mother hawk.

And since you cannot see by day, I'd take good care of you, We'd strut around the whole day long, I'd take you to the Zoo, Your health would be so much improved, And you could sleep at night, The out-door air would do you good, You'd get an appetite.

And now since I concern you so, You put me in a fright, I guess it is yourself that has The raving appetite, You did not know I have a gun, For shooting birds of prey, Now if you'd see your friends again, You best be on your way.

I have an army back of me, They're trained to fight and kill, They're not retired either, They're back here on the hill, Then right here is the telephone, They always take my word, Now if you wish to save your life, Go tease some other bird.

TELLS HOW TO KILL HARDY TREE STUMPS

"How can I prevent Carolina Poplar stumps from sprouting?" is a question frequently asked the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters.

Experiments have proven that the following formula is effective: "Arsenic, 1 pound; washing soda, 1 pound; water, 4 gallons. To prepare this solution, dissolve the soda in a convenient amount of water. Then add the arsenic previously made into a thin paste, with the remainder of the water. Bore several holes into the stump, six to eight inches in depth, and pour the solution into the holes and around the base of the stump. This will invariably destroy the entire root growth.

Where it is the desire to remove the entire stump when on a lawn or near a pavement so as to cause as little damage as possible, an effective method is to bore a hole in the center of the stump about 18 inches deep and 1 1/2 inches in diameter, in the fall. Pour in about 2 ounces of salt petre and fill the hole with water; then plug it up tight. In the spring take out the plug and pour in 8 to 10 ounces of petroleum, ignite, and the stump will smoulder but not blaze, to the extremity of the roots.

Good Jobs for Graduates
Graduates of the school of agriculture at the Pennsylvania State College had little trouble in finding profitable positions this year. Ninety-six of the 100 June graduate had accepted offers before they received their diplomas. They are in agricultural or allied work and most of them are located in Pennsylvania.

Health Talk

WRITTEN BY DR. THEODORE B. APPEL, SECRETARY OF HEALTH

"The large increase in measles during the past twelve months is a manifestation of the periodic return of this disease in epidemic form which is likely to occur every third year. In many cities of the Commonwealth the peak already has been reached. On the other hand there are numerous sections in Pennsylvania that have not shown a definite increase in this malady. These latter localities may reasonably expect a decided addition to their measles rate during the 1928-1929 season," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, today.

"However, all parents, whether or not they are living in communities already vigorously attacked by measles, should at all times carefully guard against the possibility of such infection on the part of their children. This can best be accomplished by avoiding contact with this type of illness.

"The first symptoms of this disease are affections of the eyes and nose similar to those usually associated with the common cold. It is at this time, before the appearance of the rash, that measles is highly communicable. Therefore, parents should, as far as possible, keep their children away from other youngsters manifesting these early symptoms.

"Many people falsely consider this disease lightly. While individual cases may be mild, the consequences frequently are serious. For example, it is well established that children who have had measles are particularly susceptible to tuberculosis for some time after the attack. Pneumonia, sinus trouble and ear affections are complications requiring prompt professional care.

"Children who have been unfortunate in contracting the disease should be taken regularly to their physician once a month for a few months immediately following the attack. In this manner the more insidious manifestations can be early discovered and efficiently treated.

FARMERS INTEND TO PLANT LESS WHEAT

Pennsylvania farmers have indicated their intention to seed a winter wheat acreage 1 per cent. less than the planting last fall, in reports to the Federal State Crop Reporting Service, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

If these plans are carried thru the Pennsylvania wheat plantings this fall will total 1,231,000 acres compared with estimated plantings of 1,243,000 acres in the fall of 1927. The intended acreage this fall is also 12,000 acres less than the plantings intended for the fall of 1927, when farmers were enabled by favorable weather to seed the acreage planted in August.

The average abandonment of wheat during the past ten years has been 2.9 per cent. of planted area. With average abandonment this winter, the intended seeding would net a harvest of 1,195,000 acres compared with the 1,144,000 acres harvested this summer.

Pennsylvania's intended wheat acreage is 7.4 per cent. less than the average fall planting from 1909 to 1913, 15 per cent. lower than the 1914-1918 average 1914-1918 average and 6.7 per cent. below the 1919-1923 average.

Brood sows infected with hog cholera should be given serum treatment for the disease, in the opinion of U. S. Department of Agriculture swine specialists. If infection has appeared in a herd, it is generally conceded that, without treatment, a large percentage of the sows and litters will be lost, while sows that live through the disease will not breed until they have fully recovered. Even though there is little hope of saving the litters, there is a possibility of saving some of the sows and of enabling them to recover more rapidly and in better condition than if they were not treated. It is advisable to avoid the simultaneous (both serum and virus) treatment of sows that are very near farrowing time; in such cases serum alone should be administered and followed by the simultaneous
