WHY THEY DRINK MUDDY WATER

BECAUSE THE BROWNS DUMP THEIR DYE WATER INTO SPRINGS, THEREBY POLLUTING IT

During the past two weeks a large number of the citizens of Mount Joy are being put to the same uncalled inconvenience and accorded the same treatment from the firm of George Browns Sons here as has been the owner of Crystal Springs for the past year and a half. Many of these people are this firm's employes.

For quite a while the Browns quit dumping their dye water into the writer's beautiful springs but of late they sure are making up for lost time. During the past two weeks the springs looked as though they were ink springs and Saturday and Sunday they were so black that we were keeping a close watch for fear the dye kettles at the cotton mills would come down next and float on down the Chickies creek. The water in the Little Chickies creek was very muddy for some time and we presume the Browns have an idea that by dumping their dye water into said springs and creek it would not be so noticeable under these conditions.

Up to the time that the Browns polluted these springs, hundreds of people from town carried or hauled their drinking water from this source whenever the boro water was not clear.

We have had a lot of muddy water this summer, which the boro cannot avoid, and as a result many people drive to Donegal Springs and other places for their supply of drinking water. Heretofore these people procured their supply at Crystal Springs, but the owner is seriously considering changing the name to Black Springs as it would be far more appropriate.

Hundreds of people from far and near are weekly visitors to this particular plot which has been greatly improved by the owner. All are surprised and many are astonished at the "WHAT DO WE CARE" attitude of the Browns in this matter. Saturday Mr. Howard Reynolds, editor of the Quarryville Sun, Mr. Harry E. Trout, editor and publisher of the Manheim Sentinel and Mr. W. Hardy, editor of Williamsport's leading daily, were guests of the editor at Crystal Springs. They were very much surprised to learn that Thos. J. Brown, head of Geo. Browns' Sons, a member of the Legislature and president of the First National Bank and Trust Company, of this boro, would permit such a violation to continue.

Sunday there were callers at Crystal Springs from Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, Harrisburg, York and around here and we would hate to see in print some of the remarks passed about those guilty of this spring pollution.

Very Bad Today
The dye kettles at the cotton mill must have been dumped lately. Yesterday the water was almost clear and today it is so discolored that we believe it could be used for dyeing purposes. Everybody is invited to go to the Springs and see these conditions. The public is welcome.

SEEKING MOTHER AFTER 32 YEARS

MRS. JAMES CHILDS, OF THIS PLACE, BELIEVES SHE RESIDES IN PEORIA, ILL.—TO MAKE EFFORT AS TO IDENTITY

Attracted by the plea of Mrs. Mary Etta Kane, 1022 N. Adams street, Peoria, Ill., for information about her daughter from whom she has been separated since 1897, Mrs. James Childs, 333 Marietta street, this boro, has compared notes and believes she is the woman sought by the anxious mother.

The plea for information was first published in a nationally circulated magazine. Mrs. Kane's daughter was born in the Lancaster Co. hospital September 6, 1894.

Mrs. Childs is the wife of Constable Childs. She says that early in life she lived with a Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Brunner, Plum and Chester Sts., Lancaster, later with a Miss Annie Huffert, Orange street. She also recalls having lived at several other homes in the city.

Finally she was taken into a Children's Home on Chester street, conducted by Mrs. Abram Palmer. At that time Mrs. Childs was known as Maggie May McCann. In the home at the same time was a Carl Musser who she learned in later years was her brother. While the two children lived together, however, they did not know of their relationship.

Little is known by Mrs. Childs about her father and mother. Mrs. Childs doesn't remember her mother but was always told that she was buried near Marietta.

"I am interested in the story," the Mount Joy woman said, "Some time I hope to see the woman in Peoria. Perhaps we can compare notes more closely and determine whether I am her daughter."

"When I was twenty-five years old I went to Philadelphia to work, returning to Landisville to live with Mrs. Ruby recently. I believe my parents are now about seventy years of age and would appreciate any information I might receive regarding them," she said.
