OVERWHELMING PROTEST ON TAX

(From page 1) The plea is made that "we need this extra cent so we can take care of the township roads.

There is no reason to believe that the lot of dwellers in rural regions will be any better if the tax is four cents, five cents or six cents per gallon, inasmuch as the Highway department's ideas of road construction and improvement are confined chiefly to the putting down of road types costing $50,000 or $60,000 per mile. If the tax is increased to four cents in 1929 it will go to five cents in 1931, six cents in 1933, seven cents in 1935, eight cents in 1937 and in 1939 the Legislature will doubtless take away our automobiles!

Representative John Flinn of Elk county is working out a Highway department fund-allocation system through which the state's engineers will be restricted in their heavy-type construction and rural dwellers will be lifted out of the mud. This system, says Mr. Flinn, will not require any rise in the gasoline tax. In the meantime it is urgent that readers of this magazine disregard every reason advanced for a gas tax increase, and keep their minds on the thought that if the tax is increased one cent they will pay on $6 worth of gasoline a tax equivalent to that paid on $250 worth of anthracite coal. Pennsylvania needs no more taxes of any kind. President Coolidge at Washington reduced Federal taxes in surprising measure, but in Pennsylvania the cost of government seems to be increasing, rather than decreasing.

In deciding when to turn the dairy cows on pasture, consider both the cows and the grass. Very early pasturing is of little value to the cows because the grass is watery and low in nutrients. Neither is early pasturing good for the grass, as the later yields will be reduced and more damage from trampling may occur. Keep the cows off the pasture until the grass is at least several inches high and abundant enough so they can get their fill in a few hours.

NEW LINOTYPE MACHINE JUST RECENTLY INSTALLED HERE

With a good deal of satisfaction the editor of the Bulletin announces the installation of a new Model 14 Linotype. This mechanical marvel is specially equipped with a complement of type faces which enables us to serve efficiently the large number of persons who look to our publication for enlightenment and entertainment, and who patronize our job-printing department.

The rapidly increasing circulation of the Bulletin together with our desire to place at the command of our advertisers and others the highest grade of typography, induced us to add to our mechanical equipment another multiple-magazine Linotype for the quick and accurate and pleasing presentation of the news of the day, and the production of superior job work.

Our new Linotype enables us to set by machine virtually all forms of composition that previously necessitated tedious work by hand.

The accompanying illustration will give our readers some idea of the marvelous mechanism of the Linotype, a composing machine on which are assembled matrices (or little brass molds) and lines of type cast—lines such as you are now reading. The particular model of machine which we have just installed carries at one time four sets of matrices—controlled from a standard keyboard of ninety keys—and gives the operator instant command of 568 different characters.

Besides enabling the operator to set various faces and sizes of type, our new Linotype makes it possible for the operator to produce the rules, dashes and borders which are used in various advertisements in each issue of our publication. When employed in the composing of advertisements, newspaper headings, booklets, catalogs, and various other kinds of printed matter, our new Model 14 enables one operator to set in the same time more type than ordinarily could be produced by five or six men or women doing the work by hand—and the composition is incomparably better.

While for a long time we have received the patronage of a host of subscribers, advertisers and printing buyers in general, we look forward to the handling of an even greater volume of business now that we are so well qualified to render the sort of service most to be desired.

It has been our aim to present the news of the day without fear or favor, and to reflect faithfully the ideals and ambitions of our constituents; and we shall continue to devote our talents and resources to the fulfilling of this aim. And of great help to us in the carrying out of our purpose will be our new Model 14 Linotype.

Appetizing Apple Sauce

AND a case of apple sauce. I think that will be all for today." So Mrs. Perkins hung up the receiver, her grocery order completed. Then she turned to the children who were watching her.

"Now," she said, "when the delivery boy comes you can have some bread and butter and apple sauce, and I'll make you an apple sauce pie. Or maybe you'd rather have apple snow? Or an apple sauce cake?"

There was a moment of silence, the children thinking deeply. Then Betty thought of the solution, and her face lighted up. "Let's have them all!" Of course, Mrs. Perkins rebelled at that suggestion, but she did manage to have all of them soon, for apple sauce was a favorite with her family—as witness her buying it by the case. (Of course it is cheaper by the case, too). And the minerals and vitamins contained in the sauce make it a most healthy dish. Mrs. Perkins' Recipes When Mrs. Perkins makes apple snow, she drains three-fourths cup of apple sauce, and beats three egg whites on a platter with a wire whisk until stiff. She adds the apple pulp gradually and continues to beat until it is well mixed and fluffy. Then she piles it lightly in a glass dish, chills it and serves it with the syrup which she had drained off.

For a plain apple sauce pie, Mrs. Perkins combines the contents of a number 2 can of apple sauce, and one teaspoon of lemon juice. She pours it into a pie-tin lined with pastry, dots liberally with butter and sprinkles with nutmeg. Then she puts the top crust on and bakes in a hot oven (450°) for ten minutes and then lowers the heat to 350° for the rest of the baking, about twenty minutes.

Water with which dairy utensils are scalded must be boiling hot to be effective. The method sometimes used of rinsing one utensil after another by pouring water from one to the next does not sterilize them. By the time the last ones are reached the rinse water which was boiling hot to start with has become cooled and so heavily infested with bacteria that it may be worse than useless.

Substitute materials for bird nests will be appreciated by the avian home builders. Natural materials are not so easy to find as they used to be. Many birds will use short pieces of rags, ravelings,

Both the seed and the soil are guilty of carrying wheat scab. Control of this disease in the Central States and eastward depends not only on using clean seed, but sowing it on clean, well-prepared land. If wheat is sown on corn land, all cornstalks should be removed and the stubble well plowed under. Scab flourishes in moist, warm weather and the wheat should be sown when the ground is cool, on the earliest safe date in spring or the latest safe date in fall. By subscribing for the Mount Joy Bulletin you can get all the local news for less than three cents a week.
