A Little History About Mount Joy

(From page 1)

Early on Tuesday morning, glittering regalia, blue caps, red shirts, flags, banners, etc., could be seen all over town, and it was evident that the exercises of the day were about to be carried out according to programme.

The Parade

At 10 o'clock a. m., the procession formed at the corner of Main and Market streets, and marched up Main street in the following manner: Chief Marshal Capt. L. D. Gallegher, dressed in Continental attire. Mount Joy Brass band, 15 pieces.

One hundred and ten boys of the S. O. School, in their beautiful blue uniforms.

Washington Camp, No. 40, P. O. S. of A., 24 men, marshalled by Dr. C. W. Moore.

Orelia Lodge American Mechanics 30 men, marshalled by Mr. Jno. Bowman.

Mount Joy Lodge, 227, I. O. of O. F. 28 men, marshalled by Mr. Jas. B. McVey.

Friendship Fire Company, No. 1, 34 men in full uniform, with hose carriage beautifully decorated with flags, etc., marshalled by Mr. F. G. Pennell.

Next a large wagon, handsomely trimmed with flags. On it were seated 38 girls, from the S. O. School, all dressed in white, representing the different states of the union. In the centre of the wagon, the Goddess of Liberty was impersonated by a very beautiful young lady from the same school. The wagon was drawn by six horses.

Then followed 72 little boys, each carrying the American flag. These were marshalled by Mr. Jos. H. Raber and Harvey Buchmeyer.

The procession paraded our principal streets, and repaired to the Borough Park, where two large tables (one of them 100 feet long, and the other about 50 feet long), both loaded with good things, awaited their thrifty hands. Nearly everything was ate, and the party feeling refreshed and invigorated, strolled about the park for about one hour, when the meeting was called to order by Capt. L. D. Gallegher, Hon. Jesse Kennedy was chosen President of the meeting and the following named gentlemen were selected as Vice Presidents: B. M. Greider, A. Patterson, Jacob Ulrich, C. W. Martin, J. M. Brandt, Dr. C. W. Moore, Dr. J. L. Ziegler, H. Raber, Jno. McFarland, J. E. Cassel, Jno. Geyer, Dr. A. M. Heistand, A. D. Hostetter, and Geo. Wenger.

Secretaries, U. E. Hoffer and L. M. Gallagher.

The above named gentlemen were requested to be seated upon the stand, which they did, when the following programme was carried out: "Old Hundred," sang by the people.

Prayer by Rev. Wm. Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church. The prayer was a most excellent one.

The Declaration of Independence was read by Mr. Wm. C. F. Read, in an audible and pleasing manner.

"Hail Columbia," by the band.

Oration by Mr. A. F. Root. The speakers acquitted many fine points, for instance, he spoke of the general ignorance of a great part of our nation, in reference to our national history, some scarcely know how much they have to celebrate. Though we are a great nation, we have not met the expectations of our forefathers. We do not carry out the principles set forth by them, etc.

Music by the band.

Oration by Rev. J. W. Etter. We would like to give Mr. Etter's oration in full, but our space will not allow, we therefore give only a few ideas as they impressed themselves upon us. Mr. Etter's oration was decidedly the best we have ever heard, and numerous were the compliments paid him. He said our nation was born one hundred years ago, went to school, and graduated at the age of 40, with the highest honors. At the age of 80 she was the "Banner Nation." Though one hundred years old she is young and vigorous, and not one grey hair can be found in her vast locks. He spoke of the progress of our nation, it having doubled its population every 25 years. He referred to our progress in gaining information—Ben. Franklin's mother-in-law opposed her daughter's marrying him because there were already two printing presses in America, and she thought there was not room for a third. To day there are about 10,000 in America, in almost daily use, enlightening the people.

Music by the band.

Oration by Ed. J. Moore, we did not take many notes, expecting to get a peep at his original, but he left his original, pursued new ideas, and thus we are debared the pleasure. To say the lest his oration was excellent, and was delivered in his usual able manner. We bespeak for him a bright future—at the bar, or as a professional orator. He is a young man of ability, and (with all honor to his ability as a law student) we would advise him to lay "Black stone" on the shelf, and pursue oratory.

Music by the band.

Reading of the History of Mount Joy and vicinity by Dr. A. Sheller.

The Doctor deserves much credit for the able article he produced, and he could have made it even more interesting, had he had more time to prepare it. The entire history will be found on the first and second pages of this issue, read it, and preserve it.

Music by the band.

Cries for "Kennedy," but as much time had been exhausted, he did not speak.

Benediction by Rev. J. Dungan.

The Fireworks

In the evening, hundreds of people gathered in market square, to witness the grand display of fireworks were "set off" by our enterprising friend H. G. Hergelroth, and reflects much credit upon him. The display was a success, and when over, the people returned to their homes, feeling that the day had been well-spent.

Little Boys Marched

The following are the names of 72 little boys who marched over the entire route of parade, on the Fourth. We have no doubt our older readers will give the little chaps the space for their display of patriotism:

Custer's Indian Massacre

Salt Lake, July 6.—The special correspondent of the Helena (Montana) Herald writes from Stillwater, Montana, July 2. Muggins Taylor, a scoutmaster for General Gibbon, got here last night direct from Little Horn river. General Curtis ordered the Indian camp and 2,000 lodges on Little Horn, and immediately attacked the camp. Custer took five companies and charged the thickest portion of the camp. Nothing is known of the operations of this detachment only as they trace it by the dead. Major Reno commanded the other seven companies, and attacked the lower portion of the camp. The Indians poured in a besides the greater portion fought on horseback. Custer, his two brothers, a nephew, and a brother-in-law were all killed, and not one of his detachments escaped. Two hundred and seven men were buried in one place, and the killed are estimated at 300, with only 31 wounded. The Indians surrounded Reno's command and held them one day in the hills, cut off from water, until Gibbon's command came in sight, when they broke camp in the night and left. The Seventh Cavalry fought like tigers, and were overcome by mere brute force. The Indian loss cannot be estimated, as they bore off and cached most of their killed. The remnant of the Seventh Cavalry and Gibbon's command are returning to the mouth of Little Horn, where a steamboat lies. The Indians got all the arms of the killed soldiers. There were 17 commissioned officers killed. The whole Custer family died at the head of their column. The exact loss is not known, as both adjutants and the sergeant major were killed. The Indian camp and from three to four miles long, and was twenty miles up the Little Horn from its mouth. The Indians actually pulled the men off their horses in some cases. This is given as Taylor told it. The above is confirmed by other letters which says Custer met fearful disaster.

Health Talk

WRITTEN BY DR. THEODORE B. APPEL, SECRETARY OF HEALTH

"The alluring advertisements that point to 'painless tooth extraction' and 'beautiful new teeth at low cost' may or may not have some bearing upon the unfortunate indifference that so many people display toward mouth health," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, today.

"However, the fact remains that with the splendid facilities now available for the scientific treatment of teeth deflections, the vast majority of people disregard the dentist's existence until something hurts.

"Nature, for the most part, gives all of us a square deal, but regarding some diseases it is loath to inform the individual that something is wrong until the condition is so advanced that irreparable damage has resulted. Therefore, unless the practiced eye of the trained investigator is permitted to survey the situation before the person is himself conscious of difficulty, unfortunate consequences are likely to result.

"This fundamental and proven rule of preventive medicine not only applies to cancer, diabetes, tuberculosis and heart disease, but to diseased teeth.

"To give an outstanding example rheumatism frequently results from defective teeth and rheumatism is heart disease. It is a pity that one of the common causes of many suffering from these and other conditions could have saved themselves by a timely visit to a reputable dentist.

"The teeth are great friends of the body but if neglected can turn into mortal enemies. The semi-annual check by the dentist is the only safe and reasonable practice. Put this duty, therefore, on a regular schedule.

"Do not neglect your teeth, because in that event, they may decidedly neglect you."

Women in Medicine

The president of one of the state medical associations makes the following statement: "There are fields of medicine for which women are peculiarly adapted; the foreign mission field; the school inspection service; especially when the work is with girls; the examination of women factory employees; the personal and social hygiene service of public work; and the examination of women applicants for life insurance and in the health service of the insurance companies. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women, female practitioners have established lucrative practices. In surgery there are many women who have demonstrated their success in major operations."

Largest "Rooms"

The word "room" is not always interpreted in the same way. Some of the places listed might be excluded under some interpretations of the word. Among the largest of which we can find record are the battle gallery of Versailles in France, which is 394 feet long, 43 feet wide. The glass gallery in the same building is 235 feet long, 35 feet wide and 42 feet high. The great hall of the Vatican library, in Rome, is 220 feet long, while the Galleria Lapidaria in the Vatican is 700 feet long.

So We Have Parlor Cars

When Jenny Lind, the famous singer, was brought to America by P. T. Barnum she was obliged to travel from place to place on the wretched railroads of the period. To ease the discomforts of the trip, she had the seats removed from an ordinary car and replaced with chairs, tables, couches and such pieces of furniture as might be found in an ordinary parlor. She called it jokingly her "parlor car." Out of her idea grew the present pullman parlor car—Capper's Weekly.

Alumni Associations

The organization of those who have been students is characteristic of American schools. The first alumni association was established at Williams college in 1821. For many years alumni organizations were chiefly social, affording opportunity for the reunion of friends. As these associations developed, however, they proved to be useful, not only in helping former students together in friendship, but in maintaining interest in and in some cases supplying funds for the various schools and colleges.
