EDUCATING THE MOTORING PUBLIC

VALUABLE INFORMATION FOR MOTORISTS FURNISHED THE BULLETIN BY LANCASTER AUTOMOBILE CLUB

This year marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Lancaster Automoile Club and in celebration of the event the Club's annual picnic will take the form of a silver jubilee. Plans already are under way for the event which will be held at Hershey Park on Thursday, August 1. The outing, as was that of 1928, will be held in conjunction with the Motor Club of Harrisburg.

The Lancaster Automobile Club was largest in Pennsylvania, with a nembership of nearly 11,000, and is one of the best and strongest of the great American Automobile Association chain of 1065 clubs scattered throughout the United States and

The annual picnic of the Club always is one of the outstanding events of the summer in this section and is alike. Last year it was attended by nearly 20,000 members and friends of the Lancaster and Harrisburg Clubs. It was the largest and most successful ever held at Hershey Park and indications are that the silver anniversary event will surpass that and all other picnics held by the

As in previous years, the picnic will start early in the morning and continue throughout the day and even ing. There will be band concerts sports events, dancing and other features, plans for which now are being made by the general committee. In addition there will be talks by a number of men who are leaders in organized motor circles through out the State and Nation.

Knockout Ended Duel Between Rival Harcs

An English naturalist describes a duel which he witnessed in the moonween two hares, the couse ch was a female that went on nibng grass during the encounter withit paying the least attention to the er in a real fighting attitude, their epaws held in front looking like y boxed in fine style, their little darting in and out like flashes. blows were cleverly parried, 's went well home, and as they ht footwork was not absent for circled round, but always faced ch other. One lost his balance and ang fightly aside, to be instantly ved up, and the punching was re ed. Apart from the soft noise of he blows going home there was no ound. The end came quickly. It as almost a knockout, but I am afraid ir rules would have put it down as foul. One hare slipped down, landed on all four feet, and quick as lightng his opponent turned and gave nim a kick that landed him many vards away.

Black Cats and Evil Linked in All Ages

That verdict rendered against a Lynn (Mass.) woman charged, among other things, with having undertaken by her formulas "to still crying babies and fighting cats' with equal ease," calls up a chapter in the lore of popular beliefs to which every age contributes new material. And for sheer interest it is the pugilistic felines, not the lachrymose infants, which take the cake. That black cats portend evil is a delusion that goes back to the most ancient times; so, white or black, they have everywhere been the material for all sorts of superstitions. In the Orient cats have knowledge of the future ascribed to them, along with a sensitiveness which can penetrate into things dark for the eye of man. When the cat tears at cushions or car-

A Little Secret for the Bride WRITTEN BY DR. THEODORE

All Items of Meal Finished Together If Cooked Under Pressure.

The bride's complaint-who has not "I can cook separate things all right of Health. but how does one ever learn when to put the different parts of a dinner on despair rings in her voice, and no wonder, because such knowledge oris the mark of the expert.

In fact many women keep house for organized in July, 1904, with a small of having everything ready at just the membership. Today it is the second right time. As a result, the food is out perhaps even knowing why. Happy the bride, then, who early making up the menu-what fun it is! First she decides what is to be the main course of the meal and finds out n the cookbook how long this will take in the pressure cooker. Then she selects her vegetables and dessert, and behold! the meal is planned. If, to balance the food values properly, a salad is required, that can be prepared while the pressure cooker is doing its job and the worker has nothing to stir or to worry about, and it is then put back on the ice for chilling.

When the time is up, everything is perfectly cooked and ready for the table. The dessert can be left in the cooker, if it is meant to be served hot, or placed outside to cool.

This, of course, is only a short chapter in the story-one almost says the romance-of pressure cooking. There are the economy of time and fuel, the ability to use cheaper cuts of meats, the retention of the full flavor of vegetables and of all those precious vitamines we have been warned to save, fewer pots to wash. With all these wonderful features, isn't it surprising that the bride doesn't have as many pressure cookers displayed on her rift table as she has cut-glass vases and silver candlesticks?

Severe Tests Prove

Cricket Hard to Kill Dr. Frank E. Lutz, curator of insects at the American Museum of Natural History, and Alfred L. Loomis, a physicist, put a cricket through a series of physical experiments that would have killed most creatures, but the little fellow survived the tests and seemed to chirp for more, the New York World tells us.

Its first experience was in a jar from which the air was rapidly exhausted until the pressure was equal to an altitude of ten miles above sea level. At first the insect was quiet, but in a few minutes it began to clean its hind legs. Then the tube to the jar was cut, permitting an instantaneous drop to the pressure of the outside air.

"The cricket," says Doctor Lutz, "merely gave a little twitch as though some one had frightened it a bit." The insect's next adventure was with compressed air. It was put into a tank analogous to caissons used in tunnel building. The pressure was quickly raised and then as suddenly reduced, a procedure no human being could have survived. But the valiant cricket paid less attention to these ad ventures than to the previous ones. The following day Gryllus, as scien tists call the cricket, was treated to a merry-go-round ride in a centrifuge that whirled at 1,200 revolutions & minute for ten minutes. When the machine stopped the cricket shook it-the buggy ride.

Health Talk

B. APPEL, SECRETARY OF

"At this time of year when outdoor sports are of general interest, a note of warning needs to be sounded to those of middle age or over," heard it dozens of times?—is always: said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary

"The business man who is fat and forty, or at least forty, suddenly deso that they all get finished together velops a logical enthusiasm for tenor ready at the right time!" Genuine nis, golf and baseball at this outdoor season. And while such an inclination should be indulged to a reasondinarily takes years of experience and able limit, there is such a thing as permitting one's affection for a sport years and never really get the knack to get the better of one's judgmentthen something happens.

"For instance, at a recent opening cold or some of the dishes are under- of some new tennis courts 'father' done and others overcooked, and the who happened to weigh 175 pounds family keeps right on suffering, with- and was forty-seven years old, boastfully took his racket in hand 'to lick the kid' who was twenty and a college tennis 'flash.' Well he didn't do it, but in his attempt he so injured kettle method. With the pressure his heart which was entirely unaccuscooker, the entire meal is cooked at tomed to such strenuous demands one and the same time and everything that he is now flat on his back, brolooked forward to by young and old is automatically ready together. And ken body and spirit and, as a matter ken cold fact, lucky to be alive.

> "The business of imagining at forty or fifty years of age that one is just as young as ever is a mighty poor proposition if one deliberately sets out to prove it after a winter's physical lassitude, by way of suddenly over-exercising or indulging violently in outdoor sports.

> "Sunshine and exercise are among the cardinal necessities for all-young and old alike. But sudden exertion, or even protracted exertion that is not so sudden cannot be indulged in safely by the middle-aged who are unaccustomed to it. It is not even good for the college man. This fact is recognized by all trainers who regulate and step-up athletic activities.

"Play golf and other outdoor games if you like them. You should even adopt one, if you don't have a particular fancy. But don't go in for this just-as-young-as-I-used to be performance. It can cripple, and sometimes kills."

Dyers Making Use of Tree Once Condemned

Every country or section of a country as it grows casts about for more and more resources that can be converted into marketable finished products. The American Southwest has taken the common hedge apple tree otherwise known as the Osage orange, the bow wood or the bois d'arc tree. A row of these trees compose what farmers call a hedge fence.

In the old days its roots were smoked by boys to whom tobacco was forbidden. Otherwise, the hedge tree, with its manifold fruit of large green balls, was unpopular. Farmers condemned it because, when used as a hedge, it would not hold their cows and hogs. Motorists cursed it because it shut off their view at crossposts, the hedge tree appeared to be of little use. A few factories bought it to make wagon spokes and felloes A new day, however, is dawning for the hedge apple tree. It is being turned into the hoppers of some of the country's large dye factories. This is developing into a real industry in Texas and Oklahoma.

The hedge apple tree is also excelent material for telephone cross-arms and insulator pins. What is left of the tree is utilized in the making of fertilizer. Long ago the Indian made bows of this wood.

Mrs. Golman had recently engaged new maid She was a thoroughly good girl, truthful, honest, very willing and obliging, but she lacked tact. One evening, when her mistress was going out to dinner and the theater afterwards, the maid noticed that a rope of pearls was missing.

"Oh, madam," she cried, "where are your lovely pearls tonight?" "I'm not wearing them, Winnie," replied Mrs. Goldman. "I don't fancy them tonight."

"Oh, what a pity, ma'am!" exclaimed the new maid wistfully. "An' they make you look so like a real lady!"

ARRANGING TO CONCRETE ROAD FAR AS MIDDLETOWN

Following completion of the survey between Middletown and Highspire, State Highway engineers have turned to the task of preparing for paving of the Lancaster pike between Middletown square and the Conewago bridge. The work may be started during the summer. Later it is planned to concrete other gaps, self and chirped as if in thanks for so that eventually an all concrete road will run from Harrisburg to Lancaster.

Advertising and not competition is now the life of trade, according to the advertising experts who met to attend the International Advertising Association convention. The delegates at this meeting heard a number of interesting things. Among these was the statement by Charles Stelzle, New York expert, to the effect that if churches do not advertise their "ware"spiritual upbuilding and moral betterment for both the individual and humanity—they cannot hope to arouse interest among the masses and fulfill the obligations placed upon them as parties to the general spiritual movement.

Another speaker declared that "advertising is greater than any single moral force we know of today. Advertising brings about changes for the betterment of life itself, changes which fuse into the social and political life of the na-

It is now generally admitted by economic forces everywhere that advertising is the most important development of modern business. And it is also coming to be realized that newspaper advertising is the best kind of paid publicity. In the convention just mentioned the delegates who were advertising experts, agreed that newspaper advertising affords the best publicity medium for the churches and all church activities.

Advertising is no longer a theory. It is a science. And it pays.
