SAFETY ON THE HIGHWAYS Governor Fisher has taken up the fight started recently by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, including the local auto club, against the speeding and road hogging bus.

It is almost certain that the governor's probe will bring to light injustices to the motoring public by the bus drivers. It is our hope and desire that the bus can be put in its place.

The drivers of these large vehicles take advantage of the road; they know that others will get out of their way, for there are few foolhardy enough not to realize that a on with one of these monsters mean disaster.

Regulation is surely needed. The roads have been built for public convenience and should not be allowed to pass into control of the special utilities.

AN EASY QUESTION

One of the easiest questions to hears. The questions is: ould I go back to school or go right out and earn something in way of money and become -made and successful?" The answer is: "Go back to school!" There are hundreds of apparent exceptions to the rule that educaion is necessary to success. But ed themselves. Nearly all of them have any desire for learning. It will tell you that they took the hardest way. If a chance to go to school is offered a young man or a young woman these days, they should snatch at it, if for no other reason because it is "the easiest way." ore often than not it is the most fficient and surest way, too.

RICULTURE AND THE TARIFF he recurrent statement that the er suffers from the protective iff is disproven by the facts. is held by free trade and low iff advocates that farmers must in a protected market and sell us unprotected examination of the tariff laws ws the reverse of this to be true. Practically everything necessary agriculture is sold in a free trade market. The list of articles is illuminating. It includes plows, harrows, reapers, threshing machines, cultivators, cotton gins, wagons and other machinery. Animals imported for breeding purposes come under this duty-free provision as do binding twine, all material

The second supposition is equally unsound. Farm products protected by customs duties include almonds. grapes, apricots, bacon, beef, oranges, onions, tobacco, wool, prunes, hay, flax, wheat, cattle, butter and a long list of equally important

It may be that the duties are in some cases too low and need revision upward. Certainly, a cure for low duties that afford insufficient protection from foreign, low wage scale countries, is not to drop all duties and all protection.

The tariff, instead of improvishing the farmer, has done much to instre his prosperity, by helping him get the necessities of his business at low prices and sell them at

The Cope Sweet Corn Factory is receiving a good supply of corn at their plant here, of good quality, from the 250 acres raised by farmers throughout East and West Donegal, Mount Joy and Conoy townships where they report an ordinary yield per acre.

A GRANGE HOPE CHEST

One of the money-raising methods devised by a Grange in the State of Washington was a large cedar "hope chest," which is to be sold at Christmas time, when it is expected to net a good round

Members are asked to contribute at each Grange meeting such articles as a bride would needblankets, sheets, pillow cases, etc.; and already the response has been very generous, with every meeting bringing more.

a burden of anxiety created by the failures and indifference of the indolent and stupid pupils. The good teacher's work is not ended when the children are dismissed. Then it is necessary to begin on hours of preparation for the task that is to come, and many hours must be spent in correcting papers and giving help to backward pupils.

The problem of discipline is not r is that which thousands of solved by any system of rules. people are asking themsel- The teacher must somehow be able days as the new school through some spirit of personal magnetism, to communicate inspiration and ambition to children who naturally are dull, phlegmatic, or mischievous.

The good teacher must feel under strain much of the time, as she tries to keep herself alert and smiling, in the effort to secure the cooperation of all these children so many of whom do not naturally is hard to keep up this high level of enthusiasm day after day. It is not to be wondered at that many teachers get nervous and fatigued through this constant effort. We all owe them much for their sustained earnestness and

DO WE WANT AN AUTOCRACY? Every American citizen has been raised with a belief in democracy, and a knowledge of what it meant to those men who founded our government and those who came after them and maintained it.

No less, every American citizen has been raised with a very real horror of autocracy and its freedom tifling evils.

Yet many good citizens are led by persuasive talk into lending their support to bureaucratic measures that in practice, no matter what they are in theory, mean autocracy. Bureaucracy gives to a small group of public employes an arbirary and undemocratic power over the lives of fellow citizens. Too often a public servant proves himself to be in reality a petty Alexander, with vague dreams of empire. It is said that one person in every six in Our Country is a public employe living at the expense of the other five. This means we are approaching an extreme of bureaucratic government. In an autocracy a portion of the population, by virtue of being descendants of powerful families, or friends of the king, are empowered to control the lives and liberty of others. In a bureaucracy, those in control live by virtue of having some public job that limits freedom of action or liberty of others. There is no fundamenta lifference. When we favor a public ownership project, for example, we are endorsing paternalism that revokes liberties of the citizen and prevents him using his own initiative and enterprise. We thus place private business in the hands of a bureau composed of men with something of the power of emperors. Do we want an autocracy? The average citizen would answer an unqualified "No!" But he must do more than that—he must realize that the danger is ever present, often under an attractive guise. The United States was settled as a nation where free men could lead free lives, untrammeled by vicious "Divine Right of Kings" nonsense and the iron fist of the autocrat. As we adopt paternalistic measures them are hard work- or allow alien influences to creep feel their responsi- in, we destroy the foundation of
