EDITORIAL

COMMUNITY PRIDE
If the people at Litzitz can raise $75,000 for the erection of a hotel, we sincerely hope the citizens here have enough community pride to sanction the maintenance of the $50,000 proposition made to our town by Mr. Henry G. Reist.

IS THAT JUSTICE?
At most places if a man is convicted of stealing a few chickens valued at from $5 to $50, he gets about two years or more (mostly more) in jail.

At Philadelphia last week two brothers, Emmett J. and John B. J. Reardon, convicted of defrauding their clients out of $224,000 in real estate deals, were given two and one-half and five years respectively.

Who wouldn't go to jail a few years for a slice like that?
Is that the proper justice?

ITS EFFECT
Since the decision of the United States Court at Philadelphia last week, what effect will have remains to be seen.

Heretofore many people feared the law and would neither buy nor transport liquor but since a bootlegger's customers cannot be punished under the prohibition law, neither is it a punishable offense to buy liquor and arrange for its delivery—not only bootleggers but customers can draw a sigh of relief.

If that doesn't stimulate the liquor traffic, we miss our guess by a mile.
An article covering the circuit courts' opinion appears elsewhere in the Bulletin.

CONSERVING OLD ROADS
The value of conserving old gravel macadam and paved roads as foundations for new, stronger and more permanent highways, is being realized to a greater extent every year. In many instances the difference in cost of constructing an entirely new road base and of utilizing the old one is as much as 50 per cent. while time saved runs as high as 70 per cent.

The type of wearing surface to be selected for resurfacing an old foundation depends upon several factors, among them first cost, adaptability and nature of the traffic. Unless traffic requires such paving as granite blocks, it has been found that an asphaltic mixture meets requirements for resurfacing exceptionally well. It is being used more extensively every year not only as a road salvaging material but for new road construction.

THOSE WHO LIVE IN GLASS HOUSES

This "hewing to the line" and "never minding the chips" sounds very well, but it is hard to carry out in running a community newspaper. While the public has its sight with respect to news, yet we have not the heart to print stories which will do unnecessary harm to boys and girls, still in the formative period, or stories which an inflated public opinion will be inclined to interpret recklessly.

Of course, there will be those who will ridicule our policy and who believe that sensation should be the policy. But some of these same folks are apt to walk into the office before long and say, "Please don't say anything about this" and they will be very grateful for our thoughtfulness.

Which is only another way of saying that most of us either have glass houses or plenty of windows.

SHOULD BE BETTER

Among many other matters which our Boro Dads have to wrestle with is a situation in the west end of town that should, if possible, be remedied, i. e., the water pressure on Donegal Springs Road.

Only the citizens along that street from the Mennonite church west, know its real condition. Residents claim that on numerous occasions they even spit and the water won't open drip. Especially is this true on the second floor of almost any of the dwellings.

This condition is due to the fact that these points are almost as high as the Boro reservoir and there is but one remedy as far as we can learn and that is the erection of a standpipe. If this were done it would greatly improve the water pressure throughout the entire town and it is a question as to whether or not it wouldn't be a wise move.

The added pressure would give the water consumers in that section of the town the service they really should have and in addition

Many growers of common vetch in the Southern and Pacific States have found that early fall seeding of this plant which is less than hairy vetch reduces the damage from winter killing. Some growers make heavy seedings to reduce injury from winter killing, but where the winters are mild the resulting thick stands are detrimental to the yield of seed.

It would be an important factor in case of fire.
It might be well for our Boro Fathers to give this just a little thought.

HOME

Let no one be rash enough to say in the autumn time that the American people are losing the homing instinct, that the United States has ceased to be a nation of homes, that the great American home is now a myth. If some should be so rash there are thousand arguments to make their statements ridiculous and to prove them fallacious.

In the winter when thousands seek more moderate climates away from home, in the spring time when great preparations are made for vacation tours and new automobiles are a national objective, and in the summer when the nation leaves home en masse for strange lands and vacation resorts, then it is that there are grounds for the accusation that the American people no longer hold the home sacred and no longer believe "there's no place like home."

But how different is the aspect when autumn rolls around in the cycle of months. Step into any home. You are bound to find new furnishings and always somebody home. But it is not even necessary to go to the homes. Pass by the stores where they sell home furnishings. The most casual observer cannot fail to see a quickening of activities in October and November, the real autumn months of the year.

There is only one explanation of this new activity and that is more business, and more business in a home furnishing store means that people are concerned with the home, and that the nation is making its homes more comfortable and cheerful for the cool nights and bright days of fall and for the cold dreary days of winter.

LANDISVILLE

Tuesday evening the young men of the intermediate C. E. society entertained the young ladies at a "dogie" roast, as the result of a contest, when the losing side entertained the winning side. Due to the inclement weather, the roast was held in the basement of the Church of God.

Games were played and a business meeting was held, when the following officers were elected: Superintendent, Jesse Shavely; assistant superintendent, Lloyd Hess, president, Elsie Sherer; vice president, Erna Dunkelberger, recording secretary, Evelyn Heiserman; corresponding secretary, Edith Lenu; treasurer, Catherine Wilson; pianist, Edna Musser.

Refreshments were served to the following: Misses Evelyn Heiserman, Anna Mary Rohrer, Verda Summy, Erna Dunkelberger, Elsie Sherer, Ruth Sherer, Dorothy Mease, Loraine Grube, Mary Mellisa Minnick, Dorothy Datteman, Betty Mease, Edna Musser, Edith Lamp, Catherine Wilson, and Messrs. Floyd Rudy, Richard Shultz, Curtis McElhenny, Lloyd McElhenny, Russel Rohrer, Edwin Mease, Lloyd Hess.

An officers' meeting will be held October 10, when committees will be appointed.

One of the most common causes of failure in making sauerkraut is the use of too much salt. The right quantity is 2 1/2 per cent by weight of the cabbage packed. When cabbage is to be fermented in very warm weather, it may be well to use a little more salt but not to exceed 3 per cent. The salt should be evenly distributed. The red streaks sometimes seen in sauerkraut are believed to be due to uneven distribution of salt.

The electric light cattle sale held by the Mumma Brothers proved to be quite a success. Every cow was sold. The following morning many farmers appeared to purchase from the surplus.

The storm period last week delayed the fall seeding, according to rumors, there will be only a slight increase in acreage of wheat owing to the price for good wheat being $1.16 per bushel. Many farmers have their 1928 wheat in storage which costs them 18 cents per bushel for 12 months.

Fall Plow for Permanent Pasture
At the Beltsville, Md. experiment farm, dairy specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture seed permanent pasture with a grass-seed mixture in the following proportions: orchard grass, 6 pounds; timothy, 4 pounds; redtop, 3 pounds; bluegrass, 4 pounds; red clover, four pounds; 4 alsike clover, 2 pounds. This mixture has proved desirable for the vicinity of Washington, D. C. It is sowed about April 1 on ground that was fall-plowed and manured.

Probably that fewer sandwiches would be discarded from children's lunch boxes if the bread were always of the best quality. Children will eat more bread if different kinds are served. Sometimes so simple a change as baking the bread in a new form—a twist or rolls instead of a loaf, or cutting the sandwiches into fancy shape with a cookie cutter, will increase interest in it. The change of flavor given by added raisins, dried currants, dates, or nut meats is another inducement to like the lunch bread.
