EDITORIAL

No welcoming signs or greeting committees can make as good an impression upon a visitor as an orderly conducted town with clean and well kept streets.

CAN MAKE WINE

Families who enjoy a glass of home-made wine occasionally can draw a sigh of relief as the first court decision has been made on Sections 29 and 18 of the Volstead Act.

The Government complained about a large vineyard at Pen Yan, N. Y., which sold concentrated grapes with instructions for making wine in the home.

This will be quite a relief to the many "home wine makers," who are just a bit "leary" about making wine simply for their own consumption.

VALUE ASSET

Upon the confidence which the people of this community have in its present and its future, depends the growth and the prosperity of each one of us.

Confidence leads on to all worthy developments which tend toward making his community a better place in which to live.

Confidence in the ability of the local business men to supply our needs with reliable merchandise at reasonable prices is likewise a most important factor in the prosperity of the community.

political, industrial, social and commercial opportunity, and that the golden outward-swinging doors shall never be closed on any human being.

They gave their lives that we might enjoy the blessings of freedom with fair and equitable laws, enacted under a constitution which the chance to improve conditions might always remain open for the poorest child to become the heir of the greatest fortune.

This sacred heritage of wise statesmanship has endured the test of time and will continue to stand superior to all vicious delusions and inventions of paternalism and the wildest dreams of Russian bolshevik or soviet, where everything is owned by everybody.

Our Country shall continue to be a government of the people, by the people, and for the people, and shall not perish from the earth.

CHOOSE SECURITIES CAREFULLY Millions of Americans are today buying securities in our business and industrial organizations.

THE COMING SESSION The Legislature for 1929 will soon meet and we feel certain that every voter will be interested in at least some of the bills which will be presented.

Elsewhere in the Bulletin is a partial list of the bills that will be placed before that body. Among them is a bill on stream pollution. This is a measure that the State Board of Health has been opposing for some time.

Health Talk

WRITTEN BY DR. THEODORE B. APPEL, SECRETARY OF HEALTH

Weekly Health Talk "The time has fortunately long since passed when the average man and woman, fearing the rigors of winter, suddenly adopted red flannels and chest protectors at the first appearance of cold weather.

Indeed the pendulum has swung quite the other way, and while much common sense is thus displayed and better health results, there is always the possibility of going to extremes," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health today.

"While human adaptability to climatic conditions is remarkable, it also has its limitations; and these frequently are overlooked until the penalty for gross carelessness or disregard makes itself apparent by way of disease. One can bank on nature for a great deal but it is an excellent plan also to realize its limitations.

"One of the matters that needs special attention at this season of the year, indeed at all seasons, is proper protection for the feet in wet or sloppy weather. Fortunately fashion has sensibly decreed that the feminine foot shall be shod in protective gear when the ground is damp. Therefore, for the majority the only risk in this matter arises when one is literally caught in the rain. The thin shoe lacking the assistance of the galosh is likely to result in wet feet. Under such conditions the shoes and stockings should be removed as soon as possible even though decided inconvenience be required to accomplish it. Far better than a cold, pneumonia, or worse.

"However, be that as it may, one of the greatest hazards in this connection is now run by the male of the species. To him, 'rubbers' for some illogical reason are more or less considered to be an indication of femininity. Under the false security of heavier soles men will therefore valiantly and foolishly splash along on rain-soaked pavements and make their way thru slush—a notoriously penetrating substance—and thus consider their masculinity vindicated by the noticeable lack of any kind of additional foot protection.

"It is safe to say that many hundreds of men will this winter become very ill and some will die for the very simple reason that their feet got wet and then remained wet for some time afterward. This statement also applies to many women and children. Therefore, be on your guard against wet feet."

The Bulletin is always prompt in the delivery of all printing.
