Piano Playing Calls for Punching Power

Few rightly estimate the amount of force expended upon the piano by a player in making a note sound.

If the pianist is playing fortissimo, at times the force of six pounds is thrown upon a single key to produce a solitary effect. With chords the force is generally spread over the various notes sounded simultaneously though a greater output of force is undoubtedly expended. This is what gives pianists the wonderful strength in their fingers.

A story used to be told of Paderewski that he could crack a pane of French plate glass, half an inch thick, merely by placing one hand upon it as if upon a piano keyboard and striking it sharply with his middle finger. One of Chopin's compositions has a passage which takes two minutes and five seconds to play. The total pressure brought to bear on this, it is estimated, is equal to three full tons. The average "tonnage" of an hour's playing of Chopin's music varies from 12 to 84.

Domestic Logic It is nothing at which to wonder. The little Portland boy is quite young and has not yet fallen a victim to the charm of exaggeration. Furthermore, he has a grandmother, a nice lady, but nervous. When he was asked if he could tell the number of feet in a rod he shook his head but declared a belief that a rod was about as long as a short stove poker or a long lead pencil.

It appears he had heard his grandmother say that she jumped a rod every time the doorbell rang and had drawn his own conclusions, as a bright child would. Grandma is, I think, considerable of a jumper at that.—D. H. Talmadge in Portland Oregonian.

Co. Supervisors Want to Equalize

(From page 1) A resolution asking that classifications of state rewards for road building be substantially increased to relieve a portion of the burden of cost in road building from the townships, permitting greater expansion in the road building programs of the various townships was passed.

Another resolution would change the reading of the amendment authorizing the creation of a State Association of Township Supervisors, to read "annual dues shall be paid to the state association." The resolution is designed to give further financial power to the state association, and will promote the welfare of the state body, by permitting greater activity.

East Donegal Man President H. G. Hauenstine, of East Donegal township, was selected to head the association during the next year at the portion of the convention allotted to election of officers.

Others named are: First vice president, S. L. Sheaffer, Eden township; second vice president, I. H. Kauffman, of Warwick township; secretary, John F. Weaver, West Lampeter township; treasurer, H. S. Hunsecker, West Lampeter township.

Delegates to the state convention are C. C. Greider, West Hempfield township; Joseph Martin, Coleman township; H. S. Hunsecker and S. P. Paxton, Fulton township. Alternates are: Fred Whitnigh, Jacob Erb, of Elizabethtown, John F. Weaver, West Lampeter township; Amos Cooper, East Hempfield township; and Harry Beyer, Little Britain township.

President Hauenstine announced committee appointments after taking the chair. The executive committee is composed of C. C. Greider, A. S. Cooper, William Eater and J. H. Rohrer.

The resolutions committee is composed of A. B. Groff, H. H. Kauffman, Paul Zeiger and Samuel I. Sheaffer. Devotions by Rev. A. E. Cooper, of Landisville, opened the sessions yesterday morning.

State Convention Reports Amos S. Cooper, retiring president, opened the meeting officially with an address of welcome, and H. G. Hauenstine gave a report of the state convention, held in Philadelphia on February 14, which dealt mainly with ways and means of securing money to build roads.

During open discussion, Secretary Weaver explained how a meeting of supervisors, assessors, and school directors in his township resulted in equalized assessments. He said that a portion of the burden was taken from the farmers and placed on suburban property owners.

B. F. Langlotz, a representative of the State Highway Department, in speaking on "Advantages of Township Owning Their Own Machinery," told the supervisors that there is no provision for payment of road machinery bills by the state, but that the department would reimburse the township for actual expenditures and repairs on machinery.

He told the association that roads used but little should be vacated, resulting in less mileage, and consequently more funds for roads used heavily. He also suggested that the supervisors, in building or improving roads, eliminate bad curves either by banking or straightening.

Hold Open Forum In answering questions put to him during an open forum, he stated that the state will pay for approaches from state roads to township roads. He also explained that auditors cannot say what kind of roads may be built, their only duty being to audit books of the township, and see that affairs are conducted properly.

He also explained that Lancaster county has a big program of road building schedules for the next two years, and that the department is now making an investigation of all applications for state reward. Two hundred miles of roads, and forty bridges are to be built, he said. R. V. Warren, a township engineer of the State Highway Department, discussed the construction of township roads in an address at the afternoon session. He also answered a number of questions asked by members of the association.

Hon. G. Graybill Diehm, county commissioner, lauded the supervisors for their efforts, and for the results obtained in expansion of good roads in the county. He also discussed problems of the supervisors. Open discussion by supervisors, and the installation of the new officers came before adjournment.

TWO E'TOWN CHILDREN WERE FOUND NEGLECTED

Two Elizabethtown children, who were found cold and hungry in the midst of filth and poverty, have been removed to the Lancaster Home for Friendless Children. They are alleged to have been left alone without food and with insufficient clothing from noon on Monday until 9 o'clock in the evening.

An investigation has been started into the conditions in the home of the children's father, David Hottenstein.

Chief of Police James Carpenter and Justice of the Peace Elwood Grimm, who investigated, reported that the two children, Theodore Hottenstein, 6, and Raymond, 7, were found in the midst of filth and neglect. Mrs. Clara Dimeler, housekeeper for Hottenstein, said that the children were given all the care possible, but that poverty prevented her from taking suitable care of the tots.

Economical Evaporated Milk. WHEN 151,250,000 pounds of a certain food are exported yearly from this country it certainly behooves the practical housewife to investigate and see if she is realizing the full possibilities of that food in her own home. In this case, the chances are that she isn't—for the food is canned milk, which is not used in as many ways as it might well be. Evaporated milk is simply milk which has had a large amount of the water evaporated out. The method used insures absolutely pure milk of a consistent quality. Because the percentage of fat and other solids is so much greater in evaporated milk than in fresh milk, it is often possible to cut down on the amount of fat used in cooking. And of course there is the convenience of always having milk on hand without having to depend on the milkman. SARDINE RECIPE: Add one-half cup grated cheese to three-fourths cup evaporated milk and cook until the cheese is melted. Add three beaten egg yolks and cook over hot water until thick, stirring constantly. Add one teaspoon salt, a few drops of Tabasco and a few grains of cayenne. Broil two large cans of sardines (18 sardines) and place on strips of toast. Pour the hot sauce over them and serve. Devil's Food Cake: Cream one-third cup butter and one cup sugar together. Add two well beaten eggs and mix. Cook one-half cup evaporated milk, two and three-quarters water and three squares of grated, unsweetened chocolate together over a slow fire, stirring constantly, until the chocolate is melted. Add to the first mixture. Add one and one-half cups flour, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt sifted together. Add one and one-half teaspoons vanilla and beat thoroughly. Bake in a square pan in a hot oven (375° F.) about 45 minutes.
