THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER OF GREAT VALUE ACCORDING TO STATEMENT OF NOTED EDITORIAL WRITER—PROVEN BY FACTS

Arthur Brisbane, one of the best minds of the time, says:
"H. Z. Mitchell's 'Sentinel,' published at Bermidji, Minn., wins the prize as best weekly in the National Editorial Contest. This is a good time to remind the public in general, and national advertisers in particular, that country weekly newspapers are the most important organs of public opinion and protectors of public welfare."
"And, their advertising per mill line, is not excelled by any publication, of any kind."
"The reader of a country weekly buys everything from shingles on the roof to cement in the cellar floor, and every advertiser has in him a possible customer."

IT'S A CRIME SAYS PHILA. RECORD

supply. Not less important, however, is the provision of means of lawful recreation.
Trout fishing is a sport which appeals to thousands. The State's investment brings good returns in promoting public health and enjoyment; likewise in money, for a fishing license costs a Pennsylvanian $1.50 a year, and an outsider $2.50.
This up-State lawbreaker, therefore, committed a serious offense. Especially in selling his catch. It's intolerable that fish and game, protected for sportsmen, should be killed for private gain.
Quite so.
But why isn't the law enforced against wholesale slaughter as well as against furtive and insignificant poaching?
If a fish peddler is to be sentenced as a malefactor for illegally hooking a few dozen trout, what would be an appropriate punishment for industries which have poisoned millions of game fish by methodically defiling Pennsylvania's rivers and creeks? That's what the Williamsport Sun wants to know:
How about those who deplete the streams of fish by the thousands instead of hundreds? Why send a man to jail for catching and selling a few trout while others go free who kill them in large quantities through unlawful pollution of the stream? The Susquehanna and some of its tributaries have been almost completely depleted of their game and food fish by the deleterious matter that is allowed to flow into them by some of the factories located along them. But did anyone ever hear of the heads of any of these industries going to jail for this wholesale killing?...Let us be fair. Punish the little fellow for violation of the law, but also punish the big fellow for a greater violation.
For illegal use of a fishing rod, two years in prison.
For using a public stream as a private sewer—not even a summons to Court, The State Sanitary Water Board forbids legal actions to stop such pollution. It relies on "negotiations."
To abolish discriminations and public outrages of this kind might well be one of the tasks to be undertaken by the newly organized Schuylkill River Board.
It could not perform a more useful service to sportsmanship, justice and the public interest.
What Happens Here
The Record says: FOR USING A PUBLIC STREAM FOR A PRIVATE SEWER—NOT EVEN A SUMMONS TO COURT.
That's just exactly what George Browns Sons are doing here. They are dumping their dye water and human waste from their cotton mill into several springs and these springs flow a distance of less than 100 feet into the Little Chickies Creek.
IS THAT RIGHT?
Springs Placarded
Just a trifle over a year after being first notified, a field man from the State Board of Health came here Monday and placarded the springs on Mr. J. E. Schroll's premises, east of town as being impure and unfit for use. They are being polluted by dye water from Brown's Mills here.
An analysis of the water by the State last week showed dye and other waste.

LABOR DAY AUTOMOBILE RACES AT ALTOONA
Altoona, Pa.—Already the members of the race car club are beginning to assemble in Altoona to groom their mounts for the 200-mile National Championship race over the spectacular Tipton Bowl on Labor Day.
Cliff Bergere, returning from a ten day trip in the Canadian woods, (the result of which is a deep, dark secret) and looking fit as a fiddle, will have his red front-wheel drive Miller out for tuning and adjustments during the coming week.
Mrs. Marion Batten's car, also a Miller and conceded one of the fastest in the game, is in a local garage and scheduled to be out for practice next week. Mrs. Batten, it is understood, has engaged the services of a new driver who makes his initial speedway bow on Labor Day. This pilot, however, is an experienced race driver and has only stayed off the board speedways up to this time because of the fact that he could not get a suitable mount.
Deacon Litz, Speed Gardner, Louis Meyer and several others are expected within the next ten days.
With all of the track work completed and applications for seat reservations coming in on every mail, the Speedway management anticipates one of the largest crowds in the history of the Altoona Speedway in attendance at the Labor Day Classic.

Remove Honey from Hive
Comb honey should not be left in the hive very long after it is sealed, especially at the close of the honey flow. The bees will continue to add propolis to the sections and will stain them as long as they remain in the hive.
Sweet corn loses its sugar content very rapidly after being removed from the stalk, and to have the best flavor should be picked only a few hours, or better, a few minutes, before being cooked.

CHESTNUT LEVEL S. S. CONVENTION

officers in Lancaster Tuesday evening, with Rev. H. K. Ober presiding it was learned from the census compiled by the secretary, that there are now 350 Sunday Schools in this county, with an enrollment of 83,357. This is a gain over last year's enrollment, which was 81,988. Ascensions to the church from the Sunday School were 2241.
State Convention Date
The State Convention will be held at Williamsport Oct. 9, 10 and 11. This county's quota is 50 delegates, affording a goodly number to attend a big, worth while event.
Field Meet Sept. 7
The Young People's department will hold its annual field meet at Millersville Sept. 7. Prof. Paul M. Limbert, head of this department, is now at the training camp at Spruce Creek, being a member of the faculty.
Leadership Training Schools
From the various reports from department superintendents and district presidents the following facts were given:
Leadership training schools are established in Lancaster, New Holland and Leola, and will be instituted at Lititz, Landisville and other points.
District 18—Providence and Maric Township—have the largest teacher training class of any district in the State.
Schools Have Baseball League
The Sunday Schools of Marietta have formed a baseball league, all denominations entering it and it is proving to be one of the popular things of the borough. The church holds union services on the ball grounds Sunday evenings.
Hillside services are being held now by the young people of Lititz and other points in that district.
Vacation Bible Schools
Many Sunday Schools and districts have held or are holding vacation Bible schools.
Kissel Hill Sunday School has an enrollment of 102 persons, and the record last Sunday showed 101 were present.
Twenty-four Sunday Schools in the county have qualified teacher training classes.

AUTO TOLL MOUNTS TOWARD NEW RECORD
Judging from the record of the first six months of high record for automobile fatalities in Pennsylvania. Preliminary tabulations made by the bureau of vital statistics, in the Health Department show that in the first six months of the year approximately 900 people were killed in the State in automobile and grade crossing accidents. This is nearly half as many as were killed in the entire year 1928. The history of motor vehicle accidents shows that the number of deaths in the second half of the year is always greater than in the first half because of the increased use of automobiles. If this experience is repeated in 1929 the high record of 1928 will stand for only one year.

DEALERS GET BLANKS TO REPORT "GAS" TAX
In preparation for the collection of the four-cent gasoline tax which became effective July 1, the Department of Revenue has mailed to all dealers and consumers holding liquid fuel, permit blanks for applying for new permits and for the bonds which must accompany the applications.
A letter enclosed with the blanks explains the new tax law and a pamphlet copy of the law itself is attached. The applications and the bonds must be filled out and returned as soon as possible so that permits can be issued before July 30. After that date it will be illegal for any person to sell gasoline and liquid fuels without such permit.

LEADERSHIP FOR TAX REDUCTION
It is a well-known fact that while there have been constant substantial reductions in Federal taxes and the national debt, state taxes and debt have been climbing. This is due to new state activities and multiplying offices and institutions.
The only remedy for the evils of expanding the burdens of taxpayers is for legislatures and state leaders to fight tax expansion, multiplying bureaus and new officialism.
The people can lower taxes by ceasing to demand new governmental functions that are not necessary. Leadership for tax reduction is imperative.

BUILDINGS HIGHWAYS FOR THE FUTURE
So rapid has been the development of automobile travel in this country that many highways built but a comparatively few years ago are outmoded and dangerous.
As a result progressive sections are building for the future. Low cost pavements are being constructed, wide enough for several cars abreast, with banked turns and mathematical grades.
There is no place with our modern 50-mile-an-hour cars for 20-mile-an-hour highways. The roads of today must be built with an eye on the years to come.

LIGHTNING BOLT DESTROYS BARN

clouds gathered and flashes of lightning pierced the sky. Rain fell for about five minutes.
Mr. Musser was working in a field nearby when the ball of fire struck the barn's slate roof, shattering a portion of it. In an instant the structure burst into flames, gaining headway with great rapidity while calls were sent to nearby towns for assistance.
Five fire companies, including pumbers from Shawnee and Keystone companies, Columbia, and chemical trucks from Landisville, Mt. Joy and Salunga were unable to cope with the already doomed farm buildings, but did good work in saving a tobacco shed, pig sty, other outbuildings, and the brick residence, standing seventy-five feet away. A brisk wind was blowing, but in such a direction as to carry the tongues of flames and showers of sparks away from the other buildings and make the firemen's task less arduous.
Within an hour the 46x90 foot brick and frame barn and sheds were masses of smouldering ruins. Walls bulged and toppled, scattering hot stones, embers and sparks dangerously close to firemen who kept streams of water, pumped from a spring, and chemicals playing on the other buildings. The crops of hay and wheat, placed in the barn only a short time ago, likewise was a mass of ruin. The fire scrougled all night and was watched closely by Salunga firemen, who remained on the scene. Nearby farmers, and residents of Ironville, Silver Spring, Chestnut Hill, Columbia and adjacent towns came to see the ruins last evening, clogging that section of the highway with autos.
No livestock was imperiled, since the horses were at work in fields and cows were in pasture.
The owner stated that his loss is partially covered by insurance.

THE BOGEY MAN
In a recent address before the Church League for Industrial Democracy, Professor Philip Cabot, of Harvard, blasted the hysteria about the "power trust."
"In order to understand the problem," Professor Cabot said, "you have to start with the fact that public utilities are a monopoly, and are such because monopoly power is thrust on them by the act of the state. There used to be competition in the electric power business, and under any system of competition you get a duplication of investments, which results in unsatisfactory service or high pressure."
"It is in the interest of buyers that monopoly should exist.... One reason why monopoly is wise is because of the very large fixed investments; another, perhaps the more important, is that you get great economy by having large producing units."
"There is, properly speaking, not any such thing as a 'power trust,' but there has been a marked tendency for 20 years past to group the companies, and it is the holding companies, which are supposed to be more or less allied with each other, that people mean by the 'power trust.'"
"But there is nothing in that process which can injure the buyer; it really means benefit to him.... It is the operating companies that are the corporations with which the buyers deal and these are local companies chartered wholly within the state and wholly within the jurisdiction of the regulating commission."
"If all operating companies were owned by a 'power trust'—for that is the bogey that is moved before us so often—it would not affect rates in the slightest degree. Rates are now wholly in control of the regulating commission, and if that commission does its duty it is impossible for a power company to injure anyone except itself."

Old canes in the raspberry patch should be removed immediately after the close of the picking season. The canes should be cut as close to the ground as possible. At the same time dig out all dead or badly diseased clumps. Remove prunings from the field and burn them. If the patch is destroyed, it should not be replanted to raspberries for three or four years. These measures are an aid in preventing disease.

A large paddock in connection with the stable helps to keep in good condition horses that are worked irregularly. A series of sodded lots is preferable, as in addition to exercise the horses get grass, which is a tonic. Paddock exercise, though not as good as regular work, helps to prevent filled hocks, azoturia, or "Monday morning sickness," and other troubles.

Cigarette butts carelessly cast aside or thrown from automobiles, campfires made improperly or left smoldering, matches dropped in the grass—these are the causes of irreparable damage and costly fire fighting.

More fertilizer is used on cotton than on any other one crop in the United States. The price, yield, and acreage of cotton for one year determines largely the quantity of fertilizer bought for use on the following crop.
