URGES PLANTING OF MORE HICKORY

Restocking of the woodlands of Pennsylvania with hickory trees is being encouraged by the Department of Forests and Waters. The hickories, officials said, are among the most valued and distinctive American trees. All but one of the seventeen known species belong to North America, and six of these occur in the forests of Pennsylvania. They are most common in the southern, southeastern and western parts of the State.

Hickory is a tree that deserves to be favored in the farm woodlots in Southern Pennsylvania, it was said and should be introduced in mixture with other forest trees, scattered singly or in small groups in young forests or openings in older stands where there is little or no shade. Young seedlings tolerate shade but after the stands become older they require opening up. The trees grow slowly at first but then grow well and by the twentieth year should average twenty feet in height. It is preferable to plant the nuts, since the trees are difficult to transplant. The tap root is very large, often becoming a foot long in the first year. Fertile, fresh soil should be selected. Nuts are planted an inch or two below the surface of the ground. Most of the nuts, if planted in the fall, should germinate the following spring.

Hickory is one of the hardest, heaviest and strongest of our woods, and although the total lumber cut is not large compared with pine and oak, has special qualities for which no substitutes have been found. The phrase "tough as hickory" American settlers who were quick to learn the peculiar merits of the wood for agricultural purposes and fuel. It stands at the top of the list as a fuelwood. A cord of hickory wood possesses a great fuel value as a ton of coal. It was valued by the Indians for firewood and for bows because of its elasticity. The name "hickory" is derived from the Indian name of a kernel obtained by pounding the hickors. The Indians pressed the nuts with stones, and put them, shells and all, mingled with water, into mortars where they were pounded by wooden pestals. The resulting liquor was called powhoscora.

LITTLE LAME JOE
By Irene F. Shatto

Little Lame Joe went hobbling along,
A brave, brave child was he.
He did the chores and worked indoors
And cared for his juniors three.

He grew very tired from morning 'til night;
His strength was limited, see.
He worked on a mow, I'll tell you how
He stayed so little and wee.

He worked very steady, it had to be done,
Until he was called in to tea.
Just as he was through the whistle blew!
He lost all his balance, oh, me!

A doctor was summoned but naught could be done,
Amputation was made at the knee.
He hobbled about, day in and day out.
'Til his mother went out to a bee.

Little Joe grew so weary he laid down to nap
Along with his juniors three.
When Dolly, so quick, lighted a wick,
The flame she wanted to see.

Little Joe woke up in the nick of time
To save the children three.
Himself he burned, the truth was learned
When mother returned from the bee.

He sleeps in peace by the ocean side,
'Neath the weeping willow tree.
The angels peep while the willows weep,
And calm the raging sea.

Tests prove that a man cannot fall faster than 118 miles an hour.
What a relief!

VARIOUS PLANS TO STEAL TIME AND MONEY FROM THE UNWARY

Bankers Association Official Tells How Young People
Are Fleeced in "Hokum Pokum" Movie Schemes—
The Investor Loses Savings by Listening to Messrs. Slick and Smooth.

By W. R. MOREHOUSE
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

W. R. MOREHOUSE

The fabulous salaries paid stars of the first magnitude, and the publicity of the "movies" naturally create longing in the breasts of thousands of our young Americans to get into motion pictures. Because so many are ready to leave home, and risk everything on a fling at motion pictures, unscrupulous persons have devised ways of fleecing these ambitious young people out of their savings. "Hokum-pokum" schemes of various kinds are used with great success. Fake courses in the art of acting before the camera, fake courses on how to make-up, fake registration gags and screen tests, are among the schemes used to separate these thousands of young people from their cash. The pilgrimage to the motion picture centers by thousands of novices usually ends disastrously for the pilgrims. Naturally a few are successful, but only a very, very few, the ninety and nine meeting with disappointment. The truth is, the number of persons who seek to "break into" the movies exceed the number of available positions by one hundred to one, while in the realm of popular stars it is thousands to one.

Don't be misled by the promises of hokum-pokum schemes that there is room for all, because this last year over 100,000 young people knocked at the door for admission and were turned away because there was no room on the inside for them. Consult your banker or address the National Better Business Bureau, New York City, for information or advice regarding any enterprise that seeks to gain possession of your money. They will give disinterested counsel before it is too late.

Also let every investor approached by either Mr. Slick or Mr. Smooth with a proposition yielding big dividends remember that such assurances always spell financial danger ahead. To every investor who is inexperienced in making investments, in other words perhaps just a little green and perhaps a little too easy, any offer coming from this source should be like a red flag warning to come to a complete stop. Such investments as Mr. Slick or Mr. Smooth offer are too good to be true and therefore they are not true. Slick, Smooth and Company are not miracle workers although from their sales talk you would infer that they could make you rich as if by magic. No, they are not miracle workers—set slick and smooth.

The Estate Gag

Twenty-four "estates" representing 1 1/2 billions of dollars have been used as bait to interest a lot of savers and finally bleed them of their savings. The scheme is built around a supposed search for the heirs to certain phantom estates. At all costs these heirs must be found. Every person who can by any hook or crook, figure it out that he is in anyway related to the deceased are urged by some shyster lawyer or genealogist to send in their names and their life history. Soon they receive glad tidings telling them that their family tree can be traced back to the deceased, in fact, they are a direct descendant and an heir at law. Like fake raffles everybody who responds to the search is found to be a winner—in other words an "heir." Here is where the rainbow chaser gets trimmed. Before his claim to the mythical thousands can be pressed so as to insure access a demand is made on him to advance attorney's fees and pay the expense of tracing through his genealogy.

Keep Turkeys Healthy

Feed and protection aid in keeping turkeys fit. Vitamin A, supplied in yellow corn, cabbage, alfalfa, clover, and most greens, increase resistance to colds. Cod liver oil also is beneficial. Late hatched, immature, and thin birds should have shelter at night from the cold.

Pick Good Seed Corn

When seed corn is selected in the field it is easy to recognize diseased plants. On the other hand, when seed ears are selected from the husked corn there is no way of knowing what kind of plants produced them, and effective selection is impossible.

Groom the Timber Tract
Some tracts of timber may profitably be cut for saw logs, poles or pulp wood, by taking out the larger trees, the smaller ones being left to grow and make the next crop. Other timberland tracts may be greatly improved by another method of cutting or thinning. Trees of the less valuable kinds and the smaller, over-crowded, crooked, and large-limbed or "horny" trees should be cut out. This will leave the straight, thrifty larger trees for developing high-grade and high-priced forest products.

Observed Yum Kippur
Yum Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, was observed all over the world from sunset Sunday to sunset Monday by the Hebrew race. It calls for a general suspension of business and is regarded as the most holy day of the year by Jews.

Dear Friend:
This is a frequent message we receive on the 'phone. You can imagine how poor Jake felt when his car was in the shape he described it over the 'phone.

But Listen! Jake Knew when we were through with his car it would look like new again. We can take the ding out of that body or fender.

We have relieved many a heart-ache by giving this efficient service with modern equipment.

It would not be right to have you guessing how JAKE'S car looked, so the picture at the top shows why JAKE was so excited and the one at the bottom explains why JAKE said "fix 'er up."
